ROOSEVELT PUTS NATION IN STATE OF EMERGENCY

Issues Defense and Neutrality Orders.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—President Roosevelt today proclaimed what he described as a "limited" national emergency and issued a series of executive orders intended, he said, to safeguard the neutrality and strengthen the national defense of the United States.

The President announced the issuance of the proclamation and the executive orders at his regular press conference before departing, later in the day, for a week-end at his Hyde Park, N. Y., home. The orders provide for the following:

1. An increase in the enlisted strength of the United States army from approximately 167,000 to 227,000; also an increase in the enlisted strength of the National Guard from approximately 200,000 to 235,000.
2. An increase in the enlisted strength of the navy from 110,000 to 145,000; also an increase in the enlisted strength of the marine corps from 18,247 to 25,000.
3. An increase in the personnel of of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice by not more than 150 men to combat espionage, sabotage, and foreign propaganda.
4. Allocation to the state department of a $500,000 emergency fund for use in assisting the return of stranded American citizens from the European war zones.

This fund is available, in the discretion of the President, for emergencies arising in the consular and diplomatic service.

Adds to List of Belligerents.

Mr. Roosevelt also issued a proclamation adding the Union of South Africa to the list of belligerents to which the export of arms, ammunition and implements of war is prohibited by the neutrality act.

He declared that a similar proclamation adding Canada to the list had been drafted but would not be issued unless and until the Canadian parliament declared war on Germany. The countries now on the embargo list include Germany, Poland, France, the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, India, and the Union of South Africa.

At the same time the President announced that he would summon a special session of congress for the exclusive purpose of repealing the arms embargo provision of the "so called neutrality act," as he describes it. He fixed no late for the special session, but said he had conferred with various leaders of both the senate and the house.

Permit Sale to Britain.

Repeal of the arms embargo would permit any and all belligerents to purchase war material and supplies in the United States. Advocates of the embargo provision insist this would favor Great Britain and France because, due to the superiority of their navies, Germany could not buy war supplies in this country and such a situation inevitably would lead America into war.

The President denied he had heard of any proposal to repeal the Johnson act which forbids loans and credits to foreign governments which are in default on their war debts to the United States. It is known that certain advisers of the administration favor repeal of the Johnson act. This group is known as the "war party."

Declares National Emergency.

Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation declared that as a result of "the state of war" in Europe, "a national emergency exists in connection with and to the extent necessary for the proper observance, safeguarding, and enforcing of the neutrality of the United States and the strengthening of our national defense within the limits of peace-time authorizations."

The President insisted that it was a peace-time proclamation and repeatedly emphasized that he was not putting the national defense or the nation's internal economy on a war footing.

The purpose of increasing the strength of the army, he said, was to

FRENCH ATTACK GERMANS FROM AIR AND GROUND

BULLETIN.

PARIS, Sept. 9 (Saturday) (AP).—The French high command in communique No. 11, issued today, said: "The great forest of Warndt, west of Forbach, is mostly in our hands. It was found filled with evidences of destruction and traps of all sorts. Our aviation continues active in support of land forces."

BASEL, Switzerland, Sept. 8 (AP).—French bombing planes coördinating with artillery action rained explosives on the main forts of Germany's Siegfried line near Wissembourg today in an attempt to blast an opening for gathering French forces. Wissembourg is 100 miles north of here. Infantry action during the day was confined to what military observers called "blockhouse snatching," which consisted chiefly of sending small, well armed forces backed by 75's and 105's against small isolated machine gun nests.

When the French fire became too hot, German machine gunners scurried down deep cut trenches to the steel doors of the larger forts behind. Casualties of these minor attacks, however, were reported heavy on both sides considering the small number of men engaged.

Nazis Blast Own Forts.

PARIS, Sept. 8 (AP).—French forces were reported tonight to have penetrated from seven to eight miles into German territory, with German troops retreating before increasingly heavy attacks on the northern sector of the western front. Nazi troops were reported thrown back on their main Siegfried line fortifications.

The farthest advance of the French left wing, whose flank is protected by the neutral Luxemburg frontier, was believed from information reaching Paris to be in the direction of the important German industrial center of Trier.

Trier [Treves in French] is in the rich Saar mining basin. It lies just in front of the Siegfried line and in a "no man's land" extending about twenty-five miles to the French Maginot line.

Reports Nazis Giving Ground.

An official army communique said French troops were advancing behind retreating Nazi troops who were destroying bridges, railroads and tunnels as they gave ground. The extent of the French advance was not disclosed by the high command.

The communique, No. 10, continued: "On the sea, our patrol forces are showing very great activity. Coöperation with British naval forces is closely assured with a view to defending sea communications."

Tanks Support Patrols.

The communique indicated that infantry patrols were supported by tanks and armored cars moving through the Saar mining area nearest the French frontier.

The French mechanized forces were meeting their first real test as they ran into the blasted area which had been mined by the Germans to cover their retreat.

An eight mile advance would place the French advance guards at the extreme northern end of the front, approximately halfway between the German frontier and the Siegfried line.

The deployed French infantry was reported to have received support for the first time from tanks and armored cars.

Fight in No Man's Land.

The infantry was reported in a give and take action with German troops in the "no man's land" at the tip of the frontier, where the Maginot line and the Siegfried line fan out to a distance of some twenty-five miles apart.

French observers said German reinforcements were being rushed toward that sector.

Information here, apparently based on aerial scouting operations over the German lines, said German roads leading to Trier through the Eifel and Ahr valleys were jammed with troop convoys and heavy artillery moving toward the front.

All indications in Paris were that

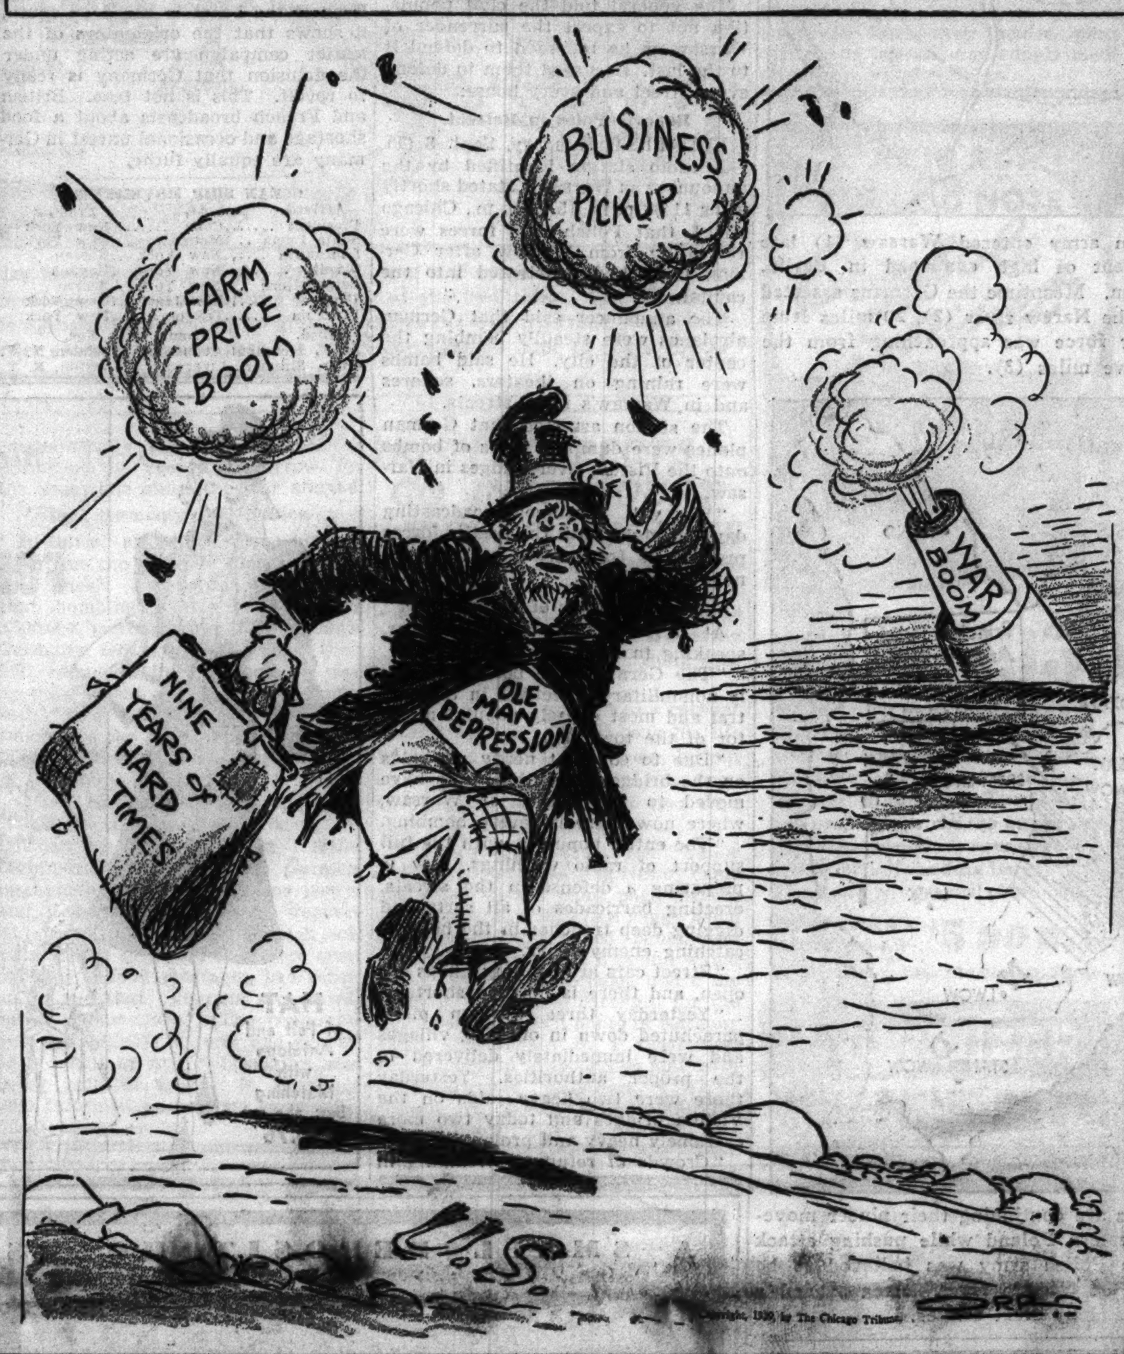
UNDER FIRE



Pioneers Hail Lustier Day in Old Bridgeport

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

The rough and ready spirit of old Bridgeport lived again last night in Mark White square, 30th and Halsted streets, in the section that boasts it has been the birthplace of more politicians and clergymen than any neighborhood in Chicago.

The occasion was the fifth annual Old Timers' Night and Homecoming, sponsored by the New Century committee. On the speakers' stand were railroad presidents, leaders of business and politics, and noted athletes—all of whom were born in Bridgeport.

Mr. McKenna Takes It In.

There were men like John J. McKenna, 3837 Archer avenue, who was born in a house on the river bank in 1856. He remembers Bridgeport as the Arrher road territory made famous by Peter Finley Dunne in his Mr. Dooley stories. He remembers Pete Dunne and the night the great fire cast its lurid glare over the area.

There was Margaret Trant, whose grandfather was Mike Hussey, the two fisted boss of the yards. Hussey laid out his farm there in 1836, and the Trants still live on the site of the farmhouse at 2812 Hillock street. Big Mike once remarked that they dug up a mighty fine cabbage patch to create Mark White square.

Also mingling with the 2,500 celebrators were Dave McBride, 5626 South Morgan street, who carried the mail for forty-one years along Archer road; Mrs. Annie Gahagan, 7200 South Western avenue, whose mother once cooked dinner for Long John Wentworth, and Robert M. Casey, who remembers the days when the wild Bridgeport and Dashiell gangs fought each other almost to extinction in that very square.

Important Guests Attend.

Seated with these were the other guests of honor. There were Patrick Joyce, president of the Great Western railroad; James Gorman, president of the Rock Island railroad; Walter Bittner, vice president of the Bendix corporation; Mayor John Dromey of North Chicago; United States Senator James M. Slattery; Germany Schaefer of baseball renown, and several other heroes of the diamond.

As they sat, listening to band music and speeches and watching the vaudeville show and athletic events, there was nothing to mark them as sons of old Bridgeport.

The only reminders of the robust battles Mark White square has seen were the healthy looking youngsters who walloped one another ethically in a lighted ring. There was not a single fight in the audience and the scheduled fisticuffs were strictly according to those rules laid down by the Marquis of Queensbury.

Mr. McKenna left early.

CHICAGOAN TELLS OF NAZI AIR ATTACK AGAINST POLISH CITY

WARSAW, Sept. 6 [Delayed] (AP).—Florian Piskorski, of 4217 North Marmora avenue, Chicago, has reached Warsaw from Poznan with a report that 150 were killed and 500 were wounded when the Germans bombed and strafed that city last Friday. He said sixty-five buildings were destroyed or damaged.

Piskorski declared several bombs struck the grounds of a maternity hospital, damaging the building, but not injuring 400 mothers and 150 babies.

TAKES FLAGS TO MUSEUM.

Florian Piskorski left for Poland on July 13 to make a presentation of state flags and governors' letters to the national museum in Warsaw, his wife, Helen, said last night. He came to Chicago nine years ago, and is now an American citizen. He is 33 years old and is employed by the Scandinavian American steamship lines. Mrs. Piskorski said her husband expected to return home this month.

AN INDIAN RUNS 30 HOURS TO INFORM GEN. WOOD OF WAR

JUNEAU, Alaska, Sept. 8 (AP).—An Indian runner made a forced 30 hour march through Alaskan wilds to inform a member of the American Emergency War council that Europe was at war.

Gen. Robert E. Wood of Chicago, one of the five war council members and chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., told the story when he arrived here today on a Pacific Alaska Airways plane.

Wood, Russell B. Stearns, and H. Wendell Endicott, Boston, and Col. William Donovan, New York City, were hunting in the Donjek river country when the Indian stumbled into their camp last Saturday with the news that German-Polish hostilities had begun. The Wood party, which had been seeking sheep and grizzly bears for American museums, immediately headed for civilization.

World Revolt Still Aim, Red Edict Declares

BY MARTIN MARTELIUS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 8.—The Stockholm Aftonbladet today declared that communist party leaders abroad had received a circular, in question and answer form, telling of communist aims, the day before the nonaggression pact with Germany was signed on Aug. 24.

This circular, the Aftonbladet said, read as follows:

QUESTION—Have the final aims of the comintern changed? ANSWER—No; the comintern remains determined to bring about world revolution.

QUESTION—Is a world revolution now possible? ANSWER—No; all efforts to start a world revolution hitherto were unsuccessful.

Best Method a Long War.

QUESTION—How can a world revolution be evoked rapidly? ANSWER—According to the writings of Marx, Engels, and Lenin, the best method is a long war.

QUESTION—Is a European war likely to promote the interests of the comintern? ANSWER—Yes, according to Lenin, if such a war rouses a revolutionary spirit among the masses.

QUESTION—Should a pact between the soviet and England and France encourage such a war? ANSWER—No, because a pact between Russia and the western powers should cause Germany to abstain from military adventures.

Gives Germany Courage.

QUESTION—Can a Russo-German pact promote the outbreak of war? ANSWER—Yes, because Russian neutrality should give Germany courage to try to realize her schemes of conquest.

QUESTION—What should happen if Russia abstains from a pact with both parties? ANSWER—As long as Russia's decision is not clear a peaceful arrangement is possible.

QUESTION—How shall Russia operate for the purpose of encouraging Germany to make war a long business? ANSWER—By supporting her.

The circular, it was claimed, was drafted at a secret meeting at the Kremlin in Moscow, attended by Dictator Josef Stalin and other soviet leaders.

4 MILLION RACE TO SHELTER ON BERLIN AIR RAID ALARMS

POLAND ADMITS HITLER HAMMERS CAPITAL GATES

BULLETIN.

LUBLIN, Poland, Sept. 8 (By Radio to Budapest) (AP).—The Polish government announced today that Bydgoszcz (Bromberg), largest town in Pomorze (the Polish corridor), was regained from the Germans today by Polish troops. Refugees reaching here from the German occupied town of Cracow said more than 1,000 civilians were killed in an air raid there.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Sept. 9 (Saturday) (AP).—The Polish embassy here maintained at 10:30 a. m. (4:30 a. m., Chicago time) today the Germans had been repulsed north of Warsaw, and that Polish troops still were defending the capital. Bridges over the Vistula river were intact, the spokesman said, and 120,000 persons were digging Warsaw trnches.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 8.—Germany today sought to undermine the morale of the people of Poland by stealing the wave length of Warsaw radio station No. 1 and broadcasting incredible tales on it from a German station.

While Riga and other cities of the Baltic nations excitedly discussed the sensational broadcast, the ruse was discovered at Warsaw by Brig. Gen. Czuma.

Using the wave length of Warsaw station No. 2, he announced himself as military commander and denied that the Germans had either captured or entered the city. However, he admitted that fighting was going on in the outskirts of Warsaw.

General Cautions Poles.

He warned the Poles against listening to broadcasts from the larger Warsaw station, No. 1, which he said had been destroyed. The general disclosed that the wave length of station No. 1 was being used by the Germans.

Here are some of the strange utterances which were sent over the air by the Germans in an apparent effort to distract and terrify the Poles:

"Streets are filled with smoke and the sky is flowing from scores of huge fires which are raging beyond control in many sections of Warsaw tonight.

Says Warsaw Police Fled.

"Warsaw is fighting German troops who at 5:15 p. m. penetrated the city where complete anarchy prevails.

"Three days ago Warsaw's police force disappeared.

"With the absence of municipal authority, bands of robbers began plundering stores and breaking into private apartments.

"Many Poles used the moment to settle political grudges. The city is filled with rumors of assassinations of formerly prominent political leaders.

"Food for Famished Men."

"Today many main streets were filled with regiment after regiment of soldiers marching through the city en route to various fortified positions south and west of the city.

"Inhabitants stormed bakeries and

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Sept. 9 (Saturday) (AP).—The first air raid alarm since the beginning of the war sounded in Berlin at 3:38 a. m. (9:38 p. m. Friday, Chicago time). A second alarm was sounded at 4:20 a. m. There were no immediate indications that enemy raiders had reached the vicinity of Berlin. Defense forces failed to turn on their searchlights. Nevertheless, Berlin's 4,000,000 residents were roused and herded into air defense shelters.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Sept. 9 (Saturday) (AP).—A high army command communique issued today said:

"The Poles again are retreating on all fronts.

"The first German troops have entered Warsaw from the southwest. In the south, the Wisloka river was crossed and Dembica reached. At Sagmo, the crossing of the Dunajec river was forced. The eastern embankment of the Vistula was reached near Sandomierz.

"Further occupation of the Poznan province is continuing without the enemy's resistance. The Polish airforce again is hardly in action. On the western front, a hostile reconnoitering plane was shot down near Karlsruhe."

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—Motorized units of the German army, it was announced this evening, entered Warsaw at 5:15 p. m. today, just over a week after the invasion of Poland began. It was expected that the former Polish capital would be captured by morning.

The announcement, which was made by the German high command, was announced over the radio to the accompaniment of bands playing national hymns and triumphal military marches, which echoed in restaurants and public halls throughout Germany.

At 7:45 p. m., however, the Warsaw radio station could still be heard in Berlin. An announcement was made about the surrender yesterday of the Polish garrison at Westerplatte, near Danzig. The station then broadcast a melancholy tune and became silent.

[The Polish embassy in London denied Nazi troops had entered Warsaw.]

Deny Fighting in West.

Nazi officials, meantime, continued to deny that there are real activities on the western front. In important quarters, however, reports prevailed that "heavy drumfire started against the western fortifications at 9 o'clock this morning."

Newspaper correspondents who asked for permission to tour the area east of the Rhine to see for themselves that fighting has not started there were told that this was impossible.

"Although war has not started," they were told, "foreigners cannot be allowed to travel in regions where they can obtain information that might be of great military value."

Nazi authorities also denied any knowledge of the sinking of foreign or German boats. Usually well informed circles declared that Germany has important submarine and air bases in northern Spain, "but to date planes have not been ordered to take action."

Hope for Compromise.

German citizens cling to the hope that a compromise will be possible with France and England after Poland has been defeated.

Bernardo Attolico, Italian ambassador to Berlin, is a daily caller at the Nazi foreign office. The Germans and Italians are coöperating in a final compromise effort. They figure that Premier Mussolini should make one more attempt to come to terms with England and France after Germany has taken the whole of Poland "and is in a favorable position to negotiate" on the basis of allowing a small "congress Poland" [a small Polish state set up by the congress of Vienna in 1815] to survive, but "merely as a protectorate."

Germans view such an effort by Mussolini with little hope, but they are willing to coöperate because the Nazis would be glad to see open conflict with England postponed at least until spring.

Ready to Besiege Warsaw.

BERLIN, Sept. 8 (AP).—German military sources tonight said heavy artillery was following closely the motorized units of the German army which entered Warsaw today and were in position to besiege the city if necessary. Nazi motorized divisions were said to be within 10 miles of the former capital.

Earlier in the day the high command said motorized divisions from the southwest had reached the town of Mszcznomow, twenty-five miles from Warsaw, then pushed aread a few miles before dusk. These troops have been driven like a dagger thrust toward the former capital.

Lodz had not yet been taken, but troops were reported at the southeastern edge of the city at nightfall.

East Prussian divisions at Pultusk, on the Narew river, are about twenty miles from Warsaw. They reached that position yesterday and apparently made no advance today.

Heavy Fighting Near Kielce.

Heavy fighting was reported in the vicinity of Kielce in the Lysa Gora mountains, where troops advancing toward Lublin have reported meeting stiff resistance.

Lublin now is the temporary seat of Poland's government, which left Warsaw, ninety miles to the northwest, several days ago after repeated bombings. Some departments of the government were reported in Berlin to have moved again—this time farther southeast to Lwow.

[The Warsaw radio had broadcast that the Polish retreat so far was "for strategic reasons" and had appealed to Warsaw's inhabitants to help fortify the city to resist as did long-besieged Madrid in the Spanish civil war.]

Report Attack "Progressing"

This morning's communique, issued by the supreme army comamnd, said:

"The attack of German troops in southern Poland east of the Vistula river by way of Tarnow in the direction of the San river is progressing.

"The enemy has been thrust back to the Vistula in heavy fighting in the Lysa Gora mountains. The rail line, Konskie-Opocno, was crossed in the attack. The enemy was defeated north of Tomaszow and Rawa and Mozwiecka were captured. German troops thus stand thirty-eight miles west of Warsaw.

"The Poles were thrown back at Lodz. The city was reached at the southeast yesterday afternoon. The Westerplatte surrendered after brave resistance about noon yesterday. After street fighting ceased at Pultusk German troops succeeded in crossing the Narew river. More troops coming from the north reached the river near Lomsa.

Highways Are Jammed.

"The highways on which the Poles are retreating are clogged and impassable. The flank attack by Polish cavalry against German troops advancing from Johannisburg in the direction of Lomsa was shattered in an air raid.

"The Vistula crossings south of Warsaw were so effectively destroyed that the crossing of retreating Polish army columns was held up everywhere and in many places rendered impossible. Fliers successfully attacked bridges in Warsaw. Warsaw is being hurriedly evacuated.

"The occupation of Pomorze province, evacuated by retreating Poles, is progressing. Wongrowitz [Wagrowiec] and Obornik north of Poznan as well as Koschmin [Kozmin] southeast of Poznan were occupied."

Claim Rapid Advance.

"The army group fighting its way to Warsaw in a rapid advance from the southwest came within twenty-five miles of the Polish capital, capturing the town of Mszczonow.

"Two German planes were shot down over Polish territory, one missing.

"In the North sea and Baltic the navy conducted a number of mine investigations. Units of a mine-sweeping flotilla shelled a Polish coastal battery which returned the fire without success. The fourth Polish submarine has been destroyed."

A campaign against the British [charges against France since the war started have been lacking] continued with the German official news agency publishing a list of eight cases in which it said Britain violated the neutrality of five countries since Sept. 1. Neutrals named were the Netherlands, Denmark, Norway, Brazil, and Belgium.

Lists Eight Violations.

The alleged violations follow:

1—Sept. 1, a military plane fell near Kyrkjeboe, Norway.

2—The nights of Sept. 3 and 4 British planes flew over Holland to drop leaflets on German soil.

3—The Danish town of Esbjerg was bombed Sept. 4.

4—Planes flew over Holland Sept. 4 to attack Wilhelmshaven.

5—Planes were sighted over the Netherlands Sept. 5 and Dutch antiaircraft guns opened fire.

6—The British cruiser Ajax sank the German freighter Olinda in the Brazilian harbor of Rio Grande, no

7—Planes flew over Antwerp Sept. 6.

8—A British plane attacked the German freighter Franken in Netherlands waters near Padang, Sumatra, Dutch West Indies, Sept. 6. date given.

A list of sixteen "war atrocity lies" also was published. It contained denials of reports that Germans had sunk the British liner Athenia, or bombed open towns and Red Cross trains.

The first train returning wounded soldiers arrived in Berlin from the eastern front, and Berlin newspapers published the first lists of deaths.

Germans Press Drive on Warsaw

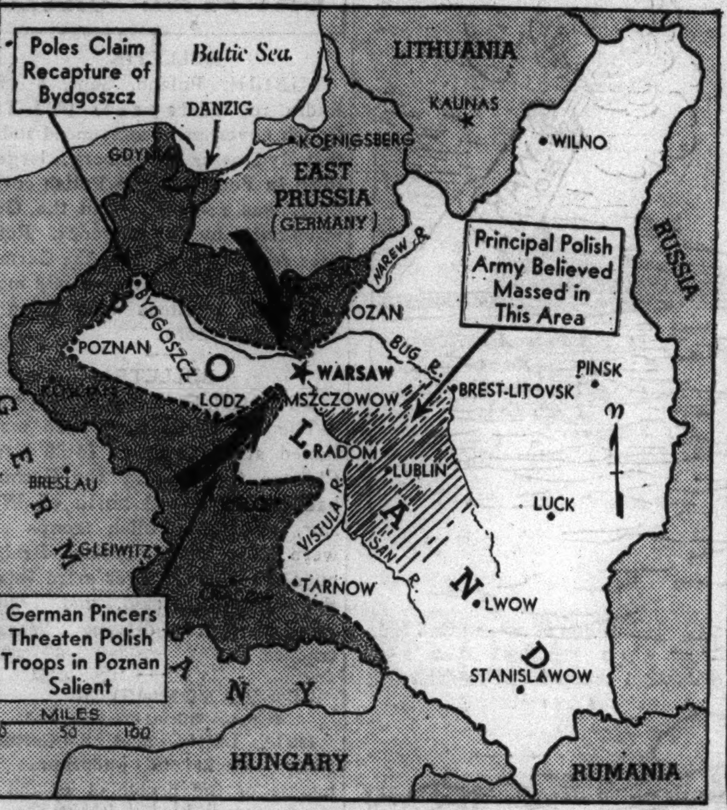
Motorized units of the German army entered Warsaw (1) late yesterday, according to announcement of high command in Berlin. Polish authorities denied this assertion. Meantime the Germans asserted that their main force was crossing the Narew river (2), 20 miles from the Polish capital, and that another force was approaching from the southwest at a distance of twenty-five miles (3).



Captions show how the Germans are continuing their pincer movement to cut off enemy forces in western Poland while pushing attack on capital. The main body of the Polish army was believed to be preparing for a last stand east of the Vistula river. Area shaded a dark gray has been taken from Poland by Nazi armies.

GRACIE FIELDS HAS A SONG TO TAKE PLACE OF FAMOUS 'TIPPERARY'

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP). — Gracie Fields, Britain's sweetheart of the music halls, today announced a new national "cheer-up song" to succeed 1914's "Tipperary." It is called "Wish Me Luck," and begins:

Wish me luck as you wave me good-by,
  Cheerio, here I go, on my way.
Wish me luck, as you wave good-by
  With a cheer, not a tear, make it gay.

Gracie, recuperating from an illness, said she hoped "the boys will like it and when I am a little better I want to sing it to them myself."

other shops buying food which they gave to the famished men.

"Poles feel themselves betrayed by their allies, and tonight demoralization is spreading rapidly. The fall of Warsaw is expected tomorrow."

Gen. Czuma in his broadcast from from the provinces were utterly desstation No. 2 ordered all citizens not willing to participate in the defense of the former capital to leave the city. He mobilized all women between the ages of 16 and 65 for trench digging and Red Cross work.

The general told the civil population not to expect the surrender of Warsaw as he intended to defend it to the last. He urged them to defend every street and every house.

Reports Poles in Retreat.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 8 (AP).—A radio station identified by the announcer as Warsaw's stated shortly after 11:00 p. m. [5:00 p. m., Chicago time], that Polish land forces were retreating from Warsaw after German units had penetrated into the capital.

The announcer said that German airplanes were steadily bombing the center of the city. He said bombs were raining on theaters, squares and in Warsaw's main streets.

The station asserted that German planes were dumping loads of bombs onto the Vistula river bridges in Warsaw.

"We will continue broadcasting day and night until the hostile forces prevent us from doing so," the announcer said.

Bomb Center of Warsaw.

At 11:40 p. m. the announcer, speaking in English, said:

"The Germans are bombing purely non-military objectives in the central and most densely populated sector of the town.

"Due to constant heavy air raids on the bridges, the inhabitants have moved to the center of Warsaw, where now there is severe bombing.

"The entire populace, with the full support of radio warnings, now is preparing a defense in the streets, erecting barricades of all sorts and digging deep trenches in the hope of catching enemy tanks.

"Street cars are running, shops are open, and there is no food shortage.

"Yesterday three German pilots parachuted down in outlying villages and were immediately delivered to the proper authorities. Yesterday there were two heavy raids on the Vistula bridges and today two more extremely heavy and prolonged raids.

"Crowds of refugees streaming in titute and in shocking condition. They were cared for in Warsaw."

The station identified as Warsaw said: "The push of the German army has been so terrific that Polish land forces have been obliged to yield in the direction of Kielce [fifty miles northeast of Cracow], Piotrkow, and Tarnoff, where they will take up new positions."

At 10:55 p. m. the Polish station at Lwow [Lemberg] had announced the Germans, whose motorized units had made swift progress from the north during the day, had entered the residential suburbs of Warsaw within the city limits.

Earlier the Lwow radio had called upon all men, women and children to defend the capital city inch by inch.

BRITISH-FRENCH PROPAGANDA WAR IS CALLED FUTILE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—Foreigners living in Berlin, who are permitted to listen to foreign broadcasting stations, are struck by the amateurishness of the English and French propaganda.

England boasts that its flyers succeeded in scattering 3,500,000 propaganda leaflets in Germany today without being caught. But only a few of the leaflets can be found. Even if the boast is based on truth, it shows that the originators of the leaflet campaign are acting under the delusion that Germany is ready to revolt. This is not true. British and French broadcasts about a food shortage and occasional unrest in Germany are equally futile.

ENGLAND ORDERS SHIPS SEARCHED FOR CONTRABAND

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Contraband control bases were set up by the British government today at Kirkwall, Weymouth, North Foreland, Gibraltar and Haifa. All vessels bound for Germany, or neutral ports from which goods could be shipped to Germany, were urged to call at these bases voluntarily for inspection. Ships which do not call voluntarily, it was announced, are liable to be diverted to a base by warships in cases where adequate search at sea is not practicable.

To prevent contraband from reaching Germany, the British government, it was said, will use its belligerent rights to the full. At the same time, the government insisted that no blockade of Germany in the formal sense of the term has yet been declared.

Assails U-Boat Warfare.

The ministry of information issued a statement charging that Germany is carrying on unrestricted submarine warfare against merchant shipping. The statement said the campaign is more violent than that waged by Germany in 1917 and that German submarine commanders, contrary to the rules of submarine warfare unconditionally accepted by Fuehrer Hitler in 1935, have been ordered to sink merchant ships on sight without warning.

"It is also clear," the statement added, "that German submarines were at stations on ocean trade routes with these orders several days before the outbreak of war."

The ministry admitted that German submarines have caused losses to British shipping, but claimed that the British navy is taking energetic counter measures and expects that the campaign will decline rapidly as soon as a full convoy system is established and the submarines at present on the high seas run out of supplies.

Ban News of U-Boat Sinkings.

The ministry of information also gave an explanation of the admiralty's announcement that "it will not always be desirable to publish news of the destruction of enemy submarines.

"This is partly because, as was discovered during the last war, the moral effect of crews disappearing without trace is greater than when news of the sinking is received by the enemy and partly because if the enemy knew that a submarine detailed to operate in a certain area had been sunk they would, of course, take steps to replace it.

"Similarly, the methods used by German submarines in their attacks on merchant ships are not being disclosed. For example, it is essential that the German admiralty should not know that a submarine has expended all her torpedoes and is therefore leaving her station and returning home for more."

Prepare to Ration Food.

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP).—W. S. Morrison, British minister of food, announced today that rationing of food for the British public probably would begin in three or four weeks. Morrison said bacon and butter might be the first to be affected. He explained that a great deal of Britain's supplies come from northern Europe, and it was to be expected that some of the supplies might be interrupted.

"I do not think," Morrison said, "that the ships would be submarined coming across—the navy would look to that—but the supplying countries might have to economize themselves."

Morrison said there had been some trouble regarding supplies of fish as a result of the recall of the fishing fleet by the admiralty but that he was confident this problem would be solved as soon as the new food ministry had time to get its organization running smoothly.

The ministry of information said difficulties had been experienced in certain districts in obtaining supplies of sugar, but that "this has been due solely to purchases far exceeding the normal amount."

Act to Increase Output.

"Steps have been taken," it was added, "to increase the output of the refineries in order to replenish traders' stocks."

The communique said an order would be issued shortly to move certain bulk stocks of food from vulnerable areas. Large quantities of meat, butter, and tea were moved to provincial stores a few days ago, it was stated.

The government's first price fixing regulations issued by the food ministry today provided that prices in effect Sept. 1 were to remain unchanged.

It was announced that movies in comparatively safe areas would be permitted to reopen tomorrow for the first time since the war started.

Pelt Germany with Notes.

Britain's air force concentrated again on the German "man behind the lines." Authorities announced that bombing planes had dropped 3,500,000 more leaflets on northern Germany telling the Germans they had been led into a needless war by their rulers. This was the fourth such "raid" since war was declared Sunday. In the four flights more than 13,000,000 leaflets have been rained on Germany.

Other moves in the propaganda campaign include a broadcast in German by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, an appeal to German workers by the British labor party, and a communique saying reports had been received that German soldiers in the Siegfried line were complaining of food shortages, bad ventilation and that "dugouts are crowded with munitions." The communique said reliable sources had reported a bonus of five reichsmarks was being paid to anyone in Germany who informed on persons expressing disaffection.

The principal events of yesterday on both fronts of the European war are noted in the captions on the map. The action strengthened previous indications of the strategy of the two sides. The Germans pushed their campaign in Poland while apparently preparing to give ground on the western front. Increased fighting along the French-German border seemed to show that the allied commanders hope to force foe to lighten attack on Poles by transferring troops to western frontier.

DENY REPORTS OF MOBILIZATION IN JUGO-SLAVIA

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Sept. 8 (AP).—The government formally denied today what it termed London "rumors" of Jugo-Slav mobilization. Officials declared the report broadcast from London "completely untrue."

[The British ministry of information yesterday made public a war office report that the Jugo-Slav council of ministers had decided on general mobilization and the Jugo-Slav minister of war had been empowered to put the decision into effect by stages.]

Jugo-Slav officials said only technical troops had been called up under a measure announced several weeks ago as a "precaution."

J. P. Morgan's Sister Forms Committee to Help France

PARIS, Sept. 8 (AP).—Miss Anne Morgan, sister of J. P. Morgan, the financier, whose "American committee for devastated France" helped the needy during the world war, announced today the creation of a similar organization to function in this war. It will be known as the "American Friends of France," and will work closely with French military authorities to render aid to persons forced to leave their homes, place children in schools, and supply medical attention for refugees.

IRISH SUSPECTS GO INTO COURT WITH GAS MASKS

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP).—Wartime snapshots:

Five alleged Irish Republican army terrorists went to court for a hearing today—all with gas masks slung over their shoulders. . . .

In the Saint Pancras area a coroner ruled that Willy Cronin took his life while of unsound mind when he put on his gas mask, inserted a tube from the gas burner, and died two days after war was declared. . . .

NAZI AIR BOMBS SMASH CROWDED WARSAW BRIDGE

Victims Hurled Into River with Blasted Span.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Sept. 8.—How the bridge over the Vistula river and the Warsaw railway station were destroyed by German bombers yesterday was described today by Enrico Altavilla, correspondent for the newspaper Tribuna, who flew in one of the planes. Here is the story in his own words:

"We saw columns of smoke [during the flight through Poland], agitated and torn by the wind. They were German factories burned by the Poles during their retreat. After passing the Warthe river we perceived military convoys and troops in retreat. Two machines from our squadron dipped sharply and were on the column spraying it with machine gun blasts. I saw soldiers throw themselves to the ground. One threw open his arms and sank down.

"We were flying then at a height of a few hundred meters, and from the roofs of a Polish village two antiaircraft guns fired shrapnel at our machines, but without success. They seemed like boys trying to hit an eagle with a sling.

Bomb Crowded Bridge.

"And finally we were over Warsaw, crowded around the Vistula. From above I recognized Marschakowska, the most beautiful street in Europe, and spotted the royal palace, the old market square and the roofs of the ghetto.

"We saw the Vistula. Our objective was the great new bridge of nine spans over the river. We flew over it at 600 meters. It was jammed with autos, armored cars, trucks, and private vehicles. I saw them all standing still and wondered why they did not flee. Then I perceived that in their panic they had created a jam and none could go forward or backward.

"The first bombs missed their objective by a hair's breadth. We turned and could see the bridge already full of smoke. One of the other bombers was more accurate than ours. My pilot bit his lip. He must have felt like a hunter who has missed a fine hare and sees it killed by a hunting comrade.

Bridge Falls Into River.

"The bridge was still standing, but this time our bombs were better aimed. I saw a truck full of soldiers tossed into the air and an armored car fall into the river. Most of the private autos, being faster and smaller, had, meanwhile, freed themselves from the jam and fled.

"The arches of the bridge were precipitated into the river, one after another, forcing up high columns of water. Some soldiers floundered in the ruins. Others succeeded in reaching the bank. Some inanimate figures floated in the current. Such is war.

"We went back over Warsaw. I saw the earth come toward us with fearful rapidity and feared that my German friends wanted to bomb the city under my eyes. That would have displeased me, for I had passed happy days there in my time.

Blast West Station.

"But Hitler's aviators don't bomb open cities. It was the West station that blew up.

"Its great roof opened like the skin of a ripe melon and out of it, launched into the air by the explosion, came fragments of iron and steel, pieces of locomotives and cars and an infinite number of other things which until the moment before had what might be called personality and were now broken bits and fragments of rubbish. From the darkness of the opening appeared bright flames.

"The expedition is finished. Our objectives have been reached. Once again we passed over the city and then took the way back, compact and united as we had left. No machine was missing at roll call."

DIES IN MILLEDGEVILLE.

Milledgeville, Ill., Sept. 8 [Special].—Frederick Werner, 79 years old, died last night at the home of his son, Fred, near here. He came to this country from Germany in 1883. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Captions on this map of the western front show how the French army, aided by the first British troops, is pushing into Germany's rich industrial area of the Saar and at junction of the French, German, and Luxemburg borders. The allied forces already have driven their enemy back to the main fortifications of the Siegfried line at some points, according to Paris reports.

FRENCH AVIATORS BOMB FORTS ON SIEGFRIED LINE

Try to Blast Opening for Army.

the main French attack and the deepest French advance on German soil so far had come on the extreme northern flank.

The day appeared uneventful on the southern sector of the western front.

Within sight of Basel, Switzerland, a 10 foot sign hung on the wall of a German fort facing French forts on the opposite side of the Rhine. The sign, written in French, proclaimed:

"To all French soldiers: We have been ordered not to fire on you if you do not attack. Germany has no reason to make war on France."

This morning's war communique No. 9 reported that French forces had "succeeded in effecting local advances of varied importance, improving noticeably the conditions of our advance at certain points."

[German officials in Berlin denied the French have attacked the heavily fortified border. They ridiculed French claims that German territory has been taken.]

With Bitche as a pivot, the line swings forward into Germany in the general direction of Trier.

The northern end of the line is about three or four miles—only the French and German staffs know exactly—inside German territory in the Saar basin "no man's land," between the two strong fortifications lines.

Line Bulges Out in Curve.

The southern end of this line, these sources believe, still rests at Bitche or, at the most, less than one mile in advance of Bitche.

To complete the picture of this sector, they say, the front line should be bulged out in a slight curve from the northern end to a point a few hundred yards within German territory in front of French-fortified point of Forbach. From Forbach to Bitche the line runs almost straight.

From there on, the frontier becomes dormant in the rock-strewn, forest-covered hills between Bitche and Wissembourg except for artillery fire.

At Wissembourg, the front again bulges out slightly into the German forest of Bienwald where the French advance guard was reported cautiously fighting its way forward. The line bends back from there to Lauterbourg, where the front joins the Rhine.

Advices receiver here indicated that French advance forces near Forbach had not yet reached the city of Saarbruecken, which is only two miles within Germany.

These reports said that Saarbruecken, an industrial city, was being abandoned by German civilians.

BRITISH CENSORSHIP HALTS SENDING OF PICTURES BY RADIO

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP).—Censorship has closed radio facilities for picture transmissions from London to New York, while picture transmissions from London by cable have been sharply restricted due to the crush of news copy to be sent by the same means.

An order from the British board of trade today stated no photographs whatever could be imported into Great Britain. A shipment of Associated Press pictures dispatched in ample time to have caught the Clipper plane which left Foynes, Ireland, on Wednesday was not received when the plane arrived at Port Washington, Long Island, yesterday.

As a result of the censorship imposed in Britain, the vast majority of pictures received in the United States within the last several days have been from Berlin, representing copy which has been passed by the German ministry of propaganda.

GENERAL CLAIMS ITALY WRECKED FRENCH WAR PLAN

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Sept. 8—Belief was expressed here today that the relative inactivity of the French on the western front is due to the fact that France had planned to start the war by attacking Italy and has been frustrated by Italy's neutrality, thus forcing a complete change of program.

This theory was frankly expressed by Gen. Carlo Romano writing in the newspaper Gazzetta del Popolo. His article in other respects was typical of many praising the German pincer movement against the Poles and wondering at the feebleness of Polish resistance.

Sees Poles as Depressed.

"What makes the greatest impression in these war operations," Gen. Romano said, "is the lack of efficacious resistance on the part of the Polish troops and the absence of elementary dispositions to return the enemy's advance. We attribute this state of moral depression to the failure of promised aid to arrive from the two guarantor states."

After expressing the belief that the Poles have virtually no chance to make any effective stand now, Gen. Romano gave three reasons for the inactivity on the western front.

"One, probably the French war plan against the axis contemplated as its initial operation an attack against Italy," he wrote. "That is to say, against an enemy which could appear easier to attack with preponderant forces and against which it was easier to deceive oneself with hopes of victory because of its geographic situation.

Claims Duce Wrecked Plan.

"That is in accord with elementary military science. Land activity by the French and naval activity by the Franco-British fleets were to have constituted the initial success of the war. The Duce's declaration obliged the high French command to change its plans so as to make a frontal attack on a single enemy, Germany. Now on land Germany can only be attacked across the Siegfried line or by invading countries whose neutrality has been recently solemnly recognized by France and England."

Gen. Romano's second point is that the Siegfried line presents enormous difficulties, hence much time is needed to prepare a proper attack on it.

Third, he thinks the French probably are waiting until the English army has joined them so that both can attack together. He said that will be a matter of months.

Meanwhile, he believes, Poland will most likely be submerged.

Jap-Controled Government in China Pledges Neutrality

SHANGHAI, Sept. 8 (AP).—The Japanese controled Nanking reformed government today declared its neutrality in the European war. It acted under the direction of the Japanese army in following the example set by Tokio.

WINDSORS LEAVE FOR ENGLAND; END EXILE IN FRANCE

King Summons Duke to Help Fight Germany.

CANNES, France, Sept. 8 (AP).—The duke of Windsor sped across France tonight on the way home with his American born duchess. He was ready to undertake an important wartime task for the British empire which he ruled until he left as a voluntary exile three years ago.

Responding to a summons from his brother and successor, King George VI. of Britain, the former Edward VIII. and his wife, the former Wallis Warfield, left Cannes by automobile at 5:45 p. m. [11:45 a. m. Chicago time] for Paris. They were bound for an undisclosed English channel port where, it was reported, a destroyer waited to rush them to London.

Fought in World War.

The nature of the task awaiting the duke was not disclosed. He has been reported anxious to get back home and help his country in its struggle with Germany. During the world war Windsor, then prince of Wales, saw service in the front lines.

Preliminary steps for the duke's return to England were taken last Saturday, the day before England declared war.

Yesterday a messenger from King George flew from London to Cannes and was closeted for some time with the duke at his chateau on the French riviera.

Windsor abdicated Great Britain's throne on Dec. 10, 1936, for the "woman I love." He left London the next day for France, where his bride-to-be already had gone. They were married June 3, 1937.

Kent Joins the Navy.

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP).—The Duke of Kent and his wife, the former Princess Marina, will not go to Australia where he was to be governor-general, it was announced tonight. The duke has joined the navy. Lord Gowrie will continue as governor-general.

3 YOUNG WOMEN TELL OF FLEEING FROM WAR ZONE

Three young women who returned here yesterday after a three months' bicycle tour through England and the continent told of their dramatic voyage on the United States liner Manhattan which docked in New York Thursday. They are Janette Highfield, 21 years old, 5245 North Sawyer avenue; Lu Nannestad, 24, of 1005 Harvard terrace, Evanston, and Elsie Jane Erickson, 23, of 1037 Hull terrace, Evanston.

"We were to have sailed from Southampton on the German liner Hansa on Aug. 25," Miss Highfield said. "But the ship was recalled, and we were stranded. We were given gas masks in Southampton. We appealed to the American consul, who cabled our families for funds, and we managed to get accommodations on the Manhattan. There were 2,147 passengers on the boat. Nothing happened, but we learned we passed a fleet of U-boats."

Use Tribune Color Map in School

TRIBUNE COLOR MAPS VITALIZE SCHOOL WORK

Officials of McKinley High school at 2040 Adams street yesterday praised THE TRIBUNE'S color maps on the European war for their usefulness in education.

Interest at McKinley in European events is exceptionally high, officials believe, because the school now is in the industrial back yard of Chicago. Of its 1,706 pupils, fully 80 per cent is two generations or less removed from Europe. Thus, the European war is their paramount interest.

The four color map of Europe published in last Sunday's TRIBUNE, and the color map of Poland published yesterday, already are in use in every history and civics class, Mrs. Marie Voy Brewster, principal, said. Students and teachers alike bring them.

"I saved my own," she said, "and got the ones from my neighbors to bring, too. Just today," she added in amusement, "somebody offered me a map of Europe for sale. I said, 'What map? What Europe?' It's changing so fast that this one, printed several months ago, was out of date.

"THE TRIBUNE'S are complete and up-to-date. They contain everything of interest. Moreover, in color, they seem so vital."

Forty-five per cent of the polyglot student body, she pointed out, is Italian. Sixteen per cent is Negro. But the remaining 39 per cent, aside from a sprinkling of native American stock and a few English and Canadians, is made up of children of Greek, Austrian, Polish, Russian, German, Mexican, French, Hungarian, Spanish, Bulgarian and Belgian descent.

W. E. Reed, a teacher, says he is using the color maps in four civics classes and even in one class in American history.

CHICAGO-EUROPE MAIL SERVICE IS CONTINUED, BUT ON SLOWER SCALE

Mail service from Chicago to all European countries is being continued despite the war, Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said yesterday. Disruption of transportation facilities, however, has forced postal authorities to revise European time schedules and routes to belligerent countries and the service will be delayed.

Nine days was the maximum time formerly required for a letter or package from Chicago to reach Poland. It now will require about three weeks longer, the longest delay in service for any European country. Poland has no direct connection with western Europe. Its mail must be sent in from the south via the Mediterranean, thence by rail through the Balkan countries.

Mail to Germany formerly required five or six days. Absence of direct steamship routes will add two or three more days according to the new schedules. Direct service to England and France will be continued, but on less frequent schedules.

CANADA TO HELP BRITISH FIRST BY SENDING FLYERS

Pledges to Back Empires with Arms, Too.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8 [Canadian Press].—Canada will stand shoulder to shoulder with Great Britain in the war against Germany or find another government, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King told the house of commons tonight.

Conforming to his announced policy of leaving the issue of Canadian participation in the European war to parliament itself, the premier outlined his plans and asked the house to support him. "If the house will not support us in these policies it will have to find another government," he declared to an applauding assembly.

On the question of peace or war for Canada the premier said:

"That is not yet decided. The government has made its decision as to what its policy is. It has announced that policy. But it is for the house to say whether they stand by that policy."

No War Declaration.

As the session continued into the night no motion regarding a war declaration had been offered. Observers said such action probably would not come for a day or two at least.

The Liberal premier said Canada's immediate steps would be the defense of Canadian territory and nearby British territory, such as Newfoundland, coöperation in economic measures aimed at Germany, and the providing of arms and supplies to Great Britain.

Canadian airmen, however, may enter the war at once and they probable will be the first Canadian fighters to see active service, it was indicated.

"The information we have obtained," said Mackenzie King, "indicates that the most immediate and effective further means of coöperation would be a rapid expansion of air training and of air and naval facilities and the dispatch of trained air personnel. These measures we propose to institute immediately."

Won't Conscript Men.

The premier repeated his previously expressed view that conscription of men for overseas service would not be a necessary or effective step.

Maxime Raymond, Liberal member of parliament from the French speaking Quebec constituency of Beauharnois-La Prairie, presented a petition against Canadian participation in the war. He said it was signed by "thousands of citizens."

GERMANY PERMITS NEUTRAL CARGOES TO TRAVEL IN BALTIC

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 8.—Since the German government has permitted passage through the mine belts in the south Baltic for Finnish vessels carrying neutral cargo, Finnish exports, including those of paper pulp, timber, and butter, have been restored to capacity.

No mine belts were laid in the northern part of the Baltic and the gulfs of Finland and Bothnia. Therefore shipping there is secure. It is understood that the other belligerents have decided to respect the rights of neutral countries in these waters.

War risk premiums for Finnish ports, which hitherto were about 1 per cent higher than those for the Swedish west coast, are expected to be reduced to parity. The available Finnish tonnage is believed to be insufficient to cope with the demand, and it is hoped that foreign ship owners will restart shipping in the Baltic.

RUSSIA SPEEDS SUPPLIES TO ITS WESTERN BORDER

MOSCOW, Sept. 8 (AP).—Soviet Russia tonight was rushing war materials to its western front, near where there appeared to be the possibility of Germany establishing a border with Russia.

Although Moscow on the surface displayed a complete calm, the action was undertaken suddenly as German forces were sweeping eastward through Poland.

According to unofficial but unimpeachable sources, the soviet government yesterday, or possibly before, began calling up reserves. Doctors and nurses have been registered and instructed on their duties in "case of emergency."

INJURIES IN FALL FATAL.

Mrs. Kate Whercy, 86 years old, a native Chicagoan, died yesterday in St. Bernard's hospital of injuries suffered last June in a fall in her home at 6447 Yale avenue.

DUTCH SHIP HITS ONE OF ITS OWN MINES; 30 KILLED

21 Rescued; Blast Blows Sweeper to Pieces.

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Sept. 8 (AP).—The Netherlands' mine sweeper Willem Van Ewyck was sunk today by a mine planted by its own navy off northern Netherlands. The tragedy cost the lives of thirty navy men, the government announced tonight after an investigation.

The accident occurred while a new mine field was being laid a short distance off the West Frisian islands, officials said. The Willem Van Ewyck was engaged in the operations with a number of mine layers when a strong tide drove the vessel upon a mine.

The mine hit the vessel amidships and blew her to pieces. Twenty-one of the crew of fifty-one were rescued, but four were badly hurt. The commander, G. E. Ten Klooster, was lost.

One of Eight Sweepers.

Most of the rescued sailors escaped only because they were working aboard a small boat near the ship. Three ships from the Helder naval base picked up the survivors. The 500 ton vessel was launched in 1937 and was one of the Netherlands' eight sweepers.

The task of the Netherlands mine sweepers is to find and destroy submerged explosives used in the world war and the present European conflict. About forty fishermen were killed by mines in the world war.

The Willem Van Ewyck tragedy came as this tiny nation, striving to preserve neutrality in Europe's war, intensified air raid precautions and food conservation program.

Hand Out Food Cards.

Amsterdam housewives went to schoolhouses and city offices today for food cards. The government emphasized that measure was purely precautionary. Each family may purchase in advance one week's normal supply of food—the quantity to be established on the basis of previous purchases.

Blackout paper is being displayed in shop windows and a number of commercial and government buildings are being protected by sandbag barriers. This seafaring and farming nation of about 13,000 square miles and 8,000,000 people now has about 450,000 men under arms. The normal force is about 30,000.

The greatest problem in maintaining neutrality has been what to do about the air. The government contends the entire atmosphere above the Netherlands is neutral but unidentified foreign planes have been sighted over various sections almost nightly.

CHARGES REDS SEEK VIOLENCE IN ALL STRIKES

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8 (AP).—The communist party is working to "soften" the authority of governments and to turn every labor strike toward violence, Maj. Gen. David P. Barrows testified today at the Harry Bridges deportation hearing. Barrows, professor of political science at the University of California, and wartime officer with the A. E. F., said: "I speak humbly here because I think there is a better authority in the room."

The government seeks to deport Bridges on the ground he is a communist.

ROOSEVELT PUTS NATION IN STATE OF EMERGENCY

Issues Neutrality and Defense Orders.

fill up "chinks" to man certain defenses, such as the Panama canal and Porto Rico, and to fill up certain arms of the service that had been "robbed" by transfers to the air corps.

The same thing, he said, applies to the navy. He said the fleet was only about 85 per cent manned and that the recommissioning of about one-third of the 116 old destroyers that have been lying idle would require additional men.

The authorized enlisted strength of the army is 280,000 men under the national defense act of 1920. For many years the authorized strength was limited annually by the war department appropriation bills, first to 125,000 men and later to 165,000.

Cites Authorization.

Congress, the President said, will be asked to make deficiency appropriations to defray the increased costs.

The President based his executive order increasing the strength of the army on "authority vested in me by the constitution and by section 2 of the national defense act of 1916," as amended from time to time. The President's order increasing the regular army to 227,000 men will add approximately 60,000 men.

The authorized enlisted strength of the National Guard is 200,000 men. The President's order increasing it to 235,000 men will add approximately 35,000 men.

The authorized enlisted strength of the navy is 131,485, with authority in the President in case of emergency to increase it to 191,000. The President's order increasing it to 145,000 will add 35,000 men.

Total Increase 137,000.

The authorized enlisted strength of the marine corps is 20 per cent of the authorized strength of the navy. The President's order increasing it to 25,000 will add about 7,000.

Thus the President's orders will mean a total increase in the enlisted strength of the armed forces of approximately 137,000 men.

The President also authorized an increase in the commissioned strength of the army by as many reserve officers as may be necessary.

The secretary of the navy also was authorized to order to active duty such commissioned and warant officers of the navy and marine corps on the retired list, and such officers and men of the naval and marine corps reserves, as may be needed.

The army now has approximately 13,800 officers, the navy 10,431, and the marine corps 1,426.

Initial Protective Force.

The increases in the army and the National Guard will provide what the army calls an "initial protective force" of more than 600,000 officers and men. The initial force includes, besides the regular army and the National Guard, some 100,000 reserve officers and about 20,000 enlisted reserve. This is the force available for immediate service on mobilization [M] day.

The army's enlisted reserve force was created less than two years ago and is made up of men who have served one or more enlistments in the regular army. These men agree to accept a summons to active duty in an emergency and are paid $24 a year. They are not subject to routine drills as in the National Guard.

The navy this year started recruiting a similar force of former sailors.

Mr. Roosevelt said he ordered the increase in the bureau of investigation forces to protect the country from a repetition of the events of 1914 to 1917. The veteran Washington correspondents in his audience would remember what these events were, the President said, referring to espionage, sabotage, and subversive propaganda.

At his press conference the President announced that Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles would represent the United States at the Pan-American conference at Panama some time between Sept. 20 and Oct. 1, for the consideration of concerted action in connection with the war crisis.

America to Build Up Armed Forces

REGARD EX-GERMAN COLONY IN AFRICA AS AT WAR WITH HITLER

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP).—A Reuter's [British news agency] dispatch from Pretoria, South Africa, last night said Southwest Africa, mandated to the Union of South Africa, was regarded as automatically at war with Germany following the union's declaration of hostilities. The territory originally was annexed by Germany in 1884, but was surrendered to Union of South Africa forces in 1915. Approximately one-third of its 30,000 European population speaks German.

BRITISH FASCIST TELLS HIS UNION TO FULFILL LAW

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP).—Sir Oswald Mosley told his British Union of Fascists today "the British government intervenes in an alien quarrel," but advised them to "do what the law requires" of them.

In a leaflet to his followers Sir Oswald said: "In this situation we of the British union will do our utmost to persuade our British people to make peace."

He asked them to "do nothing to injure our country," and to obey orders if they were in the country's services. He added:

"I am not offering to fight in the quarrel of Jewish finance, in a war from which Britain could withdraw at any moment she likes, with her empire intact and her people safe."

A spokesman at Mosley's headquarters said it was uncertain just what sort of activities the union would pursue in the present situation. He added: "It certainly will be nothing subversive."

KANKAKEE FARMER DIES.

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 8 [Special].—Joseph McGrath, 67 years old, farmer and lifelong resident of Kankakee county, died yesterday at his home eleven miles northwest of here. The funeral will be held Monday at Maternity church, Bourbonnais. He leaves his widow, Elizabeth, and seven children.

STALIN'S ORDERS TO COMMUNISTS IN AMERICA TOLD

Demands Party Register as Alien Agent.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8 (AP).—After hearing testimony that Joseph Stalin dictated policies of the communist party in the United States, a member of the Dies committee demanded tonight that the party be compelled to register with the state department and explain its activities.

"The party is nothing but an agent of the comintern and, because of that, is indirectly an agent of the soviet government and should be recorded as that," said Representative Noah M. Mason [R., Ill.].

Says Stalin Commands.

Benjamin Gitlow, former general secretary of the party, had testified that Earl Browder, present leader of the party, was "at the mercy of the comintern."

"Stalin pulls the strings; Browder does the damage," he said.

Gitlow said that at a conference he had with Stalin in 1927 the latter urged that American communists give particular attention to winning over trade union officials.

Earlier the Dies committee decided to give John Brophy, director of the C. I. O., a chance to explain the circumstances under which John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., once called him a communist.

The subject was brought up by a statement by Representative Joe Starnes [D., Ala.] that, inasmuch as "Lewis charged at one time that John Brophy was an agent of Moscow, he should be given an opportunity to explain."

Brophy Not a Communist.

Gitlow asserted that Brophy was not a member of the communist party, but that in 1927 and 1928, when Brophy sought to wrest leadership of the United Mine Workers from Lewis, he received money from the communists to conduct his campaign.

When Dies asked how Lewis and Brophy became associated again after this campaign Gitlow replied that Lewis was successful over Brophy and the latter changed his position.

DIES AT 81 AFTER FALL.

Miss Hannah Melin, 81 years old, 2623 Hampden court, died yesterday in Bethany hospital of complications following a fall July 5.

LITHS, LATVIANS JAIL MANY JEWS FLEEING POLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 8.—The Lithuanian and Latvian governments are taking extraordinary measures to prevent their countries from being overrun by Jewish refugees.

Until now both countries have treated Jews with exceptional consideration, giving homes to several thousand refugees. But with Jews pouring across the frontiers, police are making many arrests and interning persons who have entered the countries without proper documents.

Mayor Merkys of Kaunas today announced that 35,000 children, aged and ill persons would be evacuated from Kaunas immediately. This is one-quarter of the city's population. The Lithuanians fear the Poles may invade their country and use it as a base to attack East Prussia.

ITALY LAUNCHES PLAN FOR BALKAN NEUTRAL GROUP

Approaches Greece; Hopes to Include Turkey.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Sept. 8.—Diplomatic activity in the Balkans today gave rise to reports that Italy is attempting to form a bloc of neutral nations across the Adriatic, with itself as the leader.

These reports gained strength when Emmanuel Grazzi, Italian minister to Greece, conferred with Premier Gen. J. Metaxas in Athens yesterday.

It was believed in informed quarters here that Greece was one of the first nations to be approached with the neutrality bloc proposal. Greece's strategic situation, together with Italy's position in Albania, make Athens the natural point from which to launch a move to line up the group of powers under Italian leadership.

Turkey in Line for Bid.

Turkey also is said to be in line for a bid to join the neutrality bloc. It is considered that this may present some difficulties because of Turkish ties with Great Britain, but it is hoped to take advantage of the uneasiness in Turkey resulting from the signing of the Russo-German nonaggression pact. Relations between Turkey and Russia have been cordial in recent years.

Jugo-Slavia is reported to be watching the Italian diplomatic moves closely and at the same time to be keeping a weather eye cocked toward Germany. Italy is regarded as having the diplomatic advantage in Jugo-Slavia because of the number of pacts and agreements the two nations recently concluded. Their relations are considered good.

The almost total lack of news of British and French military and naval operations is reported to be creating an unfavorable impression in the Balkans. Full news of the German successes in Poland is circulated freely in the Balkans, but the terse communiques issued by Britain and France do little to maintain their prestige in countries where reports of victories count for more than brief and vaguely worded official handouts.

Resume Ship Service.

It was officially announced here that the Italian ships Adriatica and Tyrrhenia soon will resume service to Black Sea and Danubian ports. This necessitates passage through the Dardanelles and is considered concrete evidence that Italy expects to continue on good relations with Turkey, which controls the Dardanelles, as well as other nations in this section of the world.

The dispatch of these vessels and also trans-Atlantic liners adds to the feeling here that Italy expects to continue to be neutral, for the time being at least.

Italy is expected to reap huge revenue by taking over South and Central American shipping heretofore handled by the Germans. With German freighters swept from the seas and British and French merchantmen occupied with war transportation, not to mention being subject to submarine attacks, Italy is expected to clean up. Since payments for shipping must be made in foreign currencies, Italy stands to acquire a large supply of highly prized valuta. Japanese, American, Dutch, and Scandinavian shippers also are expected to profit similarly.

The liner Rex sailed today from Genoa with about 2,000 passengers, mostly Americans. The vessel had huge Italian flags painted on its sides. It will call at Naples tomorrow to pick up more passengers before leaving for New York.

Britain, meanwhile, continues in close diplomatic contact with Italy. Sir Percy Loraine, British ambassador, conferred today with Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister.

[Other dispatches said England was exerting pressure on Italy to remain neutral.]

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Are you in favor of R. O. T. C. training for high school and college students?

Where Answered..

The Answers.

Mrs. Hazel Fry, 5505 Warwick avenue, housewife—I'm in favor of it because so many of the boys who have had R. O. T. C. seem like a different type altogether. I think it helps them to meet other people more easily and gives them valuable physical training. I had three brothers in the world war, and I think it's best for boys to know something about fighting in case we should go to war again.

A. Q. Seaholm, 2915 East 78th street, sales correspondent—Yes, sir, I am. I had a little R. O. T. C. training in high school, and I think it did me a lot of good. I was fortunate enough to be an officer, and it helped me develop a considerable amount of poise which I found valuable later. I assume the experience would be a good thing in case of war, too, although I've forgotten all the military training.

Miss Margaret Cain, 7607 Bosworth avenue, stenographer—R. O. T. C. is good for boys of that age. It makes them stand up straight and improves their health. It gives a boy a better appearance and poise. I'm against war in any way, shape or form, but as long as there has to be war it seems to me that we should be prepared for it.

Miss Marjorie Greening, Michigan City, Ind., file clerk—As long as human nature is what it is there is no reason why we shouldn't prepare ourselves for war, which we always will have. I also feel that R. O. T. C. training adds a great deal to a boy's personality. There are so many young men who walk hump shouldered that it's a real relief to see one who knows how to keep his back straight.

Chester Kuttner, 1263 Pratt boulevard, advertising account executive—I'm not against it. I believe any one interested in going into the army or training for home defense should be allowed to participate. It's good training, but it should not be compulsory. It depends on the person. Lots aren't fitted, but those who are enter the branches they enjoy. There they have a chance to use their knowledge.

AIRPLANES BOMB FORTIFIED NAZI ISLAND OF SYLT

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Sept. 8 (AP).—A concentrated bombing attack on the heavily fortified German island of Sylt, near the western end of the Kiel canal, apparently was made today by what one observer described as ten to fifteen planes which came from the southwest.

Anti-aircraft guns boomed and explosions indicated that bombs were being dropped. The attack had been preceded by another attack last night.

[The British made no reference today to a bombing mission having been directed at Sylt. Britain's first blow at Germany occurred on Monday in the same area when a squadron of bombers struck at ships of the German fleet near the North sea entrance of the canal. The ministry of information announced 24 hours later that heavy bombs had damaged two German battleships severely.]

The sound of the attacking planes' motors could be heard distinctly on the Danish island of Roemoe, nearby.

FIVE MORE SHIPS SENT TO BOTTOM IN SEA WARFARE

Nazi U-Boats Hold 9-5 Lead on Empires.

BULLETIN.

DUBLIN, Sept. 9 (Saturday).—(AP)—Lifeboats were called out from Arklow, in Wicklow county, early today to aid a ship reported in distress in the Irish sea. Arklow lies about 40 miles south of Dublin.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The known toll of ships sunk by torpedoes, mines and shells in the widespread sea warfare accompanying European hostilities mounted to sixteen last night as belligerents continued their efforts to choke off the flow of supplies to their foes.

Five ships were reported destroyed during the sixth day of the new conflict. Among them were the British freighter Winkleigh and tanker Regent Tiger, which sent the known British-French losses to nine, and the German freighter Helfrid Bissmark, the fourth definite Nazi loss.

In addition, an unidentified vessel which observers believed German was blown up—apparently a mine victim like the Helfrid—off the Danish island of Aero, and all hands were reported killed.

Dutch Lose Mine Sweeper.

The fifth casualty of the day was the Dutch mine sweeper Willem Van Ewyck, which went down off the north Netherlands coast with a loss of thirty lives. The Netherlands government said the craft, a neutral in neutral waters, had struck a Netherlands mine.

The British government announced it was taking "energetic measures" to halt "ruthless submarine warfare," and that Britain would use her belligerent rights to the full to prevent war supplies from reaching the enemy.

The campaign to cut down shipping on both sides brought results in the flight of many vessels to neutral ports, as well as in actual sinkings. The British Thursday asserted sixty-three Nazi ships grossing 240,000 tons had sought refuge in Spanish and Japanese ports and the big German passenger-cargo craft were inactive.

Empire Shipping Cut.

Germany made no claims in this connection but there was no doubt empire shipping was reduced. For example, the French Normandie and British Queen Mary, largest of their respective fleets, were both keeping safe in New York harbor.

The Helfrid Bissmark, 727 ton German freighter, sank on the eastern side of the Danish peninsula with the loss of seven lives. Seven were saved and they expressed belief the ship had struck a mine.

There was no definite word about the 5,055 ton Winkleigh, which sailed Aug. 24 from Kingston, Jamaica, for London. But it was presumed she had been destroyed, as the Holland-America liner Statendam wirelessed its New York office that it had taken aboard the Winkleigh's crew of thirty-seven somewhere in mid-Atlantic.

Save Crew of 44.

The sinking of the Regent Tiger, a 10,176 ton ship, also was reported by another vessel. The Belgian cruiser Jean Jadot advised Radio Marine it had saved the tanker's crew of forty-four after a submarine torpedo attack.

It was confirmed yesterday, too, that the British freighter Pukkastan, 5,809 tons, had been sunk and its crew saved, and it was reported, but unconfirmed, that the French freighter Tamara, 3,747 tons, had been sent to the bottom. The United States Lines' American Farmer reported Thursday that both of these had been attacked by U-boats off the European coast.

The German losses, in addition to the Helfrid Bissmark and the unidentified vessel, have been the freighters Olinda and Carl Fritzen and the motorship Inn, all presumably sunk by British cruisers. The second neutral ship to be destroyed, besides the Dutch mine sweeper, was the Greek freighter Kosti, which struck a mine in the Baltic.

Save More of Crew.

The Italian steamer Castelbianco reported yesterday she had rescued twenty-three more members of the crew of the British ship Manaar, which was sunk Wednesday 100 miles off the Portuguese coast. There were 88 listed originally in the ship's crew. Figures on the number of those persons still missing varied yesterday, however, reports from Lisbon, Portugal, placing them at seventeen and a statement by the owners of the vessel at Liverpool saying only four remained unlocated.

Thirty of the ninety-seven British merchantmen which took refuge at Gibraltar after England declared war on Germany resumed their voyages yesterday under escort of a squadron of destroyers.

The German high command in Berlin said yesterday that British planes attacked the German steamer Franken in neutral waters Wednesday near the harbor of Padang, Sumatra, in the Netherlands East Indies. The attack was described as unsuccessful. The supreme command charged the flyers violated international law. It cited the Hague agreement of 1907 and other rules barring warlike activities in neutral waters.

British planes are based at Singapore, 300 miles from Padang.

The known British-French loss to date in tonnage has been 56,930, compared with the Nazis' 14,764. Shipping observers pointed out the greater British loss was natural because of the far greater number of British vessels in operation.

Lloyd's register as of July, 1939, showed Britain had 6,722 steamers and motorships in its merchant service, compared with Germany's 2,459, France's 1,231, and Poland's 63.

Germany, according to reliable reports, had 71 submarines when the new European war started. At the outbreak of the world war she was believed to have had only 28 U-boats, but by a rapid building program raised the number more than five-fold by the time her undersea campaign reached its peak in 1917.

Warning of Raid

These pictures show how London was warned of German planes last Sunday shortly after Britain declared war. Whether it was a real alarm or a rehearsal never has been made clear.

BIG FRENCH SHIP ELUDES SUBS TO BRING 1,677 HOME

Ile de France Completes Voyage to N. Y.

New York, Sept. 8 (AP).—The big French liner Ile de France brought 1,677 passengers safely into New York's neutral harbor tonight, ending a perilous voyage through the submarine-stalked shipping lanes of the Atlantic.

She had left her French port at about the time Britain and France joined the war against Germany and had to cross where the sinking of freighters had indicated Nazi submarines have been operating. Her course and experiences were not yet known as her radio has been silent to keep her position from enemy craft.

The liner anchored at quarantine for the night and was to dock in the morning. Many Americans fleeing from Europe's war were aboard.

More Vessels to Aid.

Meanwhile prospects brightened for getting other stranded Americans back from Europe quickly. The United States maritime commission ordered four more American ships withdrawn from their regular coastwise runs for trans-Atlantic service, and President Roosevelt announced he had made $500,000 available for the evacuation work. The latest ships ordered into trans-Atlantic service are the Shawnee and Iroquois of the Clyde-Mallory Line and the St. John and Acadia of the Eastern Steamship Line.

The Shawnee and Iroquois are sister ships with an estimated capacity of 500 passengers each. The Shawnee arrived today from Jacksonville and Miami, Fla. The Iroquois, on a West Indies cruise, is expected to dock Wednesday.

The Acadia and St. John also are sister ships and probably can carry 750 passengers each. The Acadia arrived today from Bermuda. The St. John is due Sunday from Nova Scotia.

The Orizaba, first United States vessel commandeered by the government to help in the evacuation, set out for Europe tonight without passengers or cargo. Cots to raise her capacity from 236 to 400 persons were carried.

The Norwegian liner Bergensfjord arrived from Europe today with 438 passengers, including Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, wife of the secretary of the treasury, and a son and daughter.

Manhattan Ready to Sail.

The liner Manhattan will sail from New York at noon tomorrow as scheduled as far as the National Maritime union [C. I. O.] is concerned, said Joseph Curran, president of the union. After a union meeting Curran asserted the United States Lines would be unable to pay the $250 bonus and $25,000 insurance sought by the union for each seaman for risking the perils of travel in the war zone.

Curran also offered the services of union members on a volunteer basis, without pay, to man ships to bring stranded Americans back from Europe, provided the shipowners carry the passengers free and carry no cargo. Curran made his offer in a telegram to President Roosevelt.

Two British liners sailed from here today for Europe. They were the Cunard-White Star Georgic and Samaria. The Georgic carried 152 passengers but only one American. Also aboard were 600 crew members of the British liner Queen Mary. The Samaria had 66 passengers, all British. The Queen Mary and French liner Normandie are expected to remain in this port for some time.

In London the United States lines announced that the passenger liners Washington and President Harding would sail next Monday from Southampton loaded with Americans. The ships previously had been scheduled to sail Sunday.

Two Ships to Leave England.

The Italian liner Rex sailed from Genoa, Italy, for New York today practically filled with Americans. A few berths were reserved for passengers waiting at Naples. The Rex is scheduled to leave there at noon Saturday. A number of Italians were aboard, including Italian consuls general at San Francisco and Baltimore.

The liner Conte di Savoia is scheduled to leave Genoa in a few days. Other Italian boats were reported resuming their services to Latin-America shortly.

Mrs. Tiny Mulhall, using all her 269 pounds, wins husband calling title at Michigan State fair.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8 [Special].—Men named Eddie leaped to attention in all parts of the Michigan state fair grounds when they heard their name shouted as from a mechanically powered broadcaster. But it was Mrs. Tiny Mulhall winning the husband calling crown by throwing all the power of her 269 pounds into a resounding cry for "Eddie-e-e." She asserted that a lusty follow through was as important in winning her honors as in winning any other championship.

Seven Are Injured as Flyer Crashes Into Freight Cars

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 8 [Special].—Six members of the train crew and one passenger were injured today when the Milwaukee road's Arrow, enroute from Chicago to Omaha, crashed into several empty freight cars near Marion. The engine and two baggage cars overturned and four coaches were derailed. The passenger injured was Grover Anders of Omaha, Neb.

Ft. Sheridan Force of 233 Off for Canal Zone Today

Reinforcements for the Panama Canal garrison, numbering 226 men and seven officers of the 61st coast artillery, will leave this morning from Fort Sheridan on a special train. U. S. NAVY REPORT ASSERTS ATHENIA WAS TORPEDOED

Many Trapped by Blast, Washington Is Told.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8 (AP).—An official report from American naval investigators that a submarine torpedoed the British liner Athenia and that many passengers were trapped and drowned below decks, was made public today by the state department.

Meanwhile, in London, officials of the American embassy worked on a provisional list of missing American passengers and crew out of the total of 128 estimated to have perished when the Athenia sank. Their list was not completed, but shipping circles in London and Glasgow expressed the belief that no more than a dozen Americans were lost.

Reports Show Variation.

Capt. Alan G. Kirk, naval attaché at London, and Commander Norman R. Hitchcock, Kirk's assistant, told the state department here that the evidence established the conclusion that a submarine torpedoed the ship. A separate report was filed by John Cudahy, American minister to Ireland.

Berlin authorities have said emphatically that no German vessel was responsible for the sinking of the Athenia.

There was some variance in the reports from Cudahy and the naval officers as to whether the submarine shelled the sinking Athenia. Cudahy said officers of the vessel and a number of American passengers reported that after a torpedo had struck the vessel amidships it was hit again by a "projectile projected through the air."

The naval officers said a quartermaster reported that a submarine conning tower broke water about 800 yards on the port side of the Athenia after the torpedo had exploded.

"A gun or explosive signal was fired from the conning tower platform," the officers added. "No witnesses heard a shell strike the ship; only one such discharge was seen. No splash of the projectile was seen."

Other Survivors Listed.

Herbert W. Klotz of New York, a friend of Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, contributed $20,250 to the relief fund for victims of the Athenia's sinking. The ambassador announced in London that he had sent about $4,000 to Minister Cudahy in Ireland, and Leslie A. Davis, consul general in Glasgow, for rehabilitation of refugees now in Galway and Glasgow.

The state department made public today the names of seven more American survivors. It said Consul General Davis had reported them from Glasgow as follows:

Damon Boynton, Trumansburg, N. Y.; Elizabeth Bruce, may be Elizabeth Barber Bruce of Louisville, Ky.; John Lawrence, may be John Hundale Lawrence of Berkeley, Cal.; Mrs. Sage, may be Katharine Sage of Salt Lake City, Utah; Helen Dewitt Smith, may be Mrs. Henry Dewitt Smith [Ellen Burke Smith] of Plainfield, N. J.

The department said the maritime commission had added the names of Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon of New York City to the names of survivors on the vessel City of Flint.

The Donaldson Line, which owned the Athenia, announced from Glasgow names of 111 survivors who are aboard the City of Flint. The list included these names, without addresses, not previously reported:

FORGOTTEN WOMAN FAILS TO POST BOND; RELEASE IS DELAYED

Mrs. Daisy Tegtmeyer, 53 years old, known as the forgotten woman of the County jail, where she has spent all but ten months of the last six years and eight months, waited in vain yesterday for her expected release. Her lawyer, Charles Liebman, was unable during the day to arrange for the $2,000 bond required by the Appellate court.

The court consented to Mrs. Tegtmeyer's release pending appeal from the 1933 court order sentencing her to jail indefinitly for failing to account for $30,000 of an estate she was administering. Liebman said that Mrs. Myrtle Moore, sister of Mrs. Tegtmeyer, was expected to provide bond today.

BEATEN BY ONE WAR, LOVE WINS OVER A SECOND

Paris Sweethearts of '17 to Wed in City Today.

Paris in 1917.

Yvonne Jacques, a school teacher, was introduced to a young soldier, Paul Revelli. He had been wounded while fighting in the regiment of the prince of Monaco and sent home. They fell in love.

But there was the war: excitement, hysteria, worry, and Paul's family thought he was too young to get married. So three years later, in Chicago, Yvonne became the bride of an American artist, Harry Sohn. She heard about Paul, once in a while, from her mother in France.

Love Survives the Years.

Years went by. Yvonne now had two children. Paul, who became a perfume manufacturer after the war, did not marry. He still called on Mme. Jacques once in a while to inquire about Yvonne. And Yvonne saw him once or twice on visits to Paris. In 1933 she got a divorce.

They began corresponding then. Soon it developed that Yvonne still was in love with Paul and Paul with Yvonne. Three times, while she was on flying visits to France, they tried to marry. Once she was not in the country long enough to satisfy legal requirements. Once she changed residence, and unwittingly balked their plans. Again she could not wait the required period after filing notice of her previous marriage and divorce.

Then came talk of another war and Paul grew desperate. He sailed shortly before his country declared war on Germany, and arrived last week in Chicago.

They'll Be Married Today.

Yvonne and Paul will be married today. Then Paul must hurry home again to serve his country. After the war, Yvonne says, they will plan what to do. Meanwhile she and her mother will continue with their antique shop in North State street.

Yvonne and Paul posed for photographers yesterday while she straightened his tie.

They have Mme. Jacques' blessing. "My, my," she says, "the money he is spending, that one, to come here to marry. He is the brave one, too, wounded in the last war and now he goes back to fight again."

1917 Love Triumphs

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF SHIP CARRYING HARVARD GROUP

Syosset, N. Y., Sept. 8 [Special].—Concern was felt today for the crew and passengers on the 147 foot barkentine Capitana, which sailed from Oyster bay for the Azores Aug. 28 with members of the Harvard Columbus expedition.

No word has been received from the ship since the outbreak of the war, although it has a two-way radio. The boat is following the lanes where submarine warfare has been reported and now should be in mid-Atlantic.

The Capitana, named for the flagship of Columbus' third voyage, was to meet the Mary Otis, a 45 foot ketch from Portland, Me., in the Azores. Both ships planned to retrace Columbus' voyage. Among those aboard are the skipper, Paul Hammond of Syosset, and Mrs. Hammond; Prof. Samuel Eliot Morison of Harvard, his wife and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Morrow Jr.; Dr. Clifton W. Anderson; Herbert F. Hossmer, first officer; John McElroy, navigator and second officer; George Emerson, engineer, and Clifton L. Mori, radio operator.

Confesses Rifling Mail Boxes; Total Loot $1

John M. Haugh, 39 years old, 471 Deming place, who says he is a short story writer, was held by Woodlawn police for postal authorities last night as a mail box thief. He told police, they said, that crime doesn't pay, for all he netted out of scores of mail box riflings was $1.

FIRE DESTROYS SCHOOL ANNEX.

A two room frame portable annex of the Union Ridge elementary school at 4600 North Oak Park avenue, Norwood township, was destroyed by fire early yesterday. Loss was estimated at $3,400.

ALDERMAN HITS ACTION BY HODES IN TAXICAB CASE

Ald. George D. Kells [28th] protested to the council transportation committee yesterday that Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes is doing work already assigned to a subcommittee of which he is chairman. Yesterday the corporation counsel filed suit in Circuit court for an injunction to restrain eight Evanston taxicab companies from soliciting passengers on Chicago streets without buying a city vehicle license.

"We have been studying that situation for several months, and there is no reason why the law department should ask for such an injunction," Kells protested. "Evanston cabs bring their own fares into Chicago and then once in a while pick up a return fare on the way out. Chicago cabs do that in Evanston. It's a matter of reciprocity."

Hodes asserted later that while the law prohibits Evanston cabs from picking up Chicago fares defendants in most such cases are dismissed with light fines. It is to stop this practice that the suit was filed, he said.

INDIANA ASKED TO WIDEN AND DEEPEN RIVER

The Indiana state harbor and terminals commission, meeting yesterday in Hammond, took under advisement a request for widening and deepening the Indiana part of the Little Calumet river.

The plea was made by the Little Calumet River Drainage association, composed of government representatives from Gary, Hammond, Munster, Highland, Griffith, and the townships of North and Calumet.

Since the WPA and the CCC began cleaning out tributaries four years ago the streams have been emptying faster into the narrow river, causing it to overflow with a moderate rainfall.

Clarence Mason, city engineer of Hammond, said Illinois has appropriated funds to widen and deepen the river from Crete to the state line, but will not begin work until Indiana takes similar steps.

AUTHOR M'EVOY CITED ON $3,255 ALIMONY CLAIM

J. P. McEvoy, author and playwright, was directed yesterday by Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady in Waukegan to show cause why he should not be held in contempt for disregarding terms of the divorce decree granted at Waukegan in 1932 to his first wife, Mary B. McEvoy. McEvoy is now in Hollywood.

Judge Dady also entered a default judgment for $3,255 in favor of Mrs. McEvoy, who lives at 373 Hazel avenue, Glencoe. This sum represents accrued unpaid alimony at the rate of $35 a week. The contempt citation is based on McEvoy's failure to pay.

4 Townships Get Higher Personal Tax Assessments

The 1939 personal property assessment total for Berwyn, Bloom, Niles and Stickney townships was increased to $10,530,813, compared with $9,865,402 for 1938, Assessor John S. Clark reported yesterday. This brings the 1939 total for the first 21 of the 30 townships outside Chicago in Cook county to $20,991,751, compared with $18,671,336 last year.

OMNIA OMNIBUS

By CALEB

WHAT percentage of the public are men and women who particularly love to find and own the world's rarities? Some dusty statistic may say—a very small figure, probably. But when this diluted ratio to the whole population is concentrated in one group, it runs into thousands—for whom the merchandise distributor must set aside a distinct part of his business.

All things for all people, then, is the motto under which our domestic and foreign buyers carry on a separate type of search and purchase, solely in the interests of the Collector. The former's activities and the latter's patronage constitute, in the aggregate, a whole business in themselves—a business whose romance and elusive fascination are endless. Rendezvous for this special class of customer are available on several different floors—and the sales and service personnel of each are "experts in the exceptional."

The Antique Silver Room and Fine Jewelry collections, for example, are offered where these major interests will be most easily accessible—on our first floor. Further attractions greet the connoisseur as he wanders through the Picture Galleries, the "Pageant of Old Peking," and the sparkling displays of antique glass, china and decorative accessories on our second floor. In the section, on our Wabash third floor, devoted to Rare Books and Fine Bindings, the true bibliophile likewise enters a private world apart.

Higher up, on our ninth floor, awaits still another "domain of delight"—in the intriguing variety of our Antique Furniture Galleries. Here is assembled what critical visitors from far and near have pronounced one of the finest assortments of authentic, unique, and, in their fashion, priceless, period furnishings in the merchandise world. Every piece carries its own credentials of source, data, style and price. Even for the curious layman the appeal of these room groupings and individual objects has its enviable moments.

The aesthetic and spiritual satisfactions of collectorship are innumerable. Likewise the diversity of its manifestations. But whether one's enthusiasm thrive on stamps, coins, bottles, porcelains, bronzes, pictures, Oriental objets d'art, barometers, silver, pottery, jewelry, or odd craftwork—the thrill of finding the precise rarity one seeks is incommunicable. And since, to serve collectors, you have to be a collector—our own specialists know this thrill in as many variations as their collector customers.

TRANSIT DELAYS IMPERIL SUBWAY, COUNCIL WARNED

Harrington Attacks Lines' Own Valuation.

Philip Harrington, commissioner of subways and traction, warned the city council's local transportation committee yesterday that the city's subway grant of $18,000,000 from the Public Works administration may be canceled unless the city can provide by Nov. 1 a plan for equipping and operating the subway.

Philip Harrington.

At the same time, Harrington asserted that the transit lines' own valuation of $201,000,000 under the proposed traction unification program was reached by unreasonable methods. He said that unless the companies will agree to a lower figure, there is apparently no hope for a unified transit ordinance and hence no hope that a unified company will take over operation of the subways.

Votes to Meet Negotiators.

Following this report the transportation committee voted to invite the transit lines' three man negotiating committee to a meeting next Thursday. At that time, the committee will ask the negotiators whether they are ready to submit a revised valuation proposal, Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman, said. The negotiating committee is made up of Walter A. Shaw, traction advisor to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson; Guy A. Richardson, president of the Chicago Surface Lines, and Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee for the elevated lines.

Referring to possible cancelation of the PWA subway grant, Harrington said:

"I call your attention to a requirement of the subway grant which provides that the government shall be under no obligation to make any grant unless the city shall, not later than Nov. 1, have submitted to the administrator for his approval, provision for the equipping and operation [by lease or otherwise] of the subways."

A large part of Harrington's report dealt with differences between the city and representatives of the Chicago Surface Lines and the elevated lines on a proposed valuation for a merged company. The city's suggestion of $101,183,000 is almost $100,000,000 lower than the figure proposed by the negotiators.

Seek Compromise Valuation.

Engineers for both the city and the companies have been meeting for more than a month seeking a compromise on the two figures. Harrington said yesterday, however, that no reconciliation appeared possible.

He submitted a detailed tabulation, contrasting valuation figures for properties held by the two companies. They follow:

	City's proposal.	Companies' proposal.
	$101,183,000	$201,000,000

Harrington said that the negotiators propose to include in their capital value a "substantial number of dollars representing cost of property which is to be abandoned."

"The negotiators seem chiefly concerned with supporting claims as against the city, rather than in presenting justification of a valuation of the actual transportation property to be acquired by the new unified local transportation company," Harrington said.

Future Depends on Figure.

The capital value will affect the rates of fare, the credit of the new company, and the basis on which the city might buy the lines at a future time, he added.

There has been a great variance in estimates of the worth of the elevated and surface lines in the last twenty-three years. In 1916 a city commission decided the elevated, for consolidation purposes, was worth $70,500,000 and the surface lines $149,171,408. In 1921 the Illinois utility commission fixed valuations for rate making at $79,250,000 for the elevated and $162,200,000 for the surface lines.

In 1930 the city passed an ordinance calling for purchase of the properties for an estimated $260,000,000, including approximately $95,500,000 for the elevated and $164,500,000 for the surface lines. This was approved in a special election, but the city later discarded the ordinance. Depreciation and lower earnings, the city has insisted, make the properties much less valuable now.

Highland Park Wife Wins Divorce from Grain Broker

Mrs. Ruth S. Hunt, 803 Roslyn lane, Highland Park, was granted an uncontested divorce yesterday by Judge Ralph J. Dady in Lake county Circuit court from Floyd P. Hunt, a grain broker. Mrs. Hunt accused her husband of beating her. She asked no alimony. They were married March 31, 1934, and separated last July 8.

VOID PASSPORT; DELAY WEDDING FOR FIFTH TIME

Watertown, Mass., Sept. 8 (AP).—Marriage, in the opinion of the state department, is not an "imperative necessity" and as a result Miss Irene D. Scanlon, 29, was forced today to postpone her wedding for the fifth time in five years.

Her passport was canceled by the state department yesterday by reason of a ruling that American citizens shall travel in embattled Europe only on account of "imperative necessity." Miss Scanlon had booked passage on the Queen Mary for Dublin, where she had intended to be married late this month to John J. O'Byrne of Dublin, whom she met during a trip five years ago.

Four times previously she was forced to cancel marriage plans because of her mother's ill health but she was so sure this time that she had given up her position as a bookkeeper. She explained to her employers, however, and they gave her back her job.

15,000 23d Warders Honor County Treasurer at Picnic

More than 15,000 residents of the 23d ward turned out last night at Pilsen park to pay their respects to County Treasurer John Toman. It was the annual picnic in honor of one of the ward's outstanding politicians. There were the usual refreshments, entertainment features, and dancing, but few politicians.

500 Varieties

A $50,000 collection of tropical and semi-tropical orchids is now in full bloom at Garfield park. More than 3,500 plants of 500 varieties and hybrids are on exhibit at the entrance to the palmhouse in the conservatory. The vanilla bean orchid, the only member of the orchid family of real economic value, is the most popular, August Koch, horticulturist for the Chicago park district, said.

FATHER DIVINE BUYS A HEAVEN IN PHILADELPHIA

New York, Sept. 8 [Special].—Father Divine, the Negro evangelist who has established extension heavens in several exclusive districts in the last year, has just bought a former hotel and lodge headquarters in Philadelphia for $50,000, his secretary, John Lamb, announced tonight.

The new property, which will be Divine's headquarters in Philadelphia, will be taken over in a few days as soon as the formalities of recording the deed are finished.

The property, on South Broad street includes two stores, ninety-five meeting rooms, a dining room, and sixteen baths. The buildings are five stories, 93 by 120 feet. The seller was Jean Prettyman Howell.

JAILED FOR STABBING WOMAN.

Peter Workman, 44 North Sacramento avenue, was ordered yesterday by Judge Edward P. Luczak to work out a $100 fine in the Bridewell. Workman was accused of stabbing a woman with a pair of scissors during a quarrel.

STATE SETS NEW RECORD FOR CAR REGISTRATIONS

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 8 (AP).—Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes said today 1,588,919 passenger car registrations recorded for the first eight months this year was an all-time Illinois high and 21,144 more than were recorded during all of 1938.

Hughes said the number of chauffeur licenses on Aug. 31 jumped 32,679 over the 83,593 recorded in the corresponding period last year and that truck, trailer, motorcycle and dealer registrations also had increased. The total driver's licenses issued thus far is 2,682,171.

Collections from the registrations for the eight months was $23,113,798, compared with $20,512,393 for the same period a year ago.

DIES OF INJURIES FROM FALL.

Mrs. Mathilda Thrist, 76 years old, 3937 North Ridgeway avenue, a widow, died yesterday in the American hospital of injuries suffered in a fall in her home Aug. 29.

ESTRANGED WIFE SPURNS $5 CUT ON MATE'S FUNERALS

A plea that the undertaking business was so slow that there had not been a funeral from his mortuary at 435 South Halsted street since July was rejected yesterday by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington when offered by Pericles Camberis as an excuse for a $60 delinquency in temporary maintenance payments.

Camberis, brought into court on a contempt rule by his wife, Tessie, 25 years old, of 1702 South Paulina street, whose suit for separate maintenance is pending, offered through his attorney, Zach Ritsos, to pay his wife $5 for each funeral he conducts in the future.

She indignantly refused the offer, saying it put her in the position of hoping and praying for people to die. Judge Harrington gave Camberis thirty days to pay up and get abreast of current commitments of $10 a week.

Crushed to Death as He Steps Out of Elevator

Raffael Segreti, a butcher at 2859 Polk street, was crushed to death yesterday in an elevator of the West Town bank building, 2400 Madison street. Paul Schroeder, the elevator operator, told police that Segreti stepped from the elevator as it approached the eighth floor and was caught between the elevator and the wall.

MORRISON RESIDENT DIES.

Morrison, Ill., Sept. 8 [Special].—William G. Robinson, 78 years old and a resident of Morrison nearly all his life, died at San Fernando, Cal., on Tuesday. He was engaged in the hardware business for many years, retiring twelve years ago.

SUBWAY STRIKES SAND; LAND SAGS IN STATE STREET

Pavement in State street south of Ohio street sank two to three inches yesterday when workers digging the subway tunnel struck a sand pocket. Southbound street cars were rerouted while workers plugged up the hole with clay and a sand-cement mixture.

Philip Harrington, commissioner of subways and traction, said that the sand pocket was directly beneath a manhole of the Commonwealth Edison company. Compressed air pressure in the tunnel fell as the air escaped through the sand pocket and then to the street surface through the manhole.

Digging operations in the tunnel were suspended for several hours while the pocket was being filled.

Seven Japanese Good-Will Flyers in City Over Night

Seven Japanese good-will flyers arrived here yesterday afternoon in an eastward journey around the world. They will leave early today for Newark, N. J., and New York. They flew from Japan to Alaska and then to California, stopping in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

JAILED IN POLICE PISTOL THEFT.

Judge Gibson E. Gorman yesterday sentenced Clifford Frame, of Deep River, Ind., an ex-convict, to nine months in the Bridewell for receiving stolen property. A revolver which had been stolen from a policeman was found on him.

M'GARRY BOND SCANDAL TAKEN TO GRAND JURY

Courtney Urges Inquiry; Chief Justice to Aid.

The grand jury began an investigation yesterday into the actions of Judge Eugene L. McGarry in approving fifty-six times in the last three years a real estate bond which proved practically worthless when it was ordered forfeited Tuesday in a robbery case.

There were two other developments in connection with Municipal court bonds:

1. Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court declared that at least four other Municipal court judges had flouted the rules and approved real estate bonds which had not been examined by the bond department.

2. A woman defendant in a confidence game case failed to appear yesterday in Felony court, where police waited with forty-three additional warants. When her bond was ordered forfeited it was learned that she had been freed on her personal recognizance Aug. 8 when brought before Judge McGarry.

Courtney Goes Before Jury.

The grand jury investigation was launched with the appearance before the jurors of State's Attorney Courtney, First Assistant Wilbert F. Crowley, and Assistants Richard Austin and Melvin Rembe. Harold Gendon, 6926 Oglesby avenue, owner of the property approved as bond by McGarry, also was a witness.

Gendon is understood to have repeated his story that the property in question, a vacant lot at St. Charles road and Eastern avenue, Bellwood, was posted as a favor to five or six lawyer friends. It has an assessed valuation of only $97, but was used to cover bonds ranging from $200 to $5,000. Gendon earlier had said he had been a friend of Judge McGarry for twenty years. He is not a registered bondsman.

Courtney was before the jury a full hour. He refused to comment on his testimony other than to say that he had requested a complete investigation. It is understood that the jury may request both McGarry and Chief Justice Sonsteby to appear when it reconvenes next week.

Hunt Saloonkeeper Friend.

It was learned also that several squads of state's attorney's police are searching the city for a saloonkeeper, said to be a key witness in the case, who also is a friend of McGarry.

Justice Sonsteby, informed of the grand jury action, said he would be willing to appear before that body and to bring all necessary records. He was asked about McGarry's violation of court rules and said:

"Just before I went on my vacation in July I called him in on that. I told all the judges who were approving bonds in violation of our rules that if they continued we would consider the bonds worthless and issue warants for those freed on them. McGarry has been spoken to at least half a dozen times but persists in his actions. I have no power of discipline other than reassignment.

"I haven't the least objection to a grand jury investigation of the bond situation. I'm perfectly willing to appear and bring all the records. But as a matter of fact I think it should include at least four other judges who have done the same thing after being requested not to do so. I will give their names to the grand jury if asked.

Rules Set Up in 1930.

"We established the bond department in 1930 and adopted rules registering bondsmen and describing the manner in which bonds could be signed. Nonregistered bondsmen who charge for their services should be run out of town. We have had lots of trouble with many bondsmen who are not registered, but whose bonds are approved by some judges. Technically the bondsmen are in contempt of court in these cases and in some instances have been fined and jailed."

The confidence game defendant who failed to appear yesterday before Judge Gibson Gorman was Mrs. Kitty Morris, president of the First State Mortgage company, 10 North Clark street. Warants against her charging confidence game operations involve a total of between $80,000 and $100,000. Five members of the Morris family thus far have been arrested and accused of accepting payments on property and failing to deliver the deeds.

Record of Judge McGarry.

Judge McGarry, who is reported vacationing in Wisconsin, is a Democrat, 61 years old, and lives at 657 Roscoe street. He is married and the father of seven daughters and two sons. From 1895 to 1905 he was in the boiler business with his father, Patrick. His first political job was in the office of the county collector from 1911 to 1915. He was graduated from the Kent College of Law in 1915 and went into practice.

In 1918 he was appointed an assistant state's attorney under Maclay Hoyne, and served a little more than a year. He made unsuccessful races for congress in 1916 and 1920, and for the Municipal bench in 1922. In 1931 he was one of a number of attorneys investigated for their collection of fees from the sanitary district in its "whoopee era." He was cleared of blame.

When he was a candidate for the Municipal court in 1934 the bar association reported: "He has had varied experience as a trial lawyer but we do not regard him as qualified."

HELD TO JURY IN EMBEZZLEMENT. Russell Lett, 30 years old, 6700 Cregier avenue, a collector, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Gibson E. Gorman on a charge of embezzling $1,000 from his employer, a cattle buyer.

HUSBAND GIVES UP IN STAB DEATH OF ESTRANGED WIFE

Robert Namoors, 50 years old, who had been sought by the police for the fatal stabbing Wednesday of his estranged wife, Irma, in a rooming house at 2511 North Racine avenue, surrendered at the Willow Springs county highway station yesterday.

Robert Namoors.

Namoors, when questioned later by Capt. Thomas Duffy at the Sheffield avenue station, said he did not remember stabbing his wife. He identified a pocket knife found near her body as his and declared he must have been in a daze or out of his head at the time.

Mrs. Grace De Mars, 2517 North Racine avenue, a daughter of the victim, told the police shortly after the slaying that her mother had been threatened by Namoors, whom she had married two years ago. She said they separated two weeks ago. Namoors lives at 751 Diversey parkway.

59TH ST. CHARLES FUGITIVE IS STILL EVADING SEIZURE

Roy McFall, 17 years old, the fifty-ninth inmate to escape from the St. Charles School for Boys this year, was still at large last night, two days after he escaped. James Hargrave, 17, who fled with him, was captured less than 300 feet from the school.

Emil Piquard, one of the four guards mounted on horseback through a recent appropriation of the legislature, galloped after Hargrave and caught him. Holding fast to the boy, Piquard spurred his horse after McFall, but the latter got away.

The boys fled while working on a masonry detail. Hargrave lives in Harrisburg and McFall in Duquoin. J. J. Rauf, acting managing officer, said both boys were committed for minor delinquencies. He said the escape of McFall was reported to the police immediately. Aurora police said they were not notified.

FIRST ACQUITTAL MADE IN COUNTY BY WOMAN JURY

The first acquittal verdict by a woman jury in Cook county was returned yesterday before Judge Joseph Graber of the Criminal court. Martin Gutchman, 21 years old, the defendant, was charged with raping a young married woman after forcing her into an alley at the point of a knife. Assistant Public Defender Mort Anderson produced witnesses who said Gutchman was working at the time in the garage at 2326 South Indiana avenue where he also lives. The jury, composed of nine women and three men, deliberated an hour and forty-five minutes, then found him not guilty.

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH ON TOUHY AVE.

Union Investigator Dies of Accident Injuries.

Mrs. Louise Brehmer, 58 years old, who lived on a farm at Garden Prairie, was killed yesterday when her car and one driven by Emil Moeller of 2642 75th avenue, Elmwood Park, collided at Algonquin road and Touhy avenue.

Mrs. Brehmer's husband, William Brehmer, was hurt seriously in the collision. The car was being driven by their daughter, Mrs. Sadie Hauth, of Rockford, who escaped injury.

Carmelo Berto, an investigator for the Track Layers' union, died in County hospital of a skull fracture incurred when he was struck by an automobile at Western avenue and 13th street last Tuesday. He was 49 years old, and lived at 5624 South Francisco avenue. The driver of the car was Michael Iovinelli, 328 South Spaulding avenue.

Cylist Dies of Injuries.

Walter Kujawa, 25 years old, 2239 West 50th street, died in the Southtown hospital of injuries incurred Thursday night when an automobile struck his bicycle at 50th street and Winchester avenue. The driver was Stanley Fedro, 19, of 4814 South Winchester avenue.

Mrs. Bertha Wetzel, 72, of 9015 Exchange avenue, died in the South Chicago hospital of injuries suffered Thursday when she was struck by an automobile at 99th street and Avenue L. Thomas Byrne, 4437 North Seeley avenue, was the driver.

Killed Near Lake Geneva.

John R. McSweeney Jr., 22 years old, whose father was a state representative from the 19th senatorial district for nineteen years, was killed Thursday night when his automobile was struck from the rear by another car south of Lake Geneva. McSweeney was riding in the rumble seat with Matthew Miller, 18, of Chicago. Miller and two other boys in the car also were injured.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 568 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 440 were killed in Chicago, where 14,809 were injured in the same period.

WOUNDED BANDIT, PAROLEE, ADMITS FORTY ROBBERIES

John Gilmore, 29 years old, a parole violator from Buffalo, N. Y., who was shot and wounded Thursday after robbing a store owner, yesterday confessed more than forty robberies here since Jan. 1, 1938. He was identified by ten merchants.

Gilmore said he served three years in a Pennsylvania prison for robbery and was paroled in 1935. He violated his parole in coming to Chicago, he told Sergt. Bernard Reilly of the North avenue station.

Gilmore was shot by Joseph Lochansky, owner of a shoe store at 2312 Chicago avenue, after he had taken $21 from the cash register. Lochansky ran out into the street with a shotgun and fired at him. Four pedestrians were also slightly wounded.

Trafic Signs Used as Ball Field Bases; City Objects

Trafic safety signs posted near schools are to protect children and aren't supposed to be used for bases on ball diamonds, Joseph J. Butler, city superintendent of streets, complained yesterday to William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools. Butler said some of the signs had been found on ball diamonds, and that many of them had been taken down. Superintendent Johnson instructed all school principals to tell pupils that, for their own safety's sake, they should leave the signs alone.

DRUG ADDICT PLEADS FOR PRISON. Mabel Sterling, 63 years old, 6070 Stony Island avenue, asked Judge George B. Weiss in Women's court yesterday to send her to prison, to cure her of the drug habit. The judge sentenced her to a year in the women's reformatory at Dwight.

DISCUSS SODIUM VAPOR LIGHTING TO CURB CRASHES

Sodium vapor lights for dangerous intersections were discussed yesterday by a city council trafic subcommittee. Ald. George D. Kells [28th], chairman, said he would urge the committee to recommend use of sodium lights.

"Experiments showed last year that at three dangerous intersections night accidents were reduced 57.9 per cent when these lights were used," Kells said. "The yellow lights give better illumination and warn the motorist that the intersection is dangerous."

Pair Held to Grand Jury for Passing Bogus Money

A young couple arrested last week in Clinton, De Witt county, accused of passing $7,000 worth of counterfeit $10 bills in Illinois and Wisconsin, were held to the federal grand jury yesterday by Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. They are Joe Fucca, 24 years old, and his wife, Rosalie, 27.

OUSTER OF ACCUSED MASTER IN CHANCERY TO BE ASKED MONDAY

Chief Justice Grover C. Niemeyer of the Superior court said yesterday that judges of the court will meet Monday to act on the ouster of Fred Bernstein, a master in chancery since 1921. Bernstein was sent to jail by Judge Niemeyer Thursday when he admitted misappropriating $3,000 entrusted to his care.

Although he was freed a few hours later when the money was paid up by his law associate, to be turned over to litigants in a case handled by Bernstein, the master failed to turn in his resignation, as Judge Niemeyer said he had promised. The judge, stating that Bernstein would be required to submit final accounts on all other cases before him, stated:

"It is inconceivable that a man who has made such admissions should be allowed to retain a public post."

CLEANING SHOP ROBBED OF $7. A bandit entered a cleaning and dyeing shop at 1110 North State street yesterday, and took $7.

YEAR BRINGS BOY LIFE, THEN DEATH FROM PHYSICIAN

Just a year ago Dr. Jerome Kaiser, now of Thornton, Ill., was an intern in Jackson Park hospital. One night a boy, 5 years old, was brought in suffering from severe bruises and an apparent fracture. Dr. Kaiser treated him in the emergency room. The boy, Arden Leavitt, recovered and returned to the home of his father, C. E. Leavitt, 856 East 73d street.

Ten days ago Dr. Kaiser's automobile struck and killed a boy at 73d street and Cottage Grove avenue. In an inquest yesterday, a jury before Deputy Coroner Theodore Luber absolved Dr. Kaiser of blame in the death of the lad—Arden Leavitt.

SEPTEMBER 1938—1939.

Some of the warring nations must regret that the decision made in September, 1939, was not made in September, 1938, when Czecho-Slovakia was still a nation behind strong fortifications, with a numerous and well equipped army. Then Poland would have had it as a buffer state and as an ally if it had perceived its own dangers. Moreover, at that time soviet Russia had not indicated that it would dishonor its agreement with France and might not have done so.

The material and men for resistance in the east were much greater last year than they are today. The resources of Czecho-Slovakia are now in the hands of the Nazis. Stalin has made his perfidious peace with Hitler. The two may be contemplating some joint action, military as well as diplomatic.

It is to be observed, however, that while there was much greater potential strength in the east and much greater actual strength, Great Britain and France were not ready. In addition to the disinclination of the British and French governments to bring about a general war rather than make any concessions to the Nazis in Czecho-Slovakia, there was also the painful consciousness in London and Paris that they were not prepared. They needed the additional year to provide themselves with equipment which they had neglected while they trusted to diplomacy to get them out of danger. Their misfortune was that while they went into intensive preparations the eastern front crumbled up, leaving only Poland to offer resistance.

Poland and Hungary both contributed to the disappearance of Czecho-Slovakia. The Poles with the permission of the Nazis took the Teschen area by marching in their troops, with the justification that when the Poles had been fighting the communists the Czecho-Slovakians had sent their troops into that area and annexed it. Territorial justifications in much of Europe can be argued heatedly back and forth without much satisfaction, because history at some period or other will justify nearly every contention.

THE TWO REAPINGS.

In the memories of that other world war which was in its first phase twenty-five years ago, two very small incidents have persisted for some particular quality they had. One seemed vividly to show the individual in his strange relation to the catastrophe about him. Of the German advance into Belgium one correspondent found it important enough to cable that an elderly man had been seen dead on the highway and it was noted that before he started out in the morning he had been prudent enough to take his umbrella and put on his rubbers. His life had still included the small uncertainties of weather when he was caught in shell fire.

The other incident occurred later, after the British troops had retreated from Mons. The official commentator then assigned to the expeditionary force to write a day by day story of the war in the British sector included in his narrative the sentence: "There is a touch of autumn in the air." That irrelevancy seemed to reveal as few other words could the tragedy of reasonable human expectations in what was happening in the approach, following the harvest, of the most compensating season of the year.

Again the touch of autumn is in the air. In Europe the normal harvests of the fields were hastily gathered to prepare for one of a different kind. Here the leaves early seared by hot southwest winds are falling and the warbler migration is going through. Our harvest fields have not been made ready for the other reaping.

WHEN COMRADES DISAGREE.

The world is greatly indebted to Comrade Earl Browder for providing the light touch otherwise lacking these days. It was only a few weeks ago that Mr. Browder, speaking at the University of Virginia as America's No. 1 communist, said the likelihood of a German-Russian pact was equal to the likelihood of his being elected president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Communism could not come to terms with Herr Hitler, he asserted. When the pact was made Mr. Browder hailed it as a sublime achievement in statesmanship because it would preserve peace in Europe and the world. The next day the war began.

Comrade Browder has not yet been elected to the presidency of the chamber but he has been appearing before the Dies committee and his testimony there leaves little to be desired. Mr. Browder doesn't know the meaning of the word anti-climax. He climbs nimbly from peak to peak, and each effort outdoes the last. He told Mr. Dies that the representatives of the communist parties from the various countries meet in Moscow from time to time, consider proposals with care, and after due deliberation reach decisions on matters of policy. These are voluntary decisions, "having the force of moral persuasion and if you don't agree you get out."

Comrade Browder neglected only to tell how the exit is accomplished. It would have made a most interesting story and it is a pity he didn't go into it.

ONE KIND OF COW AND TWO KINDS OF MILK.

Secretary Wallace's establishment of his milk price dictatorship over Chicago has been followed almost immediately by a one cent increase in the price to the consumer.

The milk distributors, while they do not ascribe the price increase entirely to the increased costs placed on them by Secretary Wallace, say in effect that his plan was the straw that broke the camel's back. The distributors absorbed a price increase to dairymen of 30 cents a hundredweight [about two-thirds of a cent a quart] on July 16 without increasing the retail prices. Further increases under the federal dictatorship made the retail boost inevitable, they assert. They claim they are still operating at a loss.

Some years ago, when members of the Pure Milk association were marketing their product under a price system that gave a high base price for milk sold in fluid state and a low surplus price for the remaining production which was used by condenseries and creameries, opponents of this marketing plan had an effective argument. A farmer would be approached as he was nestled up against Bossy's flank, squirting milk into a pail.

"Look," the farmer was told. "The milk from that right hand teat is base. The milk from that left hand one is surplus. What's the difference between the teats?"

The beauty of the argument was that the farmer was likely to remember it every time he went out to milk. The harder he squeezed the madder he got.

His visitor was on the right economic track. The old base-surplus plan, Secretary Wallace's plan, and every other plan that has been tried and failed have been based on the fallacy that the same cow furnishes two kinds of milk. One is the milk that city consumers get in bottles at a high price, fixed artificially. The other is the milk that goes to the creamery in cans at a low price fixed by supply and demand.

There is, it is true, a necessary differential in the cost of bottled milk. This arises from the cost to the farmer of meeting the sanitary regulations necessary to admit his milk to that market. Processors whose sterilization is more efficient than pasteurization do not have to be so particular about their raw material. Also it has been suspected that some of the sanitary regulations fluid milk producers have had to meet have been less in the interest of sanitation than in that of strengthening a monopoly for existing producers.

This price differential necessary to meet sanitary regulations has been estimated at 40 cents a hundredweight above the condensery price. Without indorsing the accuracy of this estimate, it may be noted that Mr. Wallace's fixed price for fluid milk is about 60 cents above the present condensery price. In other words, it offers a 20 cent bonus to the condensery producer who can slick up his barn and break into the fluid market.

As soon as that happens in sufficient volume an unwieldy milk surplus will pile up, cut the net price to producers in this area, without giving any relief to the babies of Chicago.

ARMY DRILL IN THE CCC.

The President has announced that the army is to be expanded, though it is not his intention to bring it up at once to the full authorized enlistment.

As yet no attention has been paid the proposal, frequently voiced, that the young men in the CCC camps be given military training. The tendency, indeed, is in the opposite direction. Only the other day it was announced that the reserve officers who supervise the camps will replace their army uniforms with forest green outfits resembling those worn in the forestry service. The change seems to symbolize a determination to reduce to the vanishing point the connection between the army and the CCC.

The maneuvers at Plattsburg and Bull Run last month disclosed glaring deficiencies in our defense forces. A great deal of emphasis has been laid upon the shortage of modern equipment, including automatic rifles, machine guns, anti-aircraft weapons, and both light and heavy artillery. Much has been said, also, about the inexperience in large-scale field operations found in all ranks from privates to generals.

Guns can be made a good deal faster than soldiers can be trained to use them. If military training were made a part of CCC activities the country within a relatively short time would have a good many hundreds of thousands of men who could take their places at the front without too much delay. They would enter the army in time of emergency with their soldiers' education half completed. In the CCC camps the government's wards could learn discipline, which would certainly do them no harm, and, in addition, they could learn to march, to live in the field, to shoot, and to care for rifles and machine guns.

The opposition to military drill in the CCC has come not from the young men in the corps but from persons who disapprove of military training for anybody in America. Their ideal is a defenseless country in a warring world, as if such a condition would not promote rather than prevent a war. The stronger we are the less likely it is that our rights and interests will be invaded. We should not neglect the opportunity afforded by the CCC to prepare for any emergency which may arise.

Editorial of the Day

EARL BROWDER AND HIS LITTLE BOOMERANG.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

It seems there is an excellent chance that Earl L. Browder, general secretary of the communist party in this nation and the party's candidate for President of the United States in 1936, is going to wind up as president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Not so many days ago, when speaking at the Institute of Public Affairs in Charlottesville, Va., Browder answered a question. The question: "Is there any possibility of the soviet union entering into an agreement with Germany?" The answer: "The most active source of such information is Berlin, which has hope of confusing the democracies by such stories. There is about as much chance of such an agreement as of Earl Browder being elected president of the United States Chamber of Commerce." Step forward and take the chair, Earl.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

SPEAKING OF PSEUDONYMS.

The pseudonym habit is an old Line o' Type custom that deserves discussion. It is characteristic of this column more than any other; it adds a tang of mystery that arouses the reader's curiosity; and the ingenuity of the invented names of contributors is, to the editor at least, a constant source of admiration and amusement.

The tradition is, we believe, a natural growth out of the quirks and idiosyncracies of the contributing mind. It was not adopted, in the beginning, as a deliberate policy of the "column conductor," as earlier Linemasters called themselves in their quaint, old fashioned way; it just grew, like Topsy. Some contributors, we know, have a genuine desire to mask their identities; while others find in the use of pseudonyms a refreshing method of escape from their real lives. But whatever their reasons—the shyness of a thrush in a thicket, the wish to establish a new rôle in which their imaginations may frolic, or the desire for a secret of their own—the pseudonym habit is deep-seated. A former editor, fearing that it contained possibilities of entrapment, tried to change it, and a contributors' revolution broke out with violence.

Of all these pleasant masks, we are especially fond of "Quizzicuss," "S'Amuser," and "Eolus." The first requires no interpretation to any one; its felicity is apparent. The second is a French verb form, and means "to amuse oneself." The third carries the initials of the author in its first three letters; the added "us" gives the name of the god of the winds in Greek mythology.

"Evan S. Tonian" always diverts us, because we were not bright enough to read its meaning at a glance. "Evan" is a common Welsh name; "S." is a typical American middle initial; and "Tonian" sounds quite Armenian. There might easily be such a name in the melting pot. But when you omit the spaces, it becomes "Evanstonian."

A tale that is maist weird:
M' auld Unk Dunc in a blue funk
Has sacrificed his beard.
The growth o' eight decades is gone;
The reason—need ye ask?
There is nae room for sic a crop
Beneath his new gas mask.

A Police Station "Pome" by John Kelley.

I'm glad to see that old John Kelley is still alive and writing for the Line [Sept. 4] now and then, so I am. He used to write his "pomes" for Bathhouse John on the backs of police bulletins. When he was the Boswell of the police force, the newspapers often printed funny stories about officers who were transferred to remote stations, such as Cragin and Hegewisch. Here is a typical Kelley "pome" which was inspired by Officer John O'Connor's transfer from the desk at Harrison street station to Cragin:

CLEANING OUT ME DRAWER.

There's a gat, 'twas made in ninety-eight,
And a pipe from Mullingar—
I'm transferred out to Cragin
So I'm cleaning out me drawer.
I would not care if I was sent
As far as Brighton Park,
Or even out to Lawndale
Where they go home at dark.
But the lonesome road to Cragin—
Why was I sent so far?
I'm going out into the sticks,
So I'm cleaning out me drawer.

CHILD TO ORGAN MONKEY.

The music box you sit upon,
Your cap snatched off and then put on,
Your scarlet jacket, cup of tin
To put the clinking pennies in,

Your darting look, so sad and sweet,
Your little clutching hands and feet—

O, organ monkey, can't you see
That you have friends?
That you have me?

8 Ways to Pronounce the Same Syllable.

Most experts say that the syllable "ough" has seven different pronunciations in English; but there is really an eighth. The following sentence contains all eight of them. Can you spot the one that is usually overlooked by the phonetic sharks:

"A rough coated, dough faced *plough*man strode hicc*ough*ing and c*ough*ing through the streets of Scarb*orough*, and went down to the shores of the lough."

Who wanted to know if Queen Anne's lace is called dog fennel in Indiana [Aug. 30]? No good Hoosier would insult the former weed with that name. Dog fennel is one of the lowest varieties of the daisy family. It is sometimes called "May weed," and I believe the farmers call it "white top." Hoosier Sister.

What with an early vacation, and other things, including last Thursday's blast furnace weather, this has been a long, long summer. We are ready to welcome the good old tang of autumn whenever it takes the air. CHARLES COLLINS.

THE THROAT: A HIGHWAY FOR INFECTION.

WE CANNOT deny that the removal of troublesome tonsils and adenoids is worth while. Physicians who have lived long enough to observe the changes in the well being of our young people rejoice over the position taken by conservative surgeons. We have a healthier crowd of youngsters today than we had a generation ago. We encounter in this group fewer discharging ears, running noses, vacant faces, and, in addition, less heart and kidney damage. Why? Because we recognize that infected lymph tissue within the throat [the tonsils particularly] can pour deadly poison into the circulation. In consequence, it is safe to say that the men and women of tomorrow will be saved many a bout with arthritis or rheumatism. Furthermore, general resistance will be higher with fewer acute upsets.

A strong argument lies in the fact that those who have been operated on successfully rarely develop diphtheria or scarlet fever. In a series of more than 1,000 cases of the latter disease only twenty-three had had their tonsils and adenoids taken out—and then only partially.

But no sane physician will advocate eliminating these glands just because they are present. There is no excuse for their extirpation merely to have it "over with." Many an individual will go through life without a semblance of sore throat or tonsilitis. We do not know enough about the function of these glands. Perhaps they are like sponges, capable of absorbing toxins. On the other hand, they may be likened to fountains—sources of infection. We must be certain that they are doing more harm than good before subjecting our little ones to surgery.

Probably the most striking indication for tonsillectomy is an attack of quinsy—the formation of an abscess. The reason is that the patient never really recovers, as careful examination of the region has shown that certain nests of microbes remain, ready to stir up trouble as soon as reserve drops.

Then again we find in many of these children enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck. These structures serve as filters and endeavor to hinder the entrance of bacteria and their products into the blood stream. When they enlarge we may look to the tonsils or the teeth for the cause.

Enthusiasts may go so far as to claim that the nose and throat physician is a greater benefactor of the public weal than any other specialist. This branch of surgery requires great skill, as a bungling job is likely to leave the patient far worse off. Modern technique throws every possible safeguard about the procedure.

Frequent inquiries come to this department relative to the employment of cauterization or treatment with diathermy or X-ray. While some value may attend these methods, there is nothing quite so efficacious as complete excision. We can desiccate [dry up] much of the tissues by means of electrosurgery, but the results are not always satisfactory, as we run the risk of enclosing within a scar a substantial number of bacterial colonies. At best, all such plans are makeshifts.

But we must not forget the importance of good oral hygiene, which includes skilled attention to the teeth and the acquisition of the habit of gargling salt solution or some other mild antiseptic. The mouth is a receptacle for millions of germs. It should be cleaned even more frequently than the skin.

Parents everywhere wish to give their sons and daughters the best possible chance for long life and happiness. This demands that every avenue for the access of systemic disease shall be blocked. We want to prevent, not cure, rheumatism. We wish to avoid, not relieve, inflammation of the lining of the heart [endocarditis]. We hope devoutly that our progeny will escape injury to the kidneys. With normal tissues within the throat these disasters will pass us by. But a cordial invitation is extended to numerous ailments should we harbor microbes in this vicinity.

HIVES.

E. L. writes: What do hives come from? What can be done for them?

REPLY.

Hives are wheals [swellings] on the skin caused by some substance to which the person is sensitive, or allergic. Foods are common offenders. Find and avoid the irritant. A soda bath, or a soothing lotion, is advised to control itching. We have a leaflet on hives, which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TOO MUCH FLUORINE.

J. B. writes: What causes black spots to appear on the teeth?

REPLY.

This may be mottled enamel, which may appear on the teeth of children due to an excessive amount of fluorine in the water. Deposits of tartar should be thought of. Your dentist can aid you.

USUAL CAUSE IS OVEREATING.

Mrs. C. writes: Why is it that after each operation I get heavier? The doctor calls it operation fat.

REPLY.

MILK.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Briefly speaking, there are three parties involved in the milk situation—the producers, the distributors, and the consumers. All others, if the law of supply and demand were effective, are mere intruders, political and otherwise. Chicago is in the very heart of the milk belt. The retail price should be as low or lower than any other place where large quantities are handled. It will be unless it is surrounded with too many exactions. These exactions of late years have been so multitudinous as to suggest a political setup. Even the government seemed to have the same opinion for a few moments, but, under pressure, these distinguished representatives of the people weakened. From source to sale adequate sanitary precautions can be taken without materially lifting the price. Not every farmer can keep his cattle in marble halls, but if they are free from disease he should have an opporunity to dispose of his product. As the situation is, it is probable that thousands of farmers are forced to feed their milk to their hogs. This may be good for the hogs, but it does not benefit humanity very much. At no time in recent years have crops and forage been so abundant. Geographically, New York is not entitled to the same price that we are.

Milk is cheap and should remain so.

FOR YOUTHFUL CRIMINALS.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—The state is soon to build a $250,000 institution for criminally inclined youth between the ages of 15 and 21.

I'm wondering just what sort of institution this is going to be. What method will the state use in keeping these boys busy and in helping them adjust themselves?

May I suggest that the state seek aid from reliable sources in planning just what method of use is to be taken to help misguided youths to reëstablish themselves. Otherwise the money and the institution itself will be wasted.

QUOTING JOHN ADAMS.

Forest Park, Ill., Sept. 7.—As early as 1780 John Adams, expressing a common sentiment, wrote: "Let us remember what is due to ourselves and our posterity, as well as to them [European nations]. . . . Our business with them, and theirs with us, is commerce, not politics, much less war. America has been the sport of European wars and politics long enough."

We blundered once; let's not repeat a horrible mistake.

AN INCIDENT OF HEROISM.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—With all this talk of death and killing flooding our brains, it might be cheering to recite an incident of service and genuine heroism that I was fortunate enough to witness ten days ago. Out at Bang's lake, near Wauconda, a large group of picnickers had gathered to enjoy the beautiful Sunday outdoors. The usual swimming was going on and the water was crowded. At this particular place the water is roped off to keep the nonswimmers from venturing too far. A poor job though, for two young girls, evidently able to swim a little, swam out to the ropes and feeling a little exhausted tried to stand. The water at this point is over eight feet deep and this surprised the girls and one of them became panicky, grasped the other and began to sink. The other girl, evidently not a strong swimmer, attempted to free herself, but soon was exhausted and in the throes of panic also.

There is a life guard here but he was seated beneath an umbrella and interested in a magazine. In fact nobody seemed to see the two desperate girls. I was on the beach fully clothed, and I called to the indolent life guard, and to call some swimmers' attention.

Suddenly a tall, blond young man who had been diving, spotted the girls, dove in and swam to them. The manner in which he carried both of them to safety was admirable. Both girls were more frightened than injured and soon had regained their composure. Before they had a chance to thank the young man he had gone back to the diving platform and evidently had forgotten all about the incident. Here is an example of heroism—for he could easily have been drowned by the two struggling girls. To top it off he had to swim without the use of his arms, carrying the two girls. Then to act as if nothing had happened! Give me that type of brave young American; and let's keep guns out of their hands—they are too valuable to waste on a foreign battlefield.

OBSERVER.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

The 8th Day, Aug. 4, 1914.

LONDON—Great Britain declared war on Germany at 7 o'clock tonight.

BERLIN—Germany declared war on England tonight, almost at the same hour as the British declaration against the kaiser's government.

BRUSSELS—The Germans are shelling Liege and Namur. A state of siege has been declared there and at Antwerp by the Belgian government. German troops have crossed the border at two points.

PARIS—French warships sank two German cruisers and captured a third in a naval battle off Bordeaux after a German warship had fired eight broadsides into the French fortified town of Bona. Two German steamers at Bordeaux have been seized.

CONSTANTINOPLE—The Turkish army is being mobilized under the command of a German general.

NISH, Servia—The struggle between Austria and Servia, the almost forgotten cause of the war, has resulted in heavy defeats for the Austrian troops seeking to take this city.

ESTATE ASSETS.

Chicago, Sept. 6 [Legal Friend of the People].—My father died eight years ago leaving several pieces of property but no money. Two pieces of property are to be put up soon and sold for back taxes.

1. Can I, as one of the heirs, buy this property in my name and hold same and continue to pay taxes for two years or more?

2. Would I get clear title to it? All the other members of the family are willing to agree to this. This estate has been in Probate court all these years but nothing settled on account of my mother claiming the homestead.

3. Can I buy in myself for the delinquent taxes and pay taxes two years more to get title?

4. Would I lose this money, being one of the heirs, if my mother should die in the meantime and all property sold to settle estate?

J. A.

1. Yes.

2. If you purchase at a proper judicial sale this should give you a clear title. If you mean to ask whether by purchasing a fractional interest you can subsequently bar the other party by adverse possession, the answer is in general, no.

3. In general, one of several co-owners is not permitted to assert the limitation title against the others.

4. It is not clear what money you mean. We advise you to go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SURETY BOND.

Chicago, Sept. 7 [Legal Friend of the People].—Am interested in a bonded estate—a will.

1. What responsibility does the individual or firm assume with whom the bond is made?

2. Could a trust company, named executor, also be the firm with whom the bond was made?

3. Would they be liable under the law in case of cheating by one of the beneficiaries?

4. I assume that such a firm would not enter into a bond unless they knew exactly what they were bonding.

5. Does the bond of a will assure the carrying out of its terms if the will is not contested?

6. Are the interests of the beneficiaries reasonably safe under a bonded will?

7. Would it be difficult for any of the beneficiaries to tamper with a bonded estate?

A. E.

1. The surety signing the bond undertakes the obligation that is specified in the bond. We suggest that you read the instrument.

2. Ordinarily no bond is required from a qualified trust company.

3. We cannot advise without having the facts.

4. Correct.

5. No, in the sense that it does not guarantee solvency of the estate. You should read the bond.

6. Yes.

7. Yes.

SATURDAY NEWS OF NEW BOOKS

Dan Beard Has a Look at His 90 Busy Years

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Hardly a Man Is Now Alive," by Dan Beard. [Doubleday-Doran, $3.] Published yesterday.

It is true that "hardly a man is now alive" who remembers what the author of this pleasant autobiography recollects, for Dan Beard has lived ninety full years, has intimately watched the face of his country change momentously, has known the great men who helped that plastic surgery, and has always been like the giant Anteus who was seven times strengthened whenever he touched his mother, Earth.

Nature has always been Dan Beard's solace and stimulus, and every Boy Scout has the "grand old man" to thank for joy in the out-of-doors. There is little of the nonagenarian about these lively memories, no sighs of "Ah, those were the days." Every day to Dan Beard has been the day of his life. That is evident in the zest with which he draws the downslope of his life chart no less happily than the upswing of his years.

Dan Beard's father was an artist and an illustrator, and we all know Dan Beard's pen and ink illustrations [Mark Twain always claimed he was the only illustrator who could read the author's mind and not merely his text]. But many of his younger years were spent wandering over the country surveying, and his natural love for the wide horizon was sharpened by ever new contacts.

There are no startling disclosures here, either personally intimate or concerning others. There is no aggrandizement, either of Dan Beard or flaunting of the great whom Dan Beard came to know, and there is no garrulousness—just the simple, pleasant, straightforward record of a long life which was good. The record ends with these words: "This was a good country in the past. It is a good country today. It will be a good country tomorrow unless we fail it."

Life of Daniel Boone

"Daniel Boone," by John Bakeless. [Morrow, $3.50.] Published Wednesday.

"The greatest of all scouts" [as Dan Beard calls him], Daniel Boone has been one of America's favorite legends. Fantastic tales of his prowess as Indian fighter, hunter, trapper, and adventurer have became a part of our heritage.

One famous declaration was to his wife when a new settler came by. The traveler's house was about seventy miles away, but Daniel exclaimed to Rebecca: "Old woman, we must move. They are crowding us." Daniel himself loved the Boone legend and indorsed as "All true! Every word true! Not a lie in it!" the autobiography which John Filson wrote and which carried the hero's fame "far and wide in America and abroad." Mr. Bakeless says, "As a matter of fact, there are a good many lies in it," and himself makes no such errors, for he has consulted all available source material, including some recently discovered and as yet unpublished.

Mr. Bakeless has done painstaking and thorough research for what may well be the definitive life of Daniel Boone.

A Top Notch Mystery

"The Chiffon Scarf," by Mignon G. Eberhart. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.] Published yesterday.

With her unrivaled skill in weaving romance and murder, with "nice people" as both lovers and killers, Mignon Eberhart offers us a new mystery. "The Chiffon Scarf" opens with a plane crash on a flight which was to have sold a new engine design to an unidentified foreign agent. Mrs. Eberhart lightly lards espionage into a plot which piles up suspicion on fact and then cleverly drags a red herring over every trail the reader takes to the solution of murders which are multiple but not at all harrowing. A couple more of the characters, the reader feels, could have been bumped off and the world have been better for it. The course of true love is made even less smooth by suspicion of murder which almost to the very end gnaws at its vitals. "The Chiffon Scarf" tenses the reader on page 1 and keeps him taut for 300 packed pages.

Something really new under the literary sun is this tale of Italian bricklayers—a fresh new point of view and a fresh new style. It is written by an Italian bricklayer who claims no formal education, whose words obviously come from his heart and from the talk he hears about him. He richly translates into English the lush words and manner of speech of his fellow countrymen as he translates into words their emotional but primitively simple acceptance of life. The result is a novel unlike any you have read.

The style is a delight with its savory idiom. Although it is not conventionally grammatical, it has real power in its omission of connectives, its transposition of words, its unique use of words.

"Conchita's second masculine had mumps; two barrels of Octavio's wine had soured; it looked like matrimony for Passwater's first feminine" . . . of such universal simplicities—the cycle of birth, marriage, death, flavored with fortune good or bad but inevitable—is made this unforgettable tale.

Stranger Than Fiction

A factual tale more fantastic than fiction is this of the devotion of three Missouri tree sparrows to the humans whom they adopted and whom they followed more than 50,000 miles across land and sea. But the facts are vouched for by witnesses and the Holtons are estimable and veracious folk. The husband, Commander Holton, now retired, was then active in the United States navy, part of the time with the ill-fated Panay in the Yangtze river.

According to Mrs. Holton, she and her husband noticed the presence of the first Beep, oddly enough marked so that they recognized him, who flew with them when they drove into the country. Then a Mrs. Beep and finally Beep Jr. followed them to New York and back when they drove, to San Francisco, and then incredibly went with them across the Pacific to China. There Mr. and Mrs. Beep accompanied Commander Holton up the Yangtze and Beep Jr. guarded Mrs. Holton in Shanghai or wherever she was on land. The Holtons never tried to catch or even touch the Beeps.

Mrs. Holton is more than a touch sentimental in her writing. She chronicles a little mushily the Beeps' "talk" —they say "deedy-deedy" and "Beep Beep." But the record of devotion, in spite of its conspicuous lack of literary finesse, is a remarkable and perhaps unique one.

Mexico Facing Uncertain Fate, Author Argues

BY PERCY WOOD.

"The Mexican Challenge," by Frank Kluckhohn. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.50.]

In the final chapter of his analysis of the Mexican situation, Frank Kluckhohn, whose dispatches finally caused the Cardenas government to expel him, remarks that the Mexican peon may be only undergoing a change of masters. There is serious doubt, he says, whether the lot of the barefooted underdog is better, after thirty years of "the revolution."

Despite the fact that he was hustled out of the country because the presidential palace didn't like what he wrote about expropriation of the oil properties, Mr. Kluckhohn grinds no axes in his book. He says progress has been made. "Schools have been established, the feudal estates have been taken away from large individual owners, and industry has been so attacked that probably it would welcome a chance to compromise."

But, and these are the final sentences, "Perhaps it is time to stop blindly cheering each successive 'revolutionary' and to take stock. For Mexico's future is as uncertain today as it was the day that the revolution began."

Latin American Picture

"Americas to the South," by John T. Whitaker. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

Impressive verification of Carleton Beals' recent report on the infiltration of the totalitarian powers into Latin America is found in this narrative. Mr. Beals painted a gloomy picture; John T. Whitaker finds no excuse to use brighter hues after his examination.

On every hand, as he toured the republics to the south, he found evidences of German, or Italian, or Japanese encroachments—sometimes all three. In Peru, half the banking is in the hands of the Italians, as is the hydroelectric development. The large business houses are German, British, and American, and the Japanese run the little retail stores. The Japanese have offered armed aid to the dictator, if he is threatened.

Evidences of infiltration are clearer in some of the countries than in others, but the whole adds to an alarming total. The Whitaker chronicle is, in most respects, an objective piece of work, except for occasions when his own intolerance of totalitarianism pokes through the objectivity.

An Intimate of the Great Composes a Delightful Collection of Anecdotes

"A Number of People," by Edward Marsh. [Harper, $3.50.] Published Wednesday.

Edward Marsh.

Nearly all the literary, artistic, and political greats of England and the continent in the last forty years have passed in Edward Marsh's ken. Particularly, he has been the friend and helper of poets and private secretary to Winston Churchill. From these years and experiences he has gathered a fund of literally hundreds of anecdotes which he presents in this sparkling book. It is the autobiography of a man who has been singularly fortunate in never having had a major tragedy in his life and in having known and been liked by the people of his choice.

Of a multitude of anecdotes almost any one alone would do grace for another person's complete autobiography. They all bring chuckles, and one of the best concerns the old English lady who was hard of hearing and carried an ear trumpet. In a neglectful moment she left it on the piano, where a dim eyed peer believed it was an ash tray and filled it with cigaret butts. When royalty, seated next to her at dinner, addressed a remark to her she poised her trumpet, the better to hear, and deposited the cigaret butts in her neighbor's lap.

Marsh was an intimate friend of Rupert Brooke, the beloved poet who died at the age of 29 during the world war. A section of the book contains correspondence between Brooke and Marsh and fragments of Brooke's poems, all of this material heretofore unpublished.

Among the others who figure in these pages are the poets, Robert Bridges and Algernon Swinburne; Henry James, the novelist, and Maurice Baring.

Sean O'Casey's Memoirs

"I Knock at the Door," by Sean O'Casey. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

Johnny Casside was the boy's name, third John in the family, for the first two had died, and now in his hungry and desolate Dublin boyhood the third was like to join them. Something strong in his soul and his starved little body kept the boy alive, so that some day he would grow up to be the Irish playwright, author of "The Plough and the Stars" and "Juno and the Paycock."

But as yet his name was Casside instead of O'Casey, because he came of a Protestant family, and the family never dreamed he might be a writer. Indeed, they wondered whether he could learn to read and write, so he would not grow up a dunce. For Johnny's eyes were ulcerated; he could scarcely see, and after the death of his learned father the mother had to scratch to get medical care for him and the barest of food and clothes.

These memoirs of O'Casey's first twelve years are depressing, although lighted at times with rowdy interludes and the glitter of pageants. They are Irish in their violence, their humor, their quick temper, and eternally Irish in their brawling over relations with England. O'Casey recalls with a dramatist's imagination; he recreates the sound and the fury of Dublin under the Good Queen, as the Protestants called her, and he tells a good story. In that he is a good Irishman, too.

Chills Abound in This Group of Mysteries

BY AL CHASE.

"Murder and More Murder," by William Roughead. [Sheridan House, $2.50.]

"The Ownley Inn," by Joseph C. and Freeman Lincoln. [Coward-McCann, $2.50.]

"Cold Steal," by Alice Tilton. [Norton, $2.]

William Roughead, Scots barrister whose "Enjoyment of Murder" was one of the joys of last season to the horror seeker, has compiled another anthology of actual Scottish crimes. "Murder and More Murder" is an ace collection of bloodshed, poisoning, and miscellaneous death—slow moving but sanguinary.

Joseph C. Lincoln, seasoned Cape Cod novelist, and his son, Freeman Lincoln, have collaborated in another mystery. "The Ownley Inn" is an intriguing little yarn about the theft of a valuable first edition from a college library. The scene shifts to an island off Cape Cod, where the inn is located. There's plenty of mystery, considerable action, much quaint conversation, a romance, and some slugging, but only one death—apparently accidental. The son writes with more skill but not so picturesquely as his father. Together they've turned out an entertaining and well plotted yarn.

Alice Tilton, who is said to be Phoebe Atwood Taylor, Cape Cod crime expert, has written one of the jolliest murder stories of the season. In "Cold Steal" the actual slaying is so incidental and the victim so disliked by every one that the reader overlooks the slaughter and chuckles his way through this lively and readable Boston suburban mystery. Leonidas Witherall, who looks like Shakespeare and who starred in Miss Tilton's "The Cut Direct," again plays the leading rôle. He is somewhat overshadowed, however, by two other talkative and humorous characters.

Guests 'Come and Get It' at Brookfield Zoo

"Come and get it," or words to that effect, said John T. McCutcheon when all the guests of the board of trustees of the Chicago Zoölogical society had assembled in the new refectory last night. And come and get it they did.

It was a delicious supper, served buffet style, so every one had an opportunity to pile his plate as high as he wanted. It was too bad the animals in the park, whom humans like so much to see fed, couldn't have had their inning last night.

It was a jolly and interesting party the board of trustees, of which Mr. McCutcheon is president, gave. Most of the two hundred and fifty guests came early enough to visit some of the animals before supper. "I saw Mei-Mei for the first time," was heard surprisingly often.

The refectory itself, of modern design, has broad windows overlooking the sweep of landscaped park running through the center of the zoo.

One of its many unique features are the tables indoors and on the veranda. These tables have tops, of a new type composition material and designed by John Winters, a Chicago artist, showing in colored caricatures the animals which inhabit the zoo. The table tops and their amusing designs, executed under the direction of zoo officials, are said to be the first of their kind.

$25,000 COLLECTION OF 1,000 DOLLS PUT ON DISPLAY AT STORE

A league of nations, all sunshine and smiles, and not a squabbler in the assembly, is gathered in the Boston store. It is a collection of 1,000 dolls, exhibited by the National Doll and Toy Collectors' club. On preview last night to a small group of collectors and doll craftsmen, the exhibit will be opened to the public, admittance free, on Monday for a two week showing.

Mrs. Mary E. Lewis, founder and national president of the collectors' club, estimates that the collection is worth $25,000. It includes dolls, puppets, and marionettes loaned by members. The exhibitors range from a young miss of 5, Alice Marie Forte, to another 75 years old. Men and boys, too, are represented.

Studio agents leased a house for Orson Welles when he arrived in Hollywood recently to write, direct, and act in his first production. Upon his arrival Welles went directly to the studio to work and about 7 o'clock started home. He knew the house was in Brentwood (Shirley Temple lives in Brentwood), but that was about all he knew. After an unsuccessful effort to find it he said to a newsboy: "Can you tell me where Orson Welles lives?"

Bearded Borgia.

Orson Welles has a new nickname, "the bearded Borgia." It was given him when a number of guests at a dinner party he gave at a famous Hollywood restaurant for Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Bernstein of Chicago were ill afterward. Lobster salad was blamed.

A search for an appropriate river is being made in preparation for the filming of Welles' first picture, an adaptation of Conrad's The Heart of Darkness. The movie people are jittery over the war, according to Dr. Bernstein, who has returned to Chicago with Mrs. Bernstein. He described Douglas Fairbanks Jr. on the lot interrupting the shooting to dash to his parked car every few minutes to get radio war bulletins. Welles was in town yesterday on his way east.

Grim Gag.

The request the midget made when he went to see the undertaker: "Make mine a small bier."

The little blackamoor resplendent in a blue costume and a jeweled, plume adorned turban who serves after dinner coffee in a fashionable restaurant was asked by a woman patron:

"Does this coffee come from Sumatra?"

Barbara Kay Morse Will Be Fall Bride

BY JUDITH CASS.

BRIDES and debutantes will share the social spotlight today, for there are several weddings and five debut teas taking place this afternoon. Tomorrow two sisters will be presented formally to society if the simple, informal luncheon at which the Lawrence girls will make their debut could be described in such formal language.

Topping the news of the day, however, is an engagement announcement being made by Mr. and Mrs. Milton McMillan Morse of Lake Forest.

The Morses' second daughter, Barbara Kay, is engaged to James Wallace Van Cleave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brenton Van Cleave of 26 Kingsbury place, St. Louis. The announcement comes from Spring Lake, Mich., where the Morses are spending the summer at their Greenwood farm. It is there that the wedding will take place early in October.

Miss Morse was educated at the San Luis school at Colorado Springs and Sarah Lawrence college. She made her debut at a tea in Lake Forest in September, 1935. Her older sister is Mrs. John P. McWilliams II. of Lake Forest.

Mr. Van Cleave attended the St. Louis Country Day school and was graduated from Haverford college in 1937. He will take his bride to live in Louisville, Ky., where he is engaged in business.

Winnetka Will Have Busy Day.

The wedding of Miss Elise Clow and Burke Williamson in Lake Forest this afternoon and five debut teas in Winnetka will keep north shore residents busy. The young women who are making their formal bows to society are Miss Anne Daughaday, Miss Alice Blair, Miss Christina Freeman, Miss Roxane McKenzie, and Miss Jane Darrow. Tonight Miss Blair and Miss McKenzie will entertain their assistants at dinner and dancing at the Indian Hill club.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress will be in the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Daughaday and their daughter, Anne, to receive the friends who will come to the Fentress home for the tea which Miss Daughaday's parents are giving for her from 4 to 7 o'clock. Mrs. Daughaday and Mrs. Fentress are sisters.

Miss Daughaday has two Mount Holyoke classmates visiting her for two weeks. Miss Joy Sibley is here from Grosse Pointe, Mich., and Miss Elizabeth Anne Hemingway from New Haven, Conn.

Tea for Alice Blair at Elliott Home.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Elliott and their sister and brother-in-law, the John C. Metcalfs of Winnetka, are giving a tea from 4 to 7 o'clock at the Elliott home for their cousin, Miss Alice Blair, daughter of Parker Blair.

The receiving line will be indoors, but tea will be served in the garden. Miss Blair, who was graduated from Farmington this year, plans to enjoy the life of a debutante this year instead of continuing her studies.

One of the young women who will assist Miss Christiana Freeman at the tea which her parents, the John Edgar Freemans of Winnetka, are giving for her from 4 to 7 o'clock, is her cousin, Miss Margaret Hamilton of Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Miss Freeman is leaving on the 21st to start her sophomore year at Wellesley. Her brother, John Edgar Jr., leaves next week for Princeton, where he is a junior.

Miss Roxane McKenzie and her parents, the William D. McKenzies, will receive from 4 to 7 o'clock in their Winnetka home. Miss Margery Bursley of Ann Arbor, Mich., a cousin of the debutante, and Miss Marion Barney of Milwaukee, who attended Dobbs Ferry with the bud, are visiting the McKenzies.

Mrs. McKenzie's sister-in-law, Mrs. Victor H. Lane of Ann Arbor, also has come for the party. Miss McKenzie will leave on the 25th to enter the Erskine school in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Caspar Butz, Miss Jean Alice Butz, and William Wheeler Darrow, Mrs. Butz's son,

Marilyn Martin Makes Bow

[Seymour Photo.]

Miss Marilyn Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mellen C. Martin of Winnetka, made a joint debut with Miss Elise Petersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Petersen of Kenilworth, last night at the Indian Hill club. Their parents' friends had been invited to a reception from 8 until 10 o'clock and about 400 young people arrived later for a supper-dance.

Smart Extra Dresses Sell at Low Prices

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Extra dresses that are smart and young, and that have inexpensive price marks, are among the best buys of the week-end. Thin woolen mixtures and soft jerseys, together with a rabbits' wool effect, make some two piece combines hard to beat for simplicity and distinction.

Many of them are of smooth plaid wool textures, the flared skirt accenting the shirtwaist type blouse. Short sleeves make the blouses ideal street models for wear without extra jackets. These tops will be good later under reefer coats or swagger classics.

There are all kinds of blouses in good green shades, from that lovely sage green shade to the darker dull bronze tones. Pockets of various sizes, flaps, young round collars, and interesting high necklines without collars are smart details. Some are tuck-in blouses, others are worn pulled over the skirt.

The skirts are just as cleverly designed. One model has a high waistline, with a narrow pigskin belt pulled through loops a good three or four inches below the top of the skirt. Others have gores, pockets, and particularly good streamlining.

One especially good looking affair is made with a deep yoked skirt of soft jersey in sage green. The blouse is of horizontally striped thin jersey, with brief sleeves and a high round neckline. The stripes come in creamy white, red, and green. Less vivid color schemes are available with dark wine red skirts.

Stunning stone gray dresses and duets of short flared skirt and shirtlike top have brown belts and brown button trim. Any of the two piece models are separable, ready to wear with other tops or skirts in a great variety of colors.

If you crave a new extra dress, without wrecking the bank balance, something new and definitly early fall 1939, here is your chance.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

In dreary times it's good for the soul to count one's small blessings . . . and among the nice distractions we've listed in our notebook is a beautiful soap that's now available in small hand cakes. Until quite recently it came only in the bath size. The new size makes it possible to enjoy it without laying out quite so much money, though it never could be called expensive.

There are three cakes to a box, each cake embellished with a clover design in tribute to the soap's fragrance, which is the popular and sweet smelling pick clover. The soap is superbly bland, finely made and so fragrant it makes the bath or shower a luxurious ritual.

In the same fragrance you'll find face powder that is one of the buys of the year. It's a powder of excellent quality and a beautiful texture for the normal skin. We've been using it for the last month and find it as good as many others much higher in price.

It's fairly light in texture but it clings beautifully and doesn't get all cakey and sticky in the process. The pink clover scent is wonderfully refreshing. When you dust this powder over your face and neck you get more than a beautiful mat finish to your complexion; you get a whiff of the scent that makes you feel fresh and clean.

This comes in a large round box. One of the things we like best about the package is the size; when you dip your puff into it you can scoop out PLENTY! Digging down through a too-small opening in a powder box always annoys us. Doesn't it you?

Good Morning!

A little gem of a murder mystery courts your patronage at the World Playhouse.

"The Ware Case," as it is called, hails from the British studios. It brings back into our screen circle Clive Brook, who hasn't been much in evidence lately, and exploits two of the most effective players you've ever seen or listened to in the persons of Jane Baxter and Barry K. Barnes. These three carry the featured rôles. Supporting parts are praiseworthily portrayed.

The story is an unusual one, having to do with the strange case of an "antique." Said old fashioned piece being one Sir Hubert Ware, who in a rapidly changing world persists in clinging to the gay faults and foibles of an old régime. So deeply in debt does he sink that the sale of his ancestral home becomes necessary.

Now there are four people who MIGHT—with reason—have murdered the man Sir Hubert is accused of killing. . . . See if you can guess the real murderer's identity before the director decides to let you in on the know.

Action is swift and intriguing. . . . Dialog is subtle. . . . Personalities are credible. Staging and scenery have the nice touch of "atmosphere" and authenticity. . . . Situations unfold believably.

The finale I thought a bit too—too . . . A cleverer and more convincing ending could, I am sure, have been evolved with a little thought.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

A Short Lane.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 8. — The short Lane of this story is Priscilla Lane, who is five feet two and one-half inches tall, scales 102 pounds, has an 18 waist, wears a 4½C shoe. . . . Her real name is Priscilla Mullican, and Indianola, Ia., people still refer to the Lanes as the Mullicans.

Gus Edwards is responsible for the shift in Monickers because he figured that "Lane" was easier on the ear and eye when he signed Lola Mullican. . . . There are five of the Mullicans—Priscilla, the baby; Rosemary, Lola, Leota, and Martha. . . . Martha is the only one of the quintet not in show business. . . . She's married to an English professor.

Priscilla says she is "a war baby," which is partly correct. . . . She was born June 12, 1917. . . . Her first stage appearance was in a Des Moines theater, when she was nine years old.

Her tap dance was progressing smoothly until she tripped and fell flat on her face. . . . Not in the least embarrassed, the 9-year old scrambled back to her feet, completed the dance and then told the audience she had taken the fall on purpose. . . . Her family felt confident then that they had a young "ham" within the bosom of clan Mullican. . . . She agreed with them.

The number seven and Wednesday are lucky for her. . . . It was on Wednesdays that she started working for Fred Waring's orchestra, started singing on the radio and started "Four Daughters," which made her a star. . . . Her boy-friend Oren Haglund, gave her a gold disc with "7" embossed on it, and she wears it around her neck.

Priscilla is not so pretty as at least two of her sisters. . . . Her features are out of proportion. . . . But she has such innocence and cleanness about her, such expressive blue eyes, that movie fans are completely beguiled. . . . She looks like everybody's favorite kid sister, a feminine young America working out the problems of all girls of her age.

What movie fans prefer in her pictures, according to their letters, is that Priscilla never beats about the bush. . . . She proposes to the fellow and thereby saves a lot of footage. . . . It is a new treatment of love scenes and the public has found it refreshing.

She collects nightgowns and has about 200 of them, silk, satin, lace-fringed, fur-fringed. . . . The house is overrun with adopted cats and kittens. . . . She can roll her own cigarets. . . . Her savings are invested in government bonds and annuities.

You rarely see her at night clubs, or formal parties. . . . She'd rather stay at home, curl up on a couch with a box of fudge and read a book. . . . Her favorite lunch is an onion sandwich but she can't eat them when she's making pictures for fear of asphyxiating John Garfield.

She says that she owes everything to Fred Waring. . . . He heard Priscilla and Rosemary trying out songs in a music publisher's office in New York and signed them as a team immediately. . . . They stayed with him for five years, accompanied the band to Hollywood when Waring was signed for "Varsity Show." . . . Warner's signed the Lane sisters as soon as they saw them on the screen.

Priscilla got off on the wrong foot with Waring in her first show at the Roxy theater. . . . She had forgotten to remove a wad of gum before singing and almost strangled. . . . Waring stopped the band and kidded her about it and she ad libbed a comedy answer. . . . From then on, he used her as a comedienne. . . . Yet her greatest screen success has been in making audiences cry.

She doesn't take herself seriously. . . . Four sisters effected a permanent cure early in life. . . . In the recreation room at their house, the sisters Mullican have a bar and combination soda fountain. . . . The wall behind it is covered with corney cracks. . . . "Don't turn up your nose at our coffee. You may be weak some day yourself." . . . "We don't know where mom is, but pop's on ice." . . . SYNOPSIS.

Lee Reynolds, promoter of children's acts in the days before motion pictures, is attracted to the tenement flat of the Lichts by the singing of their little daughter, Josefa. Next day he calls with his wife and persuades the Lichts to let him take Josefa into his home and train her for the stage. Two older children, Lena and Eddie, live with the Reynolds. During a stage show Eddie's voice breaks and Josefa goes to his rescue, saves the act, and becomes famous overnight. Josefa is billed as Sheila Doone. Lena hides her envy and hatred of Sheila by pretended friendship. Backed by Producer Leica, Lena becomes a motion picture actress in the infant industry. With Lena's brief day waning Leica signs up Sheila. Sheila marries Ronny Low, her leading man. They buy a ranch, leaving most of the arrangements to Lena. Then Ronny is notified that his contract will not be renewed. And Sheila loses the favor of her public. But when sound comes in they stage a triumphant comeback. Ronny dies of a ruptured appendix. Sheila suffers a breakdown. The bank where Sheila, on Lena's urging, had placed all her savings, fails. Lena claims to be broke and unable to repay Sheila any of the money she owes her. She spreads rumors that Sheila has lung trouble so no one will hire her. Lena becomes secretary and mistress to Isaacs, Leica's assistant. Then she attracts a young millionaire, Ambrose Fleming. Sheila consults a lawyer friend, Hartman Graves, about income tax difficulties. Through him she learns of Lena's double-crossing. Sheila confronts Lena, who admits she's always hated her and defies her to prove she owes her anything. To Graves Lena threatens to besmirch Sheila's reputation. Graves by chance takes Sheila to a restaurant where Lena is dining with Ambrose Fleming.

INSTALMENT XXX.

THE WORM TURNS.

Hart did not see the handkerchief drop, nor did Lena. Perhaps Sheila, her head very high and debonair, did not know that she had dropped it, but Ambrose Fleming saw the fluff of lawn and lace drop at his feet and picked it up.

If another woman had dropped a handkerchief at Fleming's feet it would have been returned to her and the business would have ended then and there. Sheila, being a worm, might have known this, but she didn't, and she happened to be Sheila. Millions of people knew her by sight. That flowerlike face was known in Kabul and Kandahar, in Peking and Painted Post, in London and Lahore, in Moscow and Minneapolis, in Ispaham and Israel. And among all the millions who knew Sheila by sight Ambrose Fleming was one. She had been his first favorite. He sometimes wondered why she wasn't on the screen any more.

Fate was on the rampage. He looked up and around.

"Why," he said, "that's Sheila Doone!"

Lena confirmed the statement but without enthusiasm.

"Do you know her?"

"I used to."

"She dropped this."

"She would," said Lena, and could have bitten out her tongue. Brose liked horses and dogs and mice and horned toads, but he didn't like cats.

"Guess I'd better give it back to her," he said, and got out of his chair with a lanky, lazy, attractive way he had, and moved toward the bar.

Young Fleming had traveled in South America, mostly in Argentina because of the polo ponies, and in Central America and Spain. His courteous ways, by which he came naturally, had in them a little touch of the Iberic.

So, instead of addressing Sheila directly, he first addressed her escort.

"Have I your permission to return this handkerchief to Miss Doone?" he said.

Hart Graves' manners were ready made American.

"Sure you have," he said. "Go ahead."

Fleming was so tall that he had to bend his face down and sidewise to speak directly to Sheila.

"I'm playing in luck tonight," he said. "I've always wanted to meet you. My name is Fleming."

"I always bet on your horses," said Sheila. "Your jockeys wear my favorite colors, one blue and another blue and white. Mr. Fleming, Mr. Graves. . . ."

The two men shook hands.

"Thanks a lot for the handkerchief," said Sheila. "It was stupid of me to drop it, but I'm glad I did."

"So am I. Mr. Graves, have I your permission to tell Miss Doone that I am one of her fans? You were my first favorite, Miss Doone. And I haven't changed."

To Sheila it was sweet and wonderful to be told that she was his favorite. That sort of thing wasn't being said by many people any more.

"Now that we've met and been properly introduced and all that," said Fleming, "could I call some time?"

He was astonished by his own boldness.

"Of course you could," said Sheila. "I'm only afraid it won't be soon enough."

Sheila stole a glance at Lena. Lena had the look of almost all blondes when they are displeased. Her face had no more expression than an agate. Sheila thought of a word which begins with a "b" and gave Fleming her address and telephone number.

Fleming wrote them down in a little black book he had and parted from her with reluctance.

"Looks like you'd made a ten-strike," said Graves. "Nice boy, that."

"Do you know who he is?"

"He's Ambrose Fleming."

"You don't say! But, gee, he's just like any other big kid."

Graves' eyes roved until they discovered Fleming in the act of apologizing to Lena for his absence and sitting down opposite her.

Sheila also stole another look at Lena, and as the cocktails were served lifted hers and, grinning like a naughty child, said, "To the turning worm."

A little later as she passed his table she turned her head a little with a smile and a nod for Fleming and then two words for Lena:

"Hello, Lena."

Her voice was casual and friendly. Lena pretended that she hadn't heard.

Ambrose Fleming finished his steak and his completely mashed potatoes and did his best to obey the dictates of good manners and keep his eyes in the boat. But he stole at least two glances at Sheila. And, of course, Lena didn't miss those stolen glances. And she remembered that Ambrose Fleming's liking for herself had been a sudden thing.

And after dinner he did not suggest driving to the beach and looking at the moon.

He wondered just how soon would not be too soon to telephone Sheila.

Upon awaking, Ambrose felt for a time tired and achey. He would have his breakfast sent up. He would read in bed. Perhaps later he would give Sheila a ring and ask her to go for a drive or something.

But by now he was really wide awake and a kind of glamor came over him and warmed away the imaginary aches and fatigues. Wouldn't it be too early to give her a ring right now? Eight o'clock. Too early. Much.

But it wouldn't have been. Sheila had already breakfasted and, bending over an ironing board, was working out a problem which could not be trusted to less skillful hands. Had she made a hit with Ambrose? She thought she had. She hoped she had. She had meant only to strike a blow at her enemy, but at the same time she had managed to strike, herself, a different kind of blow. If he didn't telephone, if he didn't follow up the opening which she had made for him, she was going to be hurt and sorry for herself. As had been prophesied to her at the time of her husband's death, she had at last fallen a victim to biology.

Half past eight. It was still too early. Ambrose had by now shaved, showered, and dressed. He was impatient, fretting. He also, if no better or worse, was a victim of biology.

It was his telephone which rang. Lena. After a short interchange her voice became plaintive.

"But, Ambrose dear, you don't sound like yourself. Is anything the matter?"

Nothing was the matter. He might have to fly east. It all depended on something which he wasn't at liberty to talk about.

"But you won't fly off without seeing me first?"

"I'll try not. But then, of course, I'll be coming back before long."

She tried to make a definite date with him but he was elusive. When at last they hung up he felt like a brute and she looked her age. And that is the end of Lena.

[Concluded Monday.]

News for the Housewife

Did you know that you can take any of your old table lamps and convert them into excellent indirect lighting units? This is done by removing the present metal bulb socket and placing an 8 inch converter unit there. The lamp should be about 18 to 20 inches high and with the new converter it will measure 25 to 26 inches.

Then, it is necessary to purchase a new shade, made especially to fit this converter bowl. Such a shade of parchment paper is no tax on the budget, however. And the result in improved lighting of your living or bedroom will more than repay you for the entire investment.

NEW COOK BOOKS: "Recipes from Old Hundred, 200 Years of New England Cooking," by Nellie I. Brown, $2, M. Barrows & Co., New York. Old Hundred is the name of a New England inn operated by the author and noted for its fine food. Recipes are those used in the inn, adapted for home use.

"Mary Hunt's Salad Bowl," $1, same publisher. This is a slender volume containing many unusual salad recipes. Concord grape salad, persimmon, kumquat, and mango salads are among them. There are picnic salad bowls, salad loaves, salad sandwiches, luncheon salads, and salad dressings.

NEW WAY TO SERVE MELON: Cantaloupe, honeydew or other melon looks perfectly beautiful and tastes that way, too, if you lay across each chilly section a strip of cranberry sauce. Yes, I mean a strip. To get it you slide canned cranberry sauce out of its container and slice it lengthwise, ever so thinly. A strip an inch wide laid diagonally across the melon section gives a glorious color contrast, particularly if the melon is orange fleshed.

GREEN SKINNED ORANGES ARE RIPE: The California Valencia sometimes belies its appearance and although its skin is greenish in spots you'll find, when you cut it, perfect ripeness. No other kind of orange has this peculiarity.

Speaking of oranges, don't strain their juice when you're extracting it for breakfast. You'll lose much of the food value if you do. Skim out the seeds and tiny seedlets, of course, but leave the rest unstrained.

TIPS ON EGG FRYING: [1] Don't start the eggs until every one is ready for breakfast. [2] Break each egg into a cup and slide it gently from cup to skillet, in which there is a small amount of bacon or ham fat, or butter. [3] Don't crowd the eggs in the pan. [4] When eggs are all in, turn heat very low and cover the pan. The steam which collects will coagulate the tops of the eggs and allow them to cook to the desired degree of doneness without turning. A turned egg is not as pretty a picture as one with its "sunny side" up.

In the covered pan you can cook eggs soft, medium, and well done with no difficulty whatsoever. Add a small amount of cream, water, or tomato juice when you cover the pan, if you like.

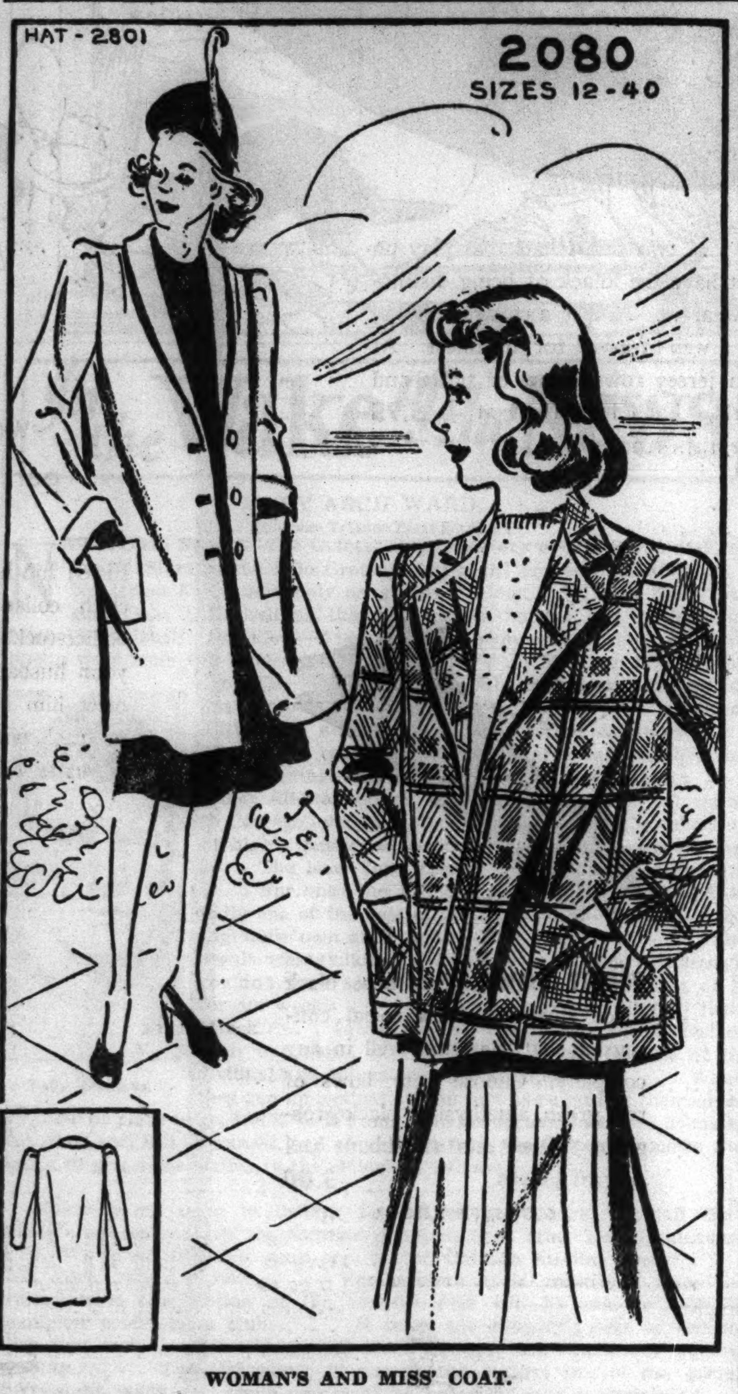
Casual Coat for the Autumn



WOMAN'S AND MISS' COAT.

To accompany your one-piece woolen frocks and your combines of sweater and skirt you need a boxy type of short coat, preferably in a bright plaid. We suggest the model in the pattern today, with its rever neckline and pockets near the hemline. The same pattern also fashions a longer model with three buttons set low and a rolled collar. Many types of woolen will adapt themselves to this longer model, and don't think that darker shades only are suitable for fall and winter. When the sun is behind clouds much of the time, you need plenty of color in your clothes.

There's a hat with a perky feather that is just right for wear with these coats. It is made with pattern No. 2801, available for 10 cents extra. It is made in one headsize only, which you can adapt to your own measurements.

Style No. 2080 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2⅜ yards of 54 inch material for the shorter length coat.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Several Fall Weddings of Interest Today

An unusually large number of early autumn brides will repeat their wedding vows today, among them Miss Elise Clow, Miss Esther Buchen, Miss Jane Calkins, Miss Virginia Plumb, and Miss Wilma Duncan.

Miss Clow, daughter of the Kent S. Clows of Lake Forest, and Burke Williamson will be married in Lake Forest's Presbyterian church at 4:30 o'clock.

Miss Buchen, a daughter of the Walther Buchens of Winnetka, and Rene Blanc-Roos of Haverford, Pa., will be married quetly in Winnetka.

Miss Calkins, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Mott Calkins of Bannockburn, will become the bride of William C. Egan at 4:30 o'clock in Trinity Episcopal church, Highland Park.

Miss Plumb's marriage to Philip Cleaver White, son of Mrs. Harold Ferris White of Chicago, will take place at 4 o'clock in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ermin Fawcett Plumb, in Streator, Ill.

Miss Duncan and Frederick Kilburn Castle, son of the Ward C. Castles of Hinsdale, will be married at noon in Hinsdale.

Following the marriage of Miss Clow and Mr. Williamson, who is a son of Mrs. William Burke Williamson of Lake Charles, La., there will be a reception at the Clow home. The bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Douglas, are giving a luncheon party today for the bridal party and out of town guests.

Miss Clow will have her younger sister, Frances, for maid of honor. Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes Jr., the bride's cousin, will be the matron of honor. The bridesmaids will include Mrs. George W. Brewster Jr. of Boston and her cousin, Mrs. George A. Ranney Jr.; and Mrs. Robert Echols of Annapolis, Mr. Williamson's sister.

Only the families will be present for the marriage of Miss Buchen and Mr. Blanc-Roos at 4:30 o'clock. A few young people will come in at 5 o'clock. Miss Elizabeth Buchen and Miss Catherine Coleman of Madison, Wis., sister and cousin of the bride, will be the only attendants.

Dr. Jerome Head of Evanston will be the best man. Mr. Blanc-Roos and his bride will live in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Mr. Egan is the son of Mrs. Roswell B. Swazey of Highland Park and of William B. Egan of Chicago. He and his bride will make their home in Highland Park. Miss Calkins will be given in marriage by her great-uncle, Frank Faulkner of Port Huron. The Rev. Christoph Keller will read the service. A reception will follow at the Calkins home.

Dozens of Chicagoans are going to Streator for the White-Plumb wedding, which is to be a garden affair, weather permitting, with a reception following. The Rev. Edgar Smith will officiate.

The bride's sister, Miss Priscilla Plumb, will be the maid of honor. Among the ushers will be Roger Q. White and H. Ferris White Jr., brothers of the bridegroom. The Roger Whites are giving a luncheon today at the Ottawa Country club.

The Castle-Duncan wedding will take place in the Hinsdale home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Duncan, parents of the bride. The Rev. Wilfred Rowell will officiate. The ceremony and reception following will be held in the garden.

At noon today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Edward Barroll in Winnetka their daughter, Jannette, will become the bride of Frank Weir of Washington, D. C.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Nothing is more futile than to conduct a defense without an objective clearly in mind. Even if that objective has only a remote chance for success, it is far better than no objective at all. In today's hand, taken from the recent Asbury park championships, a master player in the East position demonstrated that even the most impregnable appearing situations sometimes have their Achilles' Heel.

West, dealer.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	2 diamonds	Pass	2 hearts
Pass	4 hearts	Pass	Pass
Pass

East, it will be observed, although holding three honor tricks and a fairly good five card suit, did not even enter the auction. In this he was wise. Despite the fact that he would have picked up five clubs in his partner's hand, he still could have made no more than two odd, and if he had not picked up those clubs he might have been slaughtered at any overcall.

West opened his fourth highest club and East won with the king. Study of the dummy in connection with the bidding that had gone before must have been rather discouraging to East, but one thing is certain, and that is that he did not "give up." It was obvious that no more club tricks could be snared and, considering South's opening spade bid, defensive spade tricks seemed very doubtful also. If the contract could be defeated, then the setting tricks had to come from trumps and from the diamond suit. Needless to say, whatever trump tricks belonged to the defenders could not get away, but the diamond situation [unless West had the ace] would require development. Thus, having won the club king, East made the farsighted return of a diamond directly up to dummy's strength.

Declarer had forebodings of what was going to happen, but was absolutely powerless to protect himself. He captured West's diamond jack with dummy's queen, and led a low heart. East ducked and the seven spot forced West's king. West, following orders, returned his remaining diamond, which also was won in dummy. Now, on the second trump lead, East's ace won and a third diamond return was ruffed by West for the setting trick.

I do not wish to imply that there was anything sensational about the above defense, but it is a fact that most players seem extremely loathe to attack such a suit as dummy's diamond suit in this case. Yet, on close analysis, it should be obvious that the one outstanding hope of defeating the contract lies in building a ruffing position in diamonds, and that no other line of defense has any well defined objective.

The Stage

"My Dear Children," the comedy at the Selwyn theater which has been closed recently due to John Barrymore's illness, will reopen Monday, Sept. 18, instead of next Monday. This further postponement was made yesterday on the advice of Mr. Barrymore's physician.

Wise to Teach Child to Say Tactful 'No'

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Can your child say "NO"?

In most of our training of children we achieve our results indirectly. We don't say to the young child, "You must not lie," or "You must not steal." But by example, by the use of little situations, by establishing the right relationship between him and ourselves, we guide him indirectly into the paths of truth and honesty.

In curing an undesirable habit likewise we avoid the use of constant don'ts and scolding. Instead, we look for a cause, change certain circumstances of the child's life, and give him wholesome activity to replace the unwholesome, all of which is indirect. But in training a child to say "no" when the occasion demands it we sometimes have to use direct methods.

When a child is little, however, we don't usually set this up as a maxim for him. Then we hope that by allowing him to be natural, by not expecting him to be overly polite, by encouraging independence, we lay the groundwork for a certain forthrightness that will keep him simple enough in his attitudes, so that he will be able to say "no" when the situation requires it.

But as a boy or girl grows older life becomes more complex. He or she is confronted with social [or moral, if you wish] situations in which it is hard to say no, at least for many temperaments such as that of the sociable child, the one who craves popularity, the one who is naturally timid, or the one who is too easy-going and pleasure-loving.

At some time in most children's or young people's lives I think it is necessary to set forth for them the advice: You must learn to say "no." Politely and tactfully, if possible, they may say it—plainly, if not; but somehow, make them realize the importance of being able to say "no"—to have the courage and backbone it requires. It puts iron into the soul, and saves young people and older ones many regrets.

University Women Open Meeting at Knox College

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 8 [Special].—More than 100 delegates from 37 brances in Illinois of the American Association of University Women, this evening attended the opening dinner of the annual state board meeting. The board meeting and school for branch leaders are being held at Knox college. The meeting will continue tomorrow and Sunday. Mrs. J. Howell Atwood of Galesburg, state president, and President Carter Davidson of Knox college will be among the speakers.

Dahlia Show.

The annual Lake Forest Dahlia show will be held today, starting at 11 o'clock, in Durand auditorium on the Lake Forest college campus. Mrs. Edward Welles, Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III. and Mrs. McPherson Holt are the judges.

will be at home in Winnetka from 4 to 8 o'clock at a tea-dance in honor of Miss Jane Darrow. The receiving line will be indoors, but, rain or shine, the dancing will be held out of doors under a marquee.

Miss Darrow will enter the University of Michigan this year. Miss Butz is returning to Scripps college, and Mr. Darrow, a Yale graduate, will go to Harvard for graduate work.

Debut Luncheon for Lawrence Sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Davis Rowe are giving a luncheon at their home in Barrington tomorrow as a debut for her daughters, Katherine and Evelyn Lawrence. The girls are only a year apart in age and always have had the same group of friends.

The debut is to be delightfully informal with luncheon served indoors and out in buffet style, and music for those who care to dance.

Kitty, who went to the Brillantmont school in Switzerland last winter, plans to go to the University of Chicago this year. Evie, who was at Le Petit Ecole in Florence, Italy, last year, will study art in Chicago this winter. The girls, whose father is John Harold Lawrence of Chicago, went to the Warrenton County Day school in Virginia before going abroad.

Miss Dorothy MacArthur and Miss Gertrude Smith have invited a hundred of their young friends for cocktails this afternoon at the Telfer MacArthurs' farm, half way between Lake Forest and Libertyville, on Old School road. The party is being given for Miss Margery Shuman and John J. P. Odell Jr., who are to be married next Saturday.

Hunts Will Take Part In Dunham Woods Show.

Adding color and glamor to the Dunham Woods club horse show tomorrow will be the participation of three of the hunts in the Chicago district, the Longmeadow, the Wayne, and the Du Page. Charles R. Lindsay III, M. F. H. of the Wayne hunt, will not be able to lead his fellow members for his horse recently sustained an injury. The class for teams of hunters will be held in the late afternoon.

The show will open at 9:30 in the morning with a class for children from 7 to 12 years.

Mill Creek Hounds to Meet Tomorrow.

The Mill Creek Hounds will meet at the stables of the Hunt club tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. After the hunt Prentice Porter, the M. F. H., and Mrs. John Andrews King and Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr. will entertain at luncheon in the clubhouse.

The two polo teams of the Onwentsia club will have matches tomorrow afternoon. The senior team will go to the Oak Brook club to play against the Oak Brook and the Rising Sun Ranch teams. The Onwentsia's junior four will meet Fort Sheridan's junior team at the army post.

Irregularity of Features Is No Drawback to Loveliness

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The girl or woman today who spends any time sighing or weeping over an irregular nose, say, or some other simple infraction of passe beauty rules, is a simpleton, a time waster, or a natural born worrier, due for no good beauty end, anyway.

Irregularity of feature is just something not to worry about. If it is remedial, remedy it. If, like a nose, its shape can't be changed—then there's all the rest of your lovely, well-groomed self to defend you.

This theme is brought on today by a recent discussion with a charming young woman, or one who could be a charming young woman, did she just stop calling every one's attention to her nose. You wouldn't notice its "awful shape" as its owner refers to it. But she makes you think of it. The more your attention is called to it by her, the more you think of her as the girl with the awful nose. We, personally, don't think that way, really, but we can readily imagine her imposing that impression of herself on other people. Our feeling is, as it must so occur to others, that the lady really is begging for denial, pleading for the word that she's a beauty. But that's not good tactics, anyway you look at it.

So, we urge women not to speak aloud of the feature or features that irk them. Take them into your own confidence, if you must, and see what can be done by way of creating illusions of another kind.

Look over a book of photographs of famous beauties of history, or over the modern beauties photographed for the papers, and notice how many profiles are irregular. Indeed, often 'tis that little nose irregularity that lends intrigue, interest to the face.

* On the House *

Early fall in an excellent time to rid a house of insect pests the superheating way. If you choose some sunny day, with little or no wind, and start your basement boiler or furnace going, you can get your indoor temperature to around 125 degrees or more. Naturally you will close all doors and windows tightly.

Maintain this heat for five or six hours and you will find the temperature destructive to insect life. Be sure to leave your trunks open, and boxes of clothing and your closet doors so that the excessive heat will penetrate all chinks and crevices. It is not likely that the heat will affect the average piece of furniture, though to be on the safe side you can remove a choice painting or valuable articles about which you might have doubts.

WORK WHISTLE BLOWS MONDAY IN BIG 10 CAMPS

Another Close Race Predicted.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Western conference football squads begin practice Monday for a campaign which holds promise of duplicating last year's race which was not decided until the final Saturday of the season when Minnesota defeated Wisconsin to win the title as Michigan was eliminating Ohio State in Columbus.

By changing the result of one game for each, Michigan, Purdue, Northwestern, Wisconsin, or Ohio State might have displaced the Gophers. Even so, Minnesota was beaten by Northwestern, the first conference defeat for the champions since the Wildcats triumphed, 6 to 0, to win the 1936 Big Ten title. Wisconsin, previously, had eliminated Northwestern, which points to this game as one of the features of 1939. And Wisconsin may blame Purdue for loss of the championship, although the Badgers also were whipped in the final game by Minnesota. Purdue has not forgotten the tie with Iowa that prevented the Boilermakers from sharing the championship.

Iowa Makes Fresh Start.

On the basis of veteran material and somewhat vague reports of sophomore prospects, there seems to be no reason to rearrange the 1938 divisions of the Big Ten. Even before opening practice, Minnesota, Michigan, Purdue, Northwestern, and possibly Ohio State are in the first flight. Closely following and always capable of upsetting any Big Ten team come Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana. In final grouping are Iowa, starting a new system of coaching, and Chicago.

With the Purdue-Notre Dame engagement three weeks from today setting a pace for important early season games, there will be no delay in ascertaining the comparative strength of conference rivals. Nebraska opens Indiana's season at Bloomington, Sept. 30, and Marquette, reported to be stronger than last year, will test Wisconsin's re-made eleven at Madison on the same date.

Oklahoma First for N. U.

One week later the Hoosiers open the Big Ten schedule at Wisconsin while Oklahoma, Big Six champion and undefeated last season until the post-season game with Tennessee in Miami, Fla., comes to Northwestern. With advantage of four weeks' drill, Michigan will play Michigan State in Ann Arbor on that Saturday.

Eighteen letter men, many of them with limited experience, return for opening practice Monday at Minnesota. Capt. Win Pedersen, tackle; John Mariucci, end; George Franck and Harold Van Every, both of whom played left half back last season, form the nucleus around which Coach Bernie ierman will build his eleven. Arizona and Nebraska will test the Gophers before they embark on a six game conference schedule.

De Correvont Faces Test.

Attention at Northwestern will center on Bill De Correvont, sophomore half back, who, however, can not expect to win a starting assignment, at least not at once, against such competition at left half back as that furnished by Ollie Hahnenstein, Paul Soper, and Erwin Madsen. Then, too, there is Don Kruger, another sophomore from Fenwick High school, whose performance in the spring intra-squad game sparkled.

The Wildcats' problems are development of ends, only Ted Grefe and Bob Daly returning from the quartet of ends a year ago; finding replacement for the right half position vacated by Bernie Jefferson, and mustering a second line with particular emphasis on the tackle positions. Jay Laskay and Al Butherus have been shifted from the back field to end, while another change sends Jack Ryan to quarter back, the third position he has assumed. As a sophomore he was forced to play full back

NEW WAKE BOOK

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—The Giants' 10 to 0 victory over a group of Eastern All-Stars in the Polo Grounds last night proved one thing. . . . No school has a monopoly on gridiron talent. . . . The New York game was publicized as the real test of college and professional football—obviously ridiculous—because nine members of the All-Stars' lineup were from the University of Pittsburgh. . . . The two others were from Carnegie Tech, coached by Bill Kern, who learned his football from Jock Sutherland, former coach at Pittsburgh and leader of the Eastern All-Stars. . . . Newspaper commentators wrote at great length about the advantage this setup would give the All-Stars. . . . Other All-Star games, including the national attraction in Chicago, were referred to as mob scenes, a collection of highly publicized boys from varied systems of play. . . . The New York game eliminated these objections. . . . For once the All-Stars would have a unit, admittedly one of the best of the 1938 collegiate season, playing their own style under their own coach. . . . The result was striking. . . . The boys from Pittsburgh couldn't have scored on the Giants if they kept at it for six weeks. . . . There was no versatility to their attack. . . . In college ball they overpowered most of their opponents with a running attack because of individual and collective physical superiority. . . . When they ran up against a team just as rugged as themselves they had no place to go, and it wasn't long until Sutherland had Sid Luckman, Bob MacLeod, Bill Osmanski, and other stars from the Chicago game in the lineup to give some wallop to the collegians' offense.

Tuffy Leemans.

There is no team in college football or professional football that couldn't be improved by the addition of talent from other leading elevens. . . . We found that out years ago in the Chicago All-Star game. . . . New York knows it now. . . . Furthermore, it is unlikely a team recruited from one section of the country ever will be able to whip a champion professional club. . . . It takes the country's best to accomplish that task. . . . Luckman and MacLeod were the headliners for the All-Stars. . . . The Dartmouth boy made the longest run of the game, thirty-eight yards, and made two or three beautiful pass receptions. . . . Luckman's passing indicated a brilliant aerial duel will develop when Luckman as a Chicago Bear faces Ed Danowski of the Giants in the professional campaign. . . . Danowski last night completed seven out of twelve pitches for fifty yards. . . . Luckman completed five out of ten for seventy-three. . . . However, two of Luckman's tosses were intercepted by Dale Burnett. . . . Both occurred when the All-Stars were within the scoring zone. . . . Danowski led the National Professional league last season with a record of seventy forward passes completed in 129 attempts. . . .

◆

Tuffy Leemans of the Giants, who first came into national prominence in Chicago's 1936 All-Star game, demonstrated again last night he is the best running back in football. . . . The gridiron is crowded with fellows who can burn up the premises racing toward the sidelines. . . . Leemans goes straight up the field. . . . He has the knack of making two or three yards when he falls. . . . Shortly after he entered the game the Giants went forty-two yards in four plays for a touchdown and Leemans did most of the work. . . . On the first play of the second quarter he slipped away for twenty-eight yards after half the All-Star team had laid hands on him. . . . Three plays later he whipped a pass to Chuck Gelatka, a 1938 Chicago All-Star, in the end zone for the touchdown. . . . Ken Strong added the extra point and in the following period kicked a twenty-eight yard field goal to clinch victory for the Giants. . . .

◆

The Giants used a five man line throughout. . . . It was interesting to observe that this defensive formation was effective even against the Pittsburgh lineup, which was supposed to have a powerful running attack. . . . Judged by their work in the two All-Star games, the Giants are as well balanced a club as the professional league ever has had. . . . They have a big, burly, belligerent line that knows how to adjust itself to the enemy's style of play. . . . They have the most accurate forward passer in the league in Ed Danowski and the greatest running back in Tuffy Leemans. . . . The Bears, Cardinals, Packers, and Lions out our way expect to be stronger this season. . . . They'd better be if they expect to displace the Giants as the league's representative in the 1940 national All-Star game.

◆

Ten Years Ago Today—Home runs by Riggs Stephenson and Hack Wilson enabled the Cubs to defeat Boston, 4 to 3. . . . Helen Hicks was leading the women's western golf tournament with a 78. . . . Ed Walsh Jr. pitched the White Sox to a 6 to 4 victory over Washington.

Nestell Puts Out Kenneally in 1st Round

Bob Nestell, Los Angeles, Cal., heavyweight, knocked out Tom Kenneally of the Catholic Youth Organization in the first round of a scheduled ten round bout in White City last night.

Shortly after the fight started Nestell reached Kenneally's jaw with a right which floored him for a six count. Kenneally regained his feet only to suffer a second knockdown, this time for seven. Tom struggled to his feet once again, but was in no condition to continue. Another right to the jaw sent him to the canvas for the third time.

When Referee Phil Collins had counted three, Paddy Kane, Kenneally's second, leaped into the ring. This is a violation of the rules and automatically gave Nestell credit for a clean knockout.

The time was 1 minute, 17 seconds.

In the dressing room after the bout, Pat Kenneally, Tom's father and manager, said he would urge his boy to quit the ring. Tom weighed 192 pounds, twelve more than Nestell.

It was Kenneally's second knockout at the hands of the California fighter in two months.

THE SEASON CAN'T START TOO SOON FOR PRO TEAMS

Redskins, Bears, Cards Add Final Touches.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

One hundred and four football players with an open market value of nearly a million dollars pranced about Soldiers' field yesterday. The Washington Redskins, bound from the west coast to the east, stopped off for a morning workout. They found the Bears already on the field preparing for an exhibition game in Wheaton tonight. In the afternoon the Chicago Cardinals, fresh from four weeks in their Duluth camp, stopped over en route to Detroit for a final workout before opening the season against the Lions tomorrow.

Washington, victorious in two All-Star games in California, moved on to Boston after the drill, where on Monday night the Redskins will attempt to give the National Football league a clean sweep of All-Star competition. The New York Giants, league champions, contributed two victories, and the Green Bay Packers, Philadelphia Eagles, Cleveland Rams, and Bears one each in the professionals' march through graduated collegians thus far.

Training Proves Beneficial.

Coach Ray Flaherty and Owner George Marshall of the Redskins and Owner Charles Bidwill of the Cardinals compared notes on training camps, airing conclusive evidence that the cooler climes of the northwest are the only places in which professional teams can prepare properly for important all-star engagements and the league season.

Washington appeared to be 100 per cent better on Soldiers' field yesterday than it did just a year ago when it attempted to beat the All-Stars after three weeks of training in the blast furnace that was Ballstron, Va. The Cardinals, save for a few injuries and Tony Blazine's fractious appendix, are in better shape than they were at any time last season.

All three rosters are heavily laden with new men. Washington and the Cardinals practically have been made over after disappointing seasons last year and the Bears have signed a corps of rookies in an attempt to bolster their offense.

Sammy Is Ready.

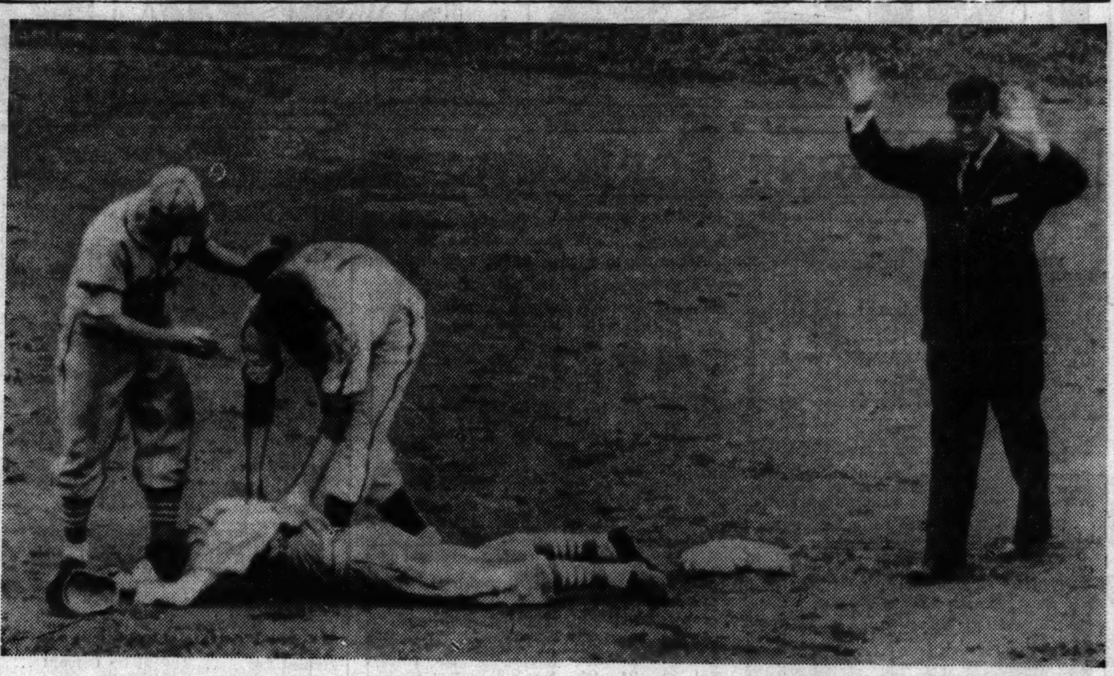
Sammy Baugh, whose injury a year ago probably meant the difference between victory and defeat for the Redskins in the All-Star game, has taken on additional weight and led the cheers for Spokane, Wash., as a training site. Frank Filchock and Andy Farkas, a pair of All-Star graduates, are Marshall's chief hope for a championship. Wayne Millner, Willie Wilken, Charlie Malone, and Jim Karcher all are said to be playing better ball this year than they were last.

The Bears, who will help the city of Wheaton dedicate the Red Grange stadium tonight, have begun to train their sights on the Cleveland game, which opens their season on Soldiers' field next Friday night. Scouts returning from the Rams' victory over the Ohio All-Stars Wednesday night brought unpleasant tidings, and at the moment the Bears aren't real certain of gaining revenge for the two lickings with which the Rams put them out of the title race last fall. Scouts reported that Coach Dutch Clark had good reason for not talking about his team. Coaches talk about their charges only when they are worried or are convinced the team is no good.

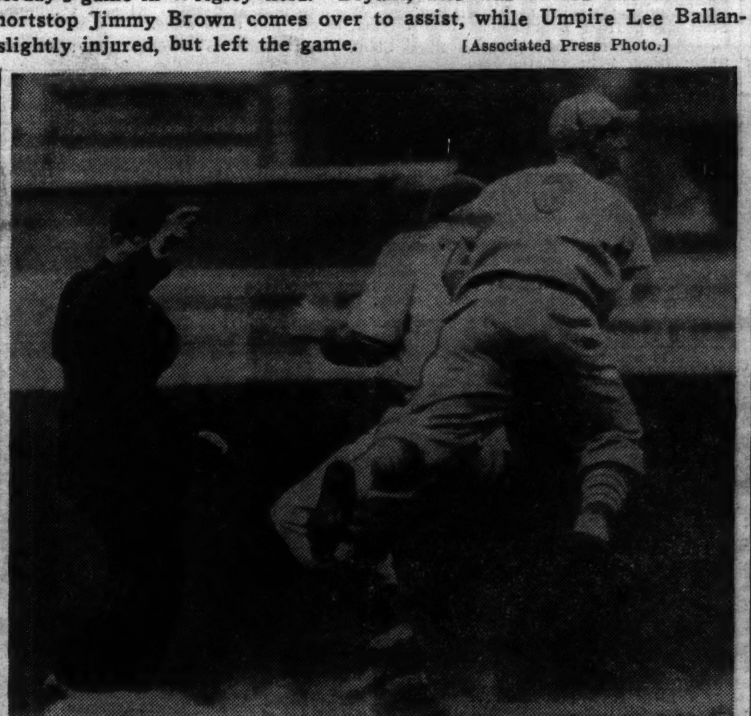
Cards Are Made Over.

The Cardinals will leave the loop this afternoon with a new team. Some of the names may be familiar to old Cardinal fans, but the faces are all new. Observers who came from Duluth with the club yesterday report that even their best friends won't recognize Bill Smith, Conway Baker, Buddy Parker, Doug Russell, Bill Volok, Jimmy Lawrence, Rock Reed, Blazine, and several other holdovers. It is the belief of these observers, too, that the Cardinals will continue to look entirely different, especially if they happen to get off to a good start under their new coach, Ernie Nevers, against Detroit's new offense.

Rivalry Forgotten When an Enemy Is Hurt



Stuart Martin, second baseman of the Cardinals, knocked to the ground in a collision with Clay Bryant, Cubs' pinch runner, in yesterday's game in Wrigley field. Bryant, who was forced out at second base, prepares to give first aid. Shortstop Jimmy Brown comes over to assist, while Umpire Lee Ballanfant calls time. Martin was only slightly injured, but left the game. [Associated Press Photo.]



The beginning of one of the four double plays the Cards made against the Cubs. Bill Nicholson, who opened the second with a single, is out at second on Pitcher Bill McGee's throw to Shortstop Brown. Brown is making the throw to First Baseman Johnny Mize that doubled Glen Russell. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Elson, Barber to Broadcast World Series

The 1939 world series radio battery will be Bob Elson of W-G-N, Chicago, and Walter [Red] Barber of WOR, Newark, N. J. They will describe baseball's annual October show, to be broadcast exclusively by the Mutual Broadcasting system, of which W-G-N is the Chicago outlet.

Bob Elson.

Walter Barber.

Selection of the two broadcasters was announced last night in a program over the Mutual network. The system will link 150 stations in a coast-to-coast broadcast of the games.

Elson is the only announcer who has broadcast every world series since 1929. That was the year the Cubs lost to the Athletics. The Chicago announcer started his radio career in Minneapolis in 1927. A year later he joined the staff of W-G-N, and since then has covered most of the nation's outstanding sports events. He holds another record, having officiated at all but one of the major league All-Star games. Illness prevented his participation in the 1939 contest in Yankee stadium. Elson visits the baseball training camps each spring and has a wide acquaintance among the players and officials.

Barber From Mississippi.

Barber, a native of Columbus, Miss., entered radio work while going to college in Florida. He made the step to the big leagues when he joined WLW in Cincinnati in 1934. He soon won recognition as one of the leading sports announcers. This year Barber joined WOR, which broadcasts all the Brooklyn Dodgers' home games. This will be Barber's fifth consecutive year at the microphone for the world series.

The selection of Elson and Barber was made with the approval of K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner. A third announcer will be named shortly. His assignment will be to give a word picture of the crowd, the excitement and the glamor of the games.

Official Announces It.

J. P. Spang Jr., president of the Gillette Safety Razor company, which is paying baseball $100,000 for broadcasting rights, made the radio announcement of his selection from Boston in last night's program. Elson, talking from Chicago, and Barber, in New York, also participated.

Wrigley Denies Gabby Hartnett Is On Way Out

Gabby Hartnett, Cub manager, is in no immediate danger of being shorn of his title. This was the answer of P. K. Wrigley, president-owner of the club, gave yesterday to the latest revival of the mystery entitled "Frankie Frisch Has Been Seen in Chicago."

"As far as I know at this time, Hartnett will manage the Cubs next season," declared Wrigley. "The present season hasn't ended so it is hardly an appropriate time to discuss such a matter, even if we had it in mind. I haven't talked with Hartnett about 1940 and probably won't talk to him until late in the year. Before I can say positively that Hartnett is going to remain, I will have to learn from him whether he wants to continue here."

STAGG MAKES $3,000 GIFT TO HIS NEW SCHOOL

Stockton, Cal., Sept. 8 (AP).—One good turn deserves another, it developed today in the case of Amos Alonzo Stagg, 77 year old football coach of the College of the Pacific. Stagg has made a cash gift of $3,000 to the school which brought him west to continue coaching after he was retired by the University of Chicago seven years ago.

O. H. Ritter, college controler, said the money had been used to purchase a 21 acre tract adjoining the college stadium. The land will be developed as an athletic field.

Yankees Must Replay Game; Three Fined

Boston, Mass., Sept. 8 [Special].—President William Harridge of the American league today overruled one of his umpires, Cal Hubbard, and ordered the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees to replay the game which was forfeited to the Yankees last Sunday in Boston when overzealous fans let fly with pop bottles and straw hats all over the Fenway park turf.

The game will be replayed when the Yankees make their final visit to Boston Sept. 26, General Manager Eddie Collins announced upon being informed of Harridge's decision.

Hubbard charged Boston with failing to provide proper protection to the players and declared the Yankees the winner, 9 to 0.

THREE YANKEES FINED.

New York, Sept. 8 [Special].—The New York Yankees, apparently well on their way to their fourth consecutive American league pennant, have no objection to replaying the game forfeited to them by Umpire Cal Hubbard in Boston last Sunday, but they do object, emphatically, to three fines of $100 each assessed against as many players by Will Harridge, league president.

The fact that Babe Dahlgren, Joe Gordon, and George Selkirk of the champions were fined came out today when Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, announced that he was filing an immediate protest.

CHICAGO USES FIVE PITCHERS IN 10-3 DEFEAT

Five Errors Make It Easier for St. Louis.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The St. Louis Gas House gang, those rollicking fellows who hit, run, and occasionally do a little consequential fielding, gave the Cubs no quarter yesterday in the final game of the series in Wrigley field. The second placers, keeping pace with the leading Reds, almost annihilated several members of the domestic pitching department and the Cubs helped to pile grief on themselves by making five errors. So the score was 10 to 3 and the third place Cubs, their pennant dream fading fast, are worrying about the Dodgers, who are only one and one-half games to the rear.

First to fall before the enemy rifling was Claude Passeau, who gave up in the fifth, by which time the Gas Housers were the possessors of six runs. Then when Gene Lillard followed Earl Whitehill, whose appearance was limited to a third of an inning, the Cards tore loose after a series of comical errors in the seventh and completed their day's assault with a batch of four runs. They didn't annoy Jack Russell in the eighth or Rookie Vern [Lefty] Olsen, who was introduced in the ninth.

Hit Into Four Double Plays.

The Cubs, while making ten hits, showed feebleness in the pinches, hitting into four double plays. Billy Herman was left stranded in the fourth after opening with a double. In the fifth the first four men got to base, a series of happenings which caused the removal of Bill McGee in favor of Clyde Shoun, but only two runs blossomed from this healthy start. In the eighth three of the first four batters reached base but only one registered. G. Russell led off in both the seventh and ninth with a single but didn't even get to second base either time.

Passeau, who lost his eleventh of the year and his seventh since his escape from the Phillies, was impressive only for three innings. In the fourth his defense began to crumple and Don Gutteridge nicked him for a two run triple. A series of three hits, one of which Jim Gleeson messed up in center field, caused Passeau's departure in the fifth. And in the seventh the Cubs threw the ball every place except into the grandstand.

Slaughter Opens Scoring.

Passeau didn't have much trouble shaking off the first two batters in the opening inning. Hack tossed out Brown and S. Martin fanned, but the next two Cardinals proved tough. Slaughter doubled down the third base line. Medwick lined low into right and boldly stretched it into a two bagger, Slaughter scoring. Then Passeau recovered his poise and no more Cardinals reached base until the fourth, when two more scored.

Slaughter opened the fourth with a single to left. He was forced by Medwick, who would have been doubled at first if Mattick hadn't thrown the ball into the enemy dugout. The error entitled Medwick to move to second. Mize drew a pass. Moore tapped to Mattick, forcing Mize, and an instant later Gutteridge tripled off the wall in left center.

CUP ELIGIBLES TO RUN TODAY AT HAWTHORNE

Two $2,500 Races Draw Fast Fields.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Hawthorne race track will continue its stake program today with two $2,500 events—the Speed handicap at six furlongs, and the President's trophy at a mile.

Some of the best of the Chicago district performers will go to the post in both of these races. Some Count, Smart Trick, Mucho Gusto, Chief Onaway, and Bob's Boys are among the thirteen overnight entries in the longer event. The sprint has drawn a field of ten, including Allegro, Kings Blue, Sumatra III., and Dusty Dawn. Rude Awakening is eligible for both.

Racing Secretary Julius Reeder has allotted Mucho Gusto top weight of 118 pounds in the President's trophy. This veteran of many seasons proved at Washington Park that he can still beat stake horses at a mile, and if the track should be muddy, he will like it all the better.

11 Eligible for Gold Cup.

Bob's Boys and Chief Onaway demonstrated that they are in good form by winning mile races earlier this week. Bob's Boys led the field home in the Inaugural handicap on Labor day, and Chief Onaway won an allowance event on Thursday. Smart Trick and Some Count distinguished themselves with stake victories during the Washington Park meeting, the former upsetting Flying Lill.

Eleven of the horses entered in today's main events are eligible for the $15,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup race, which will be run a week from today. Track officials have received word that W. L. Brann's Challedon will be shipped here early in the week to fill his engagement in the Gold Cup race. Chicagoans got their last view of him during the Arlington Park meeting when he won the Classic, while Johnstown was finishing third. Since then he has beaten Charles S. Howard's Kayak II., which had been considered the best of the older horses.

Kayak II. Is Coming.

Trainer Tom Smith indicated that he would send Kayak II. to Hawthorne within a few days, apparently being satisfied with the weights which were allotted Wednesday.

Bunny Lawless, winner of the King's Plate at Toronto recently, was the first of the Gold Cup invaders to arrive. He came in Thursday.

E. F. Woodward's Valdina Nymph won the Last Reveille purse, a six furlong event for 2 year olds on yesterday's program. After being blocked in the early stages, this filly came up swiftly in the stretch to catch the pace setter, Harold Nellor's All Lizzie. She drew out to win by a length. You Alone, owned by Thomas Piatt, was third.

Despite the consistent success of the Woodward horses during recent weeks, the entry of Valdina Nymph and Valdina Minx got to the post at 4 to 1, heavy support going to You Alone. Mutuel tickets on the winner were worth $10.40, $4.40, and $3.

ALL-STARS COME TO LIFE; DEFEAT GUNNERS, 21 TO 13

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 8 (AP).—Scoring on long runs, a team of alert All-Stars regained some collegiate prestige tonight by overcoming the professional St. Louis Gunners to win a charity football game, 21 to 13. The contest was played in near 90 degree temperature before a shirt sleeved crowd of 5,000.

Denny Cochran of St. Louis university, Everett Kischer of Iowa State, and Mario Tonelli of Notre Dame counted touchdowns for the collegians, who then were forced to fight off a desperate second half attack by the pros which scored two touchdowns.

PARK LAGOONS THROWN OPEN TO ANGLERS TODAY

Chicago anglers who want to enjoy autumn fishing without traveling long distances can fish in Chicago park lagoons starting this morning. The Chicago park district allows fishing in these stocked waters each fall, with the season lasting until the weather becomes unfavorable.

The Izaak Walton League of America is offering a cash prize each week for the largest bass caught in the lagoons. All fishing must be done from boats, and a regular state fishing license is required.

Work Whistle Blows Monday for Big Ten

Because Michigan does not play Minnesota and Ohio State, presumably principal conference opponents, until November, and since Michigan has considerable veteran strength the Wolverines are highly regarded in the championship race. Forest Evashevski, Tom Harmon, and Paul Kromer are back field regulars from last year. Capt. Archie Kodros, center; Ed Frutig and John Nicholson, ends; Ralph Fritz and Fred Olds, guards; Roland Savilla and Bill Smith, tackles, are outstanding veterans in the line.

Purdue will have twenty-five letter men, but the Boilermakers also face a schedule more difficult than a year ago, if this be possible. Purdue opens with Notre Dame, plays Michigan State and Santa Clara [a newcomer], and has conference games with Minnesota, Iowa, Northwestern, Wisconsin, and Indiana. Speed will be Purdue's greatest asset. Outstanding backs are Lou Brock, Jack Brown, Mike Bylene, and Full Back Leon DeWitte. August Morningstar returns to center and the Boilermakers will have veteran material for all other line positions.

Badgers Have Small Squad.

Wisconsin not only loses key men, including Howie Weiss, full back, but only forty-eight players have been invited back to practice. George Paskvan is expected to replace Weiss and Bill Schmitz, Tony Gradisnik, Claude York, Vincent Cibik, and Frederick Gage are holdover backs. The Badgers will have another good team but beyond this only the results of early games will tell just how good.

Ohio State will have a numerically large squad with many veterans, including eight back field letter men and John Rabb, 1937 full back who was out last season because of a knee injury. The Buckeyes, however, are troubled with a lack of tackles. Charles Maag, sophomore center a year ago, has been shifted, but other men must be found for the spots held by Alex Schoenbaum, Joe Aleskus, and Carl Kaplanoff. The team probably still will lack speed.

Illini Depend on Brewer.

Sixty-one Illini players, including twenty-four letter men, will report at Champaign. Mel Brewer, a great guard in 1937, and handicapped last year by injuries after being changed to blocking quarter back, is counted upon to spark the line which faltered offensively last season, although the Illini defeated Indiana and Chicago and held Notre Dame, 14 to 6. Improvement of holdover material is essential if Illinois is to reach the first division.

Indiana also is looking for touchdowns this fall and again holdover material must improve. The Hoosiers have John Janzaruk, Jim Ellenwood, Archie Harris, ends; Emil Uremovich, Frank Smith, Al Sabol, tackles; Capt. Jim Logan, Bill Smith, Mike Bucchianeri, guards, and Dwight Gahm and Mike Naddeo, centers, in the line. Experienced backs include Bill Tipmore, Joe Tofil, Cobb Lewis, Eddie Herbert, Harold Hursh, and Ray Dumke.

Chicago? Same Old Story.

Iowa hopes to have a fair first team but the Hawkeyes probably will be short of replacements. Dr. Eddie Anderson is installing a new system and has several capable players in Nile Kinnick, half back; Erwin Prasse and Dick Evans, ends; Mike Enich, tackle, who was shifted to this position last year, and a few sophomores who may develop. Iowa plays six conference games and also meets Notre Dame.

Chicago probably will have a fair first eleven but lack of material again will be a handicap the Maroons scarcely can overcome. Michigan, Ohio State, and Illinois are Big Ten opponents. Harvard and Virginia top the non-conference schedule which also includes Beloit, Wabash, and Oberlin.

N. C. A. A. SEEKS FUNDS FOR 1940 OLYMPIC TEAM

The executive committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association, meeting in the Hotel Sherman, decided yesterday to proceed with its plan for raising the United States Olympic fund notwithstanding the European war may force cancelation of the 1940 games.

The N. C. A. A. has asked its member schools to add 10 per cent assessment to admission prices at athletic contests this year as a means of swelling the fund to send the athletes to the games scheduled next summer in Finland.

Jockey Tracy Reno, 30, Is Killed by Automobile

Collinsville, Ill., Sept. 8 (AP).—Tracy Reno, 30, a veteran jockey, was struck by an automobile and killed while he was crossing a highway near the Fairmount Jockey club tonight. Reno, a St. Louisan, rode at the Fairmount track here for several years, but had no mounts at the fall meeting which began Sept. 2. Regarded as one of the country's outstanding jockeys a few years ago, Reno had ridden at Bainbridge Park at Geauga Lake, near Cleveland, O., and was the leading rider at Agua Caliente the summer of 1931 with eighty-one winners in fifty-seven days. He was astride Jim Dandy, a 100 to 1 shot, when he defeated Gallant Fox, Kentucky Derby winner, at Belmont Park, New York.

CAMERAMEN GET FIRST GLIMPSE OF NOTRE DAME

Pictures Today, but Work Starts Monday.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 8.—[Special]—Notre Dame will launch its 51st football season and Coach Elmer Layden will start his sixth year here as the Irish go through their paces tomorrow for the cameramen.

A record attendance of newsreel and newspaper photographers is expected in view of last year's record of eight victories in nine games, and Layden's recent election to the head coaching post of the All-Star football squad. Interest in the 1939 team is reflected in record early season ticket sales.

The task of coordinating last year's starting back field with the 1938 second string line will get under way in earnest Monday. There will be three days of double drills before classes start Thursday morning.

Kelly Lone Regular Lineman

Purdue First Opponent

The Irish will open their schedule three weeks from tomorrow against Purdue, 1938 Big Ten runners-up. The largest paid attendance for a Notre Dame opener is expected.

Pick Officials for Dog Show at Onwentsia

BY BOB BECKER.

Owners who want to exhibit their dogs in the Shore Land Kennel club dog show, Sept. 17 have only a few more hours in which to send in their entries. No entries will be accepted after midnight tomorrow night. Last minute competitors who do not have entry blanks may obtain them by contacting Mrs. Berndalyn Kewley club secretary, 1055 West Granville avenue, Chicago. Her telephone number is Briargate 6200. Entries should be mailed to Mrs. Kewley or to A. Wilson Bow, show superintendent 1055 West Granville avenue.

The Shore Land show will be held in the riding hall of the Onwentsia Country club, Green Bay road in Lake Forest. It is the first show for the new club. Judge F. E. Eldert club president, says advance entries indicate more than 500 dogs will compete. The show location provides ample room for benching and judging the dogs. A judging slate headed by William Pym, Vancouver, and including thirteen other breed experts, will select the winners.

Aside from the regular judging of breeds there will be a number of features to interest spectators who know little about the technical aspects of dog judging.

At 4 p. m., children between the ages of 8 and 16 will compete in the children's handling classes, to be judged by Mrs. Conway Olmsted and Mrs. L. T. Knott, both of Lake Forest.

Still another added attraction will be the awarding of a medal to the dog which has performed the most heroic act in recent months. A number of dogs which have saved human lives have been entered for the award.

Hanleys, Salernos Reach City Softball Semi-Finals

The Hanleys, Salernos, St. James and Cullwoods reached the semi-finals of the Windy City city-wide softball tourney in St. Philip stadium last night. The Hanleys beat the Press Inns, 8 to 4; the Salernos defeated the Bohac A. C., 5 to 4; St. James shut out the North Town Currencies 2 to 0, and the Cullwoods upset the Petrones, 5 to 3. The Cullwoods and St. James meet in the first semi-final at 7 p. m. and the Hanleys and Salernos in the second at 8:15 tomorrow night. The finalists will meet at 9:45.

Bucky Yields Five Hits in Beating Pirates.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 8 (AP).—Bucky Walters held Pittsburgh to five hits today and hit an eighth inning home run which broke a tie and shoved Cincinnati to a 5 to 2 victory, evening the four game series. It was Walters' twenty-third victory and, pitched on just two days' rest, marked the twenty-sixth complete game he has worked.

SPRINGFIELD AND DECATUR REACH THREE EYE FINAL

Decatur and Springfield qualified last night for the final series of the Three Eye league's Shaughnessy playoff by eliminating their opponents in the preliminary competition.

Decatur trounced pennant winning Cedar Rapids, 4 to 0, behind Oscar Judd's two hit pitching for the Commies' third victory in four games. Springfield overwhelmed Evansville, 15 to 2, likewise winning three of four games.

Chicago Amateur Boxers Defeat South Bend, 3 to 2

A team of five Chicago amateur boxers last night defeated a South Bend., Ind., squad, three bouts to two, in the Madison-Cicero outdoor arena. Joe Fountain, west side heavyweight, won a decision over John Humphrey in one of the two five round bouts. Other results:

Yankees Win from Boston Again, 4 to 1

New York, Sept. 8 (AP). — Charley [Red] Ruffing scored his twenty-first victory of the season today as the Yankees took a 4 to 1 rain shortened seven inning game from the Boston Red Sox to complete a sweep of their series.

YANKEES SELL PIECHOTA, YOUNG PITCHER, TO BEES

Boston, Mass., Sept. 8 (AP).—The purchase of Al Piechota, a right-handed pitcher, from the New York Yankee-owned Kansas City club in the American association, was announced tonight by Secretary John Quinn of the Boston Bees. Quinn said the deal involved cash and a player to be selected by the Blues later.

Madison Council Approves Berth in Three-Eye League

Madison, Wis., Sept. 8 (AP). — The Madison common council tonight approved its athletic committee's recommendation that a Three-Eye Baseball league franchise be moved to Breese-Stevens field here. City Attorney Harold Hanson was instructed to meet with Henry Bendinger, president of the Milwaukee Brewers, regarding transfer of the Bloomington, Ill., franchise here for next season. The American association team operates Bloomington as a farm.

WHITE SOX BEGIN TO COUNT THAT 2D PLACE CASH

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—The wide awake and speeding White Sox rested here today with much time to peruse the form sheets and do plenty of calculating before starting their two game series with the fifth place Tigers tomorrow. The Sox now are dead set on winning second place in the American league standings. Two weeks ago Jimmy Dykes' lads thought only of third place, but at the time they didn't know their own class.

At supper time tonight the White Sox were two games behind the second place Boston Red Sox.

Come On You Yankees!

The White Sox, with a record of five victories and no defeats on the current trip, are the hottest team in the American league right now. And, strangely enough, they are rooting for the only team in the league that has an edge on them, the only team, in fact, that can have an edge on them when all 1939 games have been played—the Yankees.

If the Yankees win as many games in the remainder of their schedule as they figure to win, the runner-up spot should be a cinch for the Sox. So the Sox are pulling for the Yankees to win all their games except three, the three the Sox will play the champions on Sept. 19, 20 and 21.

Big Money Just Ahead.

Last year the players on second place teams in each league took $32,557.10 from the world series pot. Prospects for a smaller attendance in a smaller National league park this year should be compensated by the fact there will be a $100,000 radio sweetener for the pot.

If you believe in past performance charts, you can figure from the following tabulations many of the reasons the Sox are optimistic about their chance to grab second place. Remaining White Sox games and season series to date:

Sox vs. Browns, to be played, eight games. To date, Sox, 12; Browns, 2.
Sox vs. Tigers, to be played, two games. To date, Sox, 11; Tigers, 9.
Sox vs. Senators, to be played, two games. To date, Sox, 12; Senators, 8.
Sox vs. Athletics, to be played, three games. To date, Sox, 11; Athletics, 8.
Sox vs. Red Sox, to be played, two games. To date, Sox, 13; Red Sox, 7.
Sox vs. Yankees, to be played, three games. To date, Sox, 4; Yankees, 15.
Sox vs. Indians, to be played, two games. To date, Sox, 12; Indians, 8.

They Have Twenty-two to Go.

The White Sox have twenty-two games to play, fifteen with second division teams, which they have beaten forty-six times while losing twenty-seven. They have seven games to play with first division teams, which they have beaten twenty-nine times while losing thirty. Remaining Red Sox games, and season series to date:

Red Sox vs. Yankees, to be played, five games. To date, Red Sox, 11; Yankees, 6.
Red Sox vs. A's, to be played, seven games. To date, Red Sox, 12; A's, 3.
Red Sox vs. Tigers, to be played, two games. To date, Red Sox, 8; Tigers, 12.
Red Sox vs. Indians, to be played, three games. To date—Red Sox, 11; Indians, 8.
Red Sox vs. White Sox, to be played, two games. To date, Red Sox, 7; White Sox, 13.
Red Sox vs. Browns, to be played, 3 games. To date, Red Sox, 14; Browns, 5.
Red Sox vs. Senators, to be played, two games. To date, Red Sox, 14; Senators, 6.

The Red Sox have twenty-four games to play, fourteen with second division teams, which they have beaten forty-eight times while losing twenty-six. They have ten games with first division teams, which they have beaten twenty-eight times while losing twenty-eight.

Root to Greet Reds for Cubs in Series Opener

Charles Root, who was roughly handled by the Reds last Sunday, will get the Cubs' pitching assignment in Wrigley field today in the opener of the two game series with the National league leaders, who will start either Lloyd Moore or Gene Thompson.

The Cubs' publicity department erred in announcing the yellow ball would be used in tomorrow's game with the Reds. It may be tried out during the impending series with the Dodgers.

Hank Leiber, the Cubs' regular center fielder who has been having a private fight with flu bugs since last Saturday night, will be back in uniform today, but may not be pressed into action immediately.

Purchase of Catcher Clyde McCullough from Kansas City of the American association was announced yesterday by the Cubs. McCullough, who has hit .271 in catching 100 games this season, will report next spring. The deal involved an undisclosed amount of cash and an unnamed player. McCullough, a right hand hitter, will be 23 years old next March. He has driven in thirty-eight runs and hit nine homers, seven triples, and eighteen doubles for the Blues.

Passeau Forced to Quit.

The start of Passeau's downfall in the fifth was a pass to Owen, who was forced on McGee's intended sacrifice. Brown slipped a single into center and was forced by S. Martin. Slaughter singled to center and Gleeson, after grabbing the ball, did a nose dive into the turf. The error gave S. Martin time to follow McGee over the plate, Slaughter taking second. Medwick poked a 3 and 2 pitch for a single to center, Slaughter scoring. Whitehill dashed to Passeau's relief and stopped the rally despite an intervening single by Mize.

The Cubs went into their half of the fifth with only three hits to their credit, but there was an immediate improvement. G. Russell and Mattick opened with singles and Mancuso walked. Hartnett batted for Whitehill and also drew a pass, G. Russell scoring. Shoun took over for McGee. Bryant, who ran for Hartnett, was forced on Hack's tap, Mattick scoring. Bryant collided with S. Martin and the latter retired with a wrenched neck. Then the splurge ended suddenly on Herman's double-play grounder to Gutteridge.

Cubs Go 'Round and 'Round.

The Cards' seventh was funny as well as painful to the Cubs. G. Russell dropped a throw from Herman. Hack heaved the ball wild into right field. Nicholson threw the same ball wild to the plate. The three errors scored one run and left a man on third. A bit later Mize walked, Moore singled, and Gutteridge tripled for the second time. Hence the cluster of four runs.

Pinch-man Carl Reynolds singled, Herman singled, and Galan doubled with one out in the eighth, but the Cubs scored only once because Gleeson fanned and Nicholson flied to Slaughter.

SLOOPS TO START COMPETITION FOR LAKE TITLE TODAY

Eight meter and Q class sloops will compete today and tomorrow under auspices of the Jackscon Park Yacht club for the Lake Michigan championships. The Lutz trophy for Q class sloops will be defended for the second season by Lively Lady, Otto Dreher's South Shore [Milwaukee] Yacht club racer. Gloriant, Anthony Herrmann's Racine Yacht club Q boat, and Quest, Howard Baxter's Grand Rapids Yacht club entry, will also face the Chicago Q craft.

CHICAGO DRAFTS TRIUMPH TWICE IN TITLE MEET

The Down Draft girls, champions of the Chicago metropolitan district, reached the quarter-finals of the worlds softball tournament yesterday with two victories. The Drafts scored their first triumph without swinging a bat when Stamford, Conn., failed to appear in Normal park at 11:45 a. m., thereby forfeiting the game. Last night the Chicagoans, with Dorothy [Boots] Kupping pitching 5-hit ball, defeated Omaha, 5 to 0.

Cincinnati, the defending men's champions, and Alameda, Cal., girls' title holders, also scored twin victories yesterday. Play will continue today on the following fields: Normal, 61st street and Racine avenue; Parichy, Harlem avenue and Harrison street; Spencer, 4200 North Central avenue; Shewbridge, 74th and Aberdeen streets; Mills, 4700 West Lake street, and Midway, 68th street and Langley avenue. Chilly Winds Hamper Golf Stars' Drills

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The weather man yesterday crossed up the brigade of young men working out for the 43d national amateur golf tournament, which opens Monday morning at the North Shore Country club. After Thursday's record heat, which was abetted by a south wind, the lads who tried North Shore yesterday found the temperature dropping 25 degrees, with the wind shifting to the northwest.

A majority in the field of 170 starters in Monday's first eighteen holes of medal play were out yesterday, including Willie Turnesa, the Elmsford, N. Y., star who won last year's championship at Oakmont, Pa. Another arrival was C. Ross [Sandy] Somerville of London, Ont., who won the 1932 title to become the only Canadian in history to score. Marvin [Bud] Ward of Spokane, Wash., generally rated as Turnesa's leading rival on the basis of his play in the national open as well as in the Pacific Nortwest this year, was still fighting the cold with which he landed.

Alex Cunningham, North Shore's professional and course superintendent, reported the battleground in excellent shape for next week's six days of fighting. Only the stakes and ropes to be used in marshaling the galleries remained to be set up last night.

Not all of Monday's 170 starters will be on deck when Tuesday's final half of the 36 hole qualifying round is played. In order to gain a place on Tuesday, a golfer must be in the low 130 scorers and ties on Monday. The low 64 shooters for the two days of medal play will enter the match play bracket, which will open Wednesday with two eighteen hole duels.

North Shore was not the only course in the Chicago district yesterday to boast a practice spell. One of the finest fields of the year drilled for the eleventh annual Derby of the Women's Western Golf association, opening Monday at the Evanston Golf club. The tournament, longest medal play event in women's golf, will continue through Thursday at the rate of eighteen holes per day.

Best performance yesterday was the 77, two under par, by Edith Estabrooks, the Dubuque, Ia., girl who now registers from Ridge and who won this year's western closed title at Detroit. Others who worked out included Beatrice Barrett, the Minneapolis girl who won the medal in the women's national a few weeks ago with a record score of 74; Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., a national semi-finalist; Ellamae Williams of Medinah; Shirley Ann Johnson of Sunset Ridge, and Dorothy Foster of Springfield, Ill.

Don Hamilton of Beverly has been reëlected chairman of the South District Golf league for the 1940 season, and for the sixth consecutive year, Dr. Rex E. Umbenhaur retains his post as secretary and treasurer. Midlothian's team won the 1939 race, which was concluded Thursday at Beverly.

RAIN HALTS PLAY AT FOREST HILLS; MAKO IS BEATEN

New York, Sept. 8 (AP).—Rain and hail struck Forest Hills late today, halting play in the national tennis tournament and leaving sixteen uncompleted matches in the first and second rounds to be settled tomorrow.

Two veteran antagonists, Bryan Grant Jr., and Sidney Wood Jr., were locked in another of their struggles in the stadium, with Grant winning when the deluge started. The first wave of attack brought hailstones the size of pool balls and then the rain began. After thirty minutes the officials called off the day's card. The players long since had quit. The postponement set back play a full day, except that Bobby Riggs will appear in a special third round match tomorrow against Larry Dee of San Francisco.

Mako Is Beaten.

When the storm hit the Grant-Wood match, Bryan had won a set, 6-3, and was leading Wood in the second at 12-11, with some 4,000 fans enjoying brilliant tennis.

Edward Alloo, an unheralded entry from Berkeley, Cal., provided the biggest upset previous to the storm by eliminating Gene Mako, who was a finalist here last year against Don Budge, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0.

Adrian Quist, the Australian ace, started reaching for the championship with a 6-0, 6-2, 6-1 victory over William Gillespie of Atlanta, and Riggs loafed to an opening triumph over Felicisimo Ampon, Filipino flyweight, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4, 10-8. Jack Crawford of Australia was given a scare before he rallied from two sets down to beat Julius Heldman, Hollywood, 5-7, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Helen Jacobs Wins.

Jack Bromwich of Australia had not started his match with Frank Shields when play stopped. Joe Hunt, still on leave from Annapolis, nosed out his young Davis cup doubles partner, Jack Kramer, 6-2, 3-6, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

Helen Jacobs, second seeded American girl, limbered up slightly in defeating Mrs. John J. Schieffelin of New York, 6-0, 6-0, and Mrs. Sarah Fabyan started with a 6-2, 6-0 victory over Mariette Arguimbeau of Glenbrook, Conn. Kay Stammers of England, the chief foreign menace, did not get to play.

Nauvoo, Ill., Sept. 8 [Special].—The centennial of Nauvoo, an almost legendary city where the so-called Mormon war was fought and the romantic Icarians tried out their idealistic government, was celebrated with an historical pageant today at the opening of the annual grape festival.

Combining modernism with history, a grape queen will preside over the three day festival. The honor was bestowed upon Jean Dachroth, 18 years old, pretty blonde co-ed at the University of Michigan and a member of an old Nauvoo family.

It was just 100 years ago this spring that members of the Latter Day Saints' church—better known as the Mormons—founded this community. Joseph Smith, prophet of the Mormon church, purchased the land, which included the city's site, and settled the great religious colony here.

Becomes City of 18,000.

The community grew into the largest city in the middle west with a population variously estimated at 18,000 to 25,000. Chicago then had a population of about 700.

The state legislature granted Nauvoo a special charter which virtually made the city independent of the state government.

A standing army of 5,000 men, known as the Nauvoo legion, was organized. Joseph Smith was commissioned by the governor as lieutenant general, the first man in the nation up to that time to have been accorded that title since George Washington held it.

Neighbors Fear Smith.

Nauvoo prospered under Smith's administration, but his neighbors feared him and his strange religion that approved more wives than one. After he had chased two newspaper editors from the town they found aid in Carthage, Ill., and a military expedition was sent out against the capital of Mormonism.

Before a great show of force the Mormon legion surrendered. Smith, his brother, Hyrum, and several others gave themselves up at Carthage on charges of treason. On June 27, 1844, a mob broke into the jail and shot the Smith brothers to death.

The extraordinary charter of Nauvoo was revoked by the state the following year and a commission, headed by Stephen A. Douglas, arranged with the surviving Mormon leaders that the adherents of the religion would go west.

The next spring many of the Mormons left. The following September those who still remained were bombarded with cannon and their temple destroyed. The remainder of the inhabitants surrendered. Brigham Young, who was Smith's successor, led a branch of the sect into Utah and carried on the founder's tradition.

The site of Nauvoo then was taken over by a sect of French communists known as the Icarians, headed by Etienne Cabet, French jurist, statesman, and historian. They made the village more familiar in Europe than it had been in the United States.

With all their qualifications, however, the Icarians' pure communism, their Utopian dreams, and their achievements vanished before the civil war began.

Baylor H. Gwathmey.

Baylor H. Gwathmey, 77 years old, a real estate man on the south side for more than half a century, died of a heart ailment yesterday in his home at 1005 East 75th street. Two sons, Roy and Harold, and a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Riddell, survive. Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 851 East 75th street. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

Lloyd Adkins.

Funeral services for Lloyd Adkins, 30 years old, pilot and owner of a private plane which crashed near Huron, O., on Labor day, killing three persons, were held yesterday in Mount Hope cemetery. Private flyers and members of the 108th observation squadron of the Illinois National Guard, of which Adkins' brother, Roy, is a member, flew over the cemetery and dropped wreaths on the grave. Adkins lived at 641 West 64th street. Surviving are his widow, Frances, and a son, Lloyd Jr.

James P. Sherlock.

James P. Sherlock, whose father, Joseph Sherlock, was one of the earliest residents of Winnetka, died yesterday at the age of 83 in Michael Reese hospital. He was the founder of the Illinois Nail company, 826 North Peoria street, and was its president for forty years. His home was at 845 Belden avenue. Surviving are his widow, Sarah Belle; a son, Lawrence E. Sherlock, of Oak Park, and a daughter, Mrs. R. H. Key of Braintree, Mass. Private funeral services will be held today.

Lieut. Joseph J. Du Bach.

Lieut. Joseph J. Du Bach, a Chicago policeman for thirty-seven years, died yesterday of a heart ailment in his home in Malta, Ill., where he had lived since he retired in 1932. He was 66 years old. Lieut. Du Bach joined the force in 1895, was made a sergeant in 1905, a lieutenant in 1914, and was acting captain at several south side stations. He was wounded in 1918 in a revolver battle with two bandits. Two sons, one a former policeman, and two brothers, who also are former policemen, survive.

Arthur Knight.

Arthur Knight, 76 years old, member of a pioneer Hillsboro, Ill., family, died yesterday of a heart attack in his home, 1610 North Mason avenue. Mr. Knight, son of a civil war veteran, came to Chicago in 1902. His widow and three daughters survive. The funeral will be held Monday at 2 p. m. in the chapel at 5915 Division street. Burial will be in Concordia cemetery in Forest Park.

Daniel Gimbel.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 8 (AP).—Daniel Gimbel, vice president of Gimbel Brothers' stores, died today. He was 76. Bird Traps Moved.

September 8, 1939.

THE bird traps on the Du Page county farm were put in good working order this week. Some of them were shifted to new locations, and then all of them were baited with new kinds of food. The fall migration already has started, so it was time to get the traps in the most desirable locations if the farm bird banding station is to catch, band, and release more feathered migrants during the coming months.

This is a difficult time of the year to entice birds into a baited trap. There is so much natural food in the fields that the birds are not tempted much by a grain mixture in the wire enclosures. The sparrows, cardinals, towhees, and other birds that are on the farm have only to drop down into a field and find all the natural food they want.

Wild Grapes and Cherries.

Weed seeds are abundant for the species that feed mainly on such food. The wild grapes also offer serious competition to the baits that can be placed in the bird traps. The heavy crop of wild black cherries has been another source of food for many of the birds. We have visited several of these wild cherry trees to sample some of the fruit. Every one had feeding birds in it.

The traps at the farm were baited this week with apples which had fallen to the ground, ripe bananas, stale bread, and the regular supply of weed seeds and sunflower seeds. One trap, a four celled arrangement which drops a front door when the bird steps on a sort of trigger, was moved to the top of a fence separating an alfalfa field from a thicket. A wooden platform about two feet square was built on the top of the fence post and the trap was placed on this platform. Feed is placed inside each of the four compartments as well as on the platform surrounding the trap.

Family Loses Free Meals.

One family of smart ringneck pheasants living on the Du Page county farm has been forced back into the normal feeding routine of wild game birds. For a few weeks this family got free feed without having to work for it. The birds muscled in on the meals provided for a family of turkeys in the fields. Each morning the flockmaster used to throw a handful of wheat and cracked corn into a field which he knew the turkeys visited. The grain would no sooner hit the ground than a mixed flock of turkeys and ringneck pheasants would rush up and start gobbling. There are numerous families of ringnecks on the farm this season, but only this one was smart enough to take advantage of the good natured turkeys.

But the days of easy living now are over for the ringnecks. The turkeys have returned to the barn yard to live, so there are no more free handouts. The flockmaster says that since the ringnecks have to work for their own food they have moved into a soy bean field and are eating weed seeds there.

H. H. Cust, Former Car Manufacturer, Is Dead

Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 8 (AP).—H. H. Cust, 80 years old, retired vice president of the Mount Vernon Car Manufacturing company, died suddenly last night while on a visit in Dearborn, Mich. Former Gov. L. L. Emmerson said he received a telegram from Detroit, telling of the Mount Vernon business leader's death. Funeral services will be held in Monroe, Mich., on Sunday. Survivors include his widow, Jessica, a daughter, Mrs. Sarah McGuffey of Dearborn, and a son, Robert, of New Orleans.

323 Fire Alarms on Hot Day Set New City Record

During the 24 hours ending at 9 a. m. yesterday the fire department established an all-time record by answering 323 alarms, according to Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan. This was attributed to brush and fence fires caused by the heat and high wind Thursday. The previous record of 314 alarms was set on Jan. 6, 1924, when the temperature dropped to 13 degrees below zero.

WHEAT SLUMPS AS WAR BUYING HYSTERIA FADES

Volume of Trading Shrinks Sharply.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$.85⅛	$.88¼	$.61⅞
Corn	.59½	.60¼	.52¼
Oats	.36½	.38	.24⅝
Rye	.50⅞	.53¾	.41¼
Soy beans	.90¼	.89	.76¾

Grain prices turned downward yesterday in North American markets. Many speculators who bought earlier on the war hysteria started to liquidate their holdings and found support less aggressive.

Price changes were rapid throughout the day, with final sales on futures in all grains about at the bottom. Wheat lost 3⅛ to 3⅜ cents on the Chicago Board of Trade and declined 2½ to 3⅛ cents at Winnipeg. Minneapolis wheat futures were 4 to 4⅜ cents lower.

Corn closed ¾ to 1½ cents lower. Oats receded 1½ to 2⅛ cents, and rye was 2¾ to 3 cents lower. Soy beans were ¾ to 1¼ cents higher, with all deliveries selling at new high prices for the season.

Volume of Trading Shrinks.

There was a sharp contraction in the volume of trading in grain futures yesterday. Brokers estimated that aggregate sales were about 50 per cent less than the 84,441,000 bushels traded on Thursday, which was the largest day's business since July 2, 1937.

At no time yesterday did wheat futures sell above the closing prices of the preceding day. Although some buying of futures was attributed to mills, this was more than offset by announcement that the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation had temporarily withdrawn from the wheat export market and had discontinued export subsidies because of the effect of the European war on the market. The program may be resumed at any time, it was stated.

Europe Buys Canadian Grain.

About 500,000 bushels of Canadian cash wheat and an undisclosed amount of barley were sold to Europe yesterday. Ocean freight rates on grain from Atlantic ports to Rotterdam were said to have advanced 6 to 11 cents a bushel within the last week. Steamers are reported in limited supply as a result of the large number of vessels commandeered by the British government.

Extensive movements of troops and financial conditions were reported to be hampering distribution of grain in Europe.

Farmers showed no disposition yesterday to sell cash corn freely, although prices bid for No. 2 yellow corn at Illinois country points were above 50 cents a bushel. Extremely high temperatures in parts of the corn belt on Thursday were estimated to have matured millions of bushels of cash grain to a point where an early frost would cause little or no damage.

Canada Crop Fourth Largest.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8 (AP).—The Dominion bureau of statistics today estimated the total 1939 Canadian wheat crop at 449,058,000 bushels, a figure 99,048,000 bushels larger than the total 1938 wheat production. The 1939 wheat crop as estimated is the fourth largest on record and the heaviest since 1928.

The crop in the three prairie provinces was estimated at 422,000,000 bushels. This compared with recent private estimates ranging from 396,000,000 to 421,000,000 bushels. A month ago estimates were as low as 384,000,000 bushels. Last year this area produced 326,000,000 bushels and the five year average, 1932-36, was 283,000,000.

NEW FINANCING IN WEEK FALLS TO TWO MILLION

New York, Sept. 8 (AP).—Public offerings of new securities this week fell to $2,019,270, the smallest amount since the week ended Feb. 17, 1938, Poor's Publishing company reported today.

It was the second successive week in which war uncertainties and falling bond prices held new financing at a low level. Several companies postponed plans for refunding existing indebtedness or obtaining new money until a greater measure of stability has reasserted itself in the security markets. Comparisons follow:

	Last week.	Prev. week.	Year ago.
Municipal	$1,410,000	$1,470,000	$11,755,600
Pub. util.	350,000	....	....
Indust.	....	....	31,325,500
Miscel.	250,000	1,305,000	....
Stock	9,270	1,475,500	1,219,006

TWO AIR LINES REPORT AUGUST TRAVEL RECORDS

New travel records were established last month by the Braniff and Northwest air lines, the companies announced yesterday.

Braniff Airways' transports operated 1,804,230 passenger miles, which exceeded the July figure by 4.9 per cent and the August, 1938, total by 38.2 per cent, Charles E. Beard, vice president, announced.

Croil Hunter, president of Northwest Airlines, said the number of passengers transported last month increased 97.2 per cent over the 1938 level.

Seek New Law to Check War Profiteering

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—An indication that the administration will ask congress to pass new laws for restriction of wartime profiteering was seen today in President Roosevelt's assurance that there will be no repetition of conditions which caused living costs to soar during the first world war.

The President made the statement on profiteering at his press conference today. The belief that congress might be asked to act upon profiteering, during the special session which the President is expected to call, was strengthened by the "personal opinion" of Attorney General Frank Murphy, after he had conferred with the President today, that present antiprofiteering laws are "inadequate to do a real job."

Declines to Predict Action.

Murphy declined to say whether the justice department, which is studying existing laws on the subject, contemplated asking congress for added protection against soaring prices. The opinion was his own, and he would not indicate what official action might follow.

Department of agriculture officials were more specific. They said plainly that congress would be asked for drastic legislation if prices show unwaranted gains. Officials studied the situation as reports of zooming prices and "shortages" continued to come from all sections of the country.

The consensus was that the activity in commodities was caused by consumers, retailers, and wholesalers trying to beat a price increase and simultaneously causing one.

Roosevelt Discusses Prices.

In discussing prices Mr. Roosevelt said that although the prices of foodstuffs may be on the rise they will not go through the roof. He said there is no conceivable possibility of an actual shortage of foodstuffs in this country. The government must do its best to prevent the people from becoming excited about a situation which does not exist, the President continued.

The real fact of the food situation, said Mr. Roosevelt, is that there is an actual surplus of all foodstuffs. There is no cause for alarm and that if alarm exists it probably results from an unusual situation in retail food stores which developed since the outbreak of the European war, he asserted.

Will Continue Crop Control.

Secretary Wallace said that the agriculture department will continue acreage restrictions next year on cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, rice, potatoes, peanuts, and commercial vegetables. With the exception of wheat, farmers will be asked to plant no more than they did this year.

The wheat acreage has been raised from 55 to 62 million. Farmers must plant within the acreage allotments to be eligible for benefit payments totaling 725 million dollars and government loans on their surpluses.

CARGILL GRAIN HEARING MOVED TO MINNEAPOLIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—The hearing on the department of agriculture charges of manipulation against Cargill, Inc., large Minneapolis grain house, has been adjourned until Sept. 18, when it will be resumed in Minneapolis, the Commodity Exchange administration announced today.

There was a one day hearing here on Sept. 6, when the referee, J. W. Bain, heard arguments on motions by Cargill to dismiss the proceedings—which threaten suspension of the firm from registered commodity exchanges—to strike out certain parts of the government's complaint, and to make the complaint more definite. Bain denied the motion to dismiss and took the other two motions under consideration.

Cargill asked that the hearing be moved to Minneapolis because of greater convenience in having records, witnesses, and company officials located there. The government did not oppose this motion. The taking of evidence is scheduled to be completed in Minneapolis. The hearing may return to Washington for oral arguments before Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

New York Curb Seat Sells for $8,500, Rise of $1,500

The rapid increase in stock market activity yesterday stimulated a $1,500 rise in the value of New York Curb exchange memberships. A seat was transferred for $8,500.

CONTRACTS FOR TEN CARGO SHIPS AWARDED BY MARITIME BOARD

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8 (AP).—The maritime commission today awarded a contract for the construction of ten cargo vessels of the C-1 design.

Five of them will be constructed by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation at its Sparrows Point, Md., yard at a price of $1,889,000 each, and five by its subsidiary, the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, at a price of $2,002,000 each. The latter price includes the 6 per cent differential applying to west coast construction under the merchant marine act of 1936.

The commission now has ordered a total of ninety-three ships since it started its program of rehabilitating this country's merchant marine. These ninety-three vessels will cost about $210,000,000.

The C-1 ships are 416 feet overall, breadth 60 feet, with a displacement of 12,875 tons. They are steam propelled. Each will have 4,000 shaft horsepower developing a sea speed of 14 knots at loaded draft.

Bonds Favored in War Buying Advance Again

New York, Sept. 8 (AP).—Bond prices were strong over a wide front today. Dealings indicated war influence, particularly in secondary rails and an assortment of industrial issues which traders believed in line for benefits from expected war business.

Transactions were the lowest of the week at $18,982,300, face value, compared with yesterday's $23,416,000 and Wednesday's all time record of $83,234,000. Unusually heavy trading in United States government bonds had swelled the volume in each session.

Some treasury loans extended yesterday's recovery moderately. There was a good deal of switching by dealers and a few maturities dropped back a little near the close.

Reserve Banks Aid Again.

Federal reserve support continued, but observers reported the need for it was much less urgent than earlier in the week. Selling pressure was lighter and new institutional demand encouraged by the sharp decline in prices since late August absorbed many offerings. Some high rated investment corporate issues which were hard hit by a flood of liquidation after the start of war also made good recoveries.

Rails were the most favored of the bond market's "war babies." Advances ran to around 3 points in Delaware and Hudson refunding 4s at 61¼, Great Northern "G" 4s of '46 at 102, Nickel Plate 5½s at 62⅞, Southern Railway 4s at 56, and Illinois Central 4¾s at 49¾. Other gainers of 1 or more points included Western Union 5s of '60, Studebaker 6s, and Portland General Electric 4½s.

Foreign List Steadier.

The foreign list was steadier. Loans of Australia, Belgium, Germany, and many more which slumped on the start of hostilities came back 1 to around 5 points. Polish 7s dropped 2 points to 30 on small transactions.

The market value of all bonds listed on the New York exchange dropped to $47,297,289,186 for 1,380 issues during August from $49,007,131,070 for 1,384 issues a month earlier, the exchange reported. The average price per $1,000 face value bond declined to $905.90 from $931.50.

ARGENTINA CUTS RESTRICTIONS ON AMERICAN TRADE

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 8 (AP).—The first tangible results on Argentina-United States commerce of the European war were evident today in the loosening of restrictions on the importation of United States products. The government will admit sixty-six different groups of merchandise out of a total of 291 which have been on the import restriction lists.

United States citizens here said the most important result of the action would be the export from their country of coal, steel, and iron products to Argentina to supply demands formerly satisfied in Great Britain, Germany, France, and Poland.

A decree also removed restrictions on the importation of United States tinplate and steel products. Argentina normally imports about $37,000,000 worth of iron, steel, and their fabricated products annually.

Metal Groups Will Hold Conventions Despite War

The National Metal exposition and National Metal congress will be held in Chicago Oct. 23-27 despite the outbreak of war in Europe, W. H. Eisenman, general director of the American Society of Metals, announced yesterday. His announcement followed a report from Cleveland that the National Machine Tool Builders association had postponed its national show, which was to have been held in that city early in October.

Goodyear to Build Million Dollar Factory in Ohio

St. Mary's, Sept. 8 [Special].—Announcement was made today by P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, of plans for a new million dollar plant here for manufacture of mechanical rubber goods. Completion of a one story modern structure, 100 by 500 feet, is expected by Jan. 1. The plant will employ about 400 persons.

RAIL FREIGHT TRAFIC LAST WEEK OUTRUNS USUAL SEASONAL GAIN

Loadings of revenue freight in the week ended Sept. 2 totaled 721,748 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. This was the highest mark since the week of Oct. 15, 1938, and showed an increase of 33,158 cars, or 4.8 per cent, over the preceding week. As compared with the 1938 week, loadings were up 73,719 cars, or 11.4 per cent.

Loadings of various commodities, and comparisons with the preceding and 1938 weeks, follow:

	Wk. ended Sept. 2.	Prev. wk.	Yr. ago.
Misc. freight	284,733	+19,534	+26,859
Coal	132,635	+8,742	+16,069
Grain	40,200	−3,404	−1,816
Livestock	14,017	+956	−628
Forest products	33,232	+1,279	+3,152
Ore	52,491	+2,748	+25,898
Coke	7,545	+607	+2,479

CHICAGO STORE SALES LAST WEEK BELOW YEAR AGO

Chicago department store sales slumped 9.4 per cent in the week ended Sept. 2 from corresponding 1938 levels, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Sales in the entire 7th reserve district [Chicago area] declined only 5 per cent.

Improved sales in August offset these decreases in the latest week in comparisons of the volume in the four weeks ended Sept. 2 with that in the same period in 1938. Chicago store sales in the four week period gained 3 per cent and the 7th district 4 per cent.

Department store sales for the nation averaged 3 per cent higher in the week and 4 per cent higher in the four weeks. The broadest gain last week was that of the Atlanta Ga., district with a 16 per cent increase. Close behind was St. Louis district with 15 per cent. Only four of the twelve reserve districts reported declines in department store sales last week. In addition to Chicago these were Minneapolis, Kansas City, and Dallas.

In the 7th district sales in Detroit gained 3.2 per cent, in Indianapolis 4.3 per cent in the latest week, but slipped 1.2 per cent in Milwaukee.

INDICATE MEXICO WILL SELL OIL TO FRANCE, BRITAIN

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 8 (AP).—A statement that Mexico would sell oil and other products to belligerents "which deserve our sympathy" was taken in government circles today to indicate Mexico planned to help supply Britain and France. The statement was made by Dr. Ramon Beteta, an under-secretary of foreign relations. He is a close adviser of President Cardenas, whose party of the Mexican revolution expresses opposition to Nazi ideology.

[Most observers believe that the British navy will be able to prevent any large shipments by sea to Germany.]

Beteta's statement came at a time when informed circles said Mexico had canceled a $20,000,000 oil barter deal with W. R. Davis, New York oil man. Davis had been shipping oil to Germany, which sent Mexico merchandise and equipment in exchange.

New York Transit Board Lets Subway Car Contract

New York, Sept. 8 [Special.].—The board of transportation today awarded to a joint bidder, the American Car and Foundry company and the Pressed Steel Car company, the contract for furnishing and delivering 150 steel cars, at $41,200 each, to be used chiefly on the Sixth Avenue subway line when it is opened in about one year. The price is $750 per car less than was paid for the last lot of cars bought by the board of transportation two years ago.

Money in Circulation Sets Record; $54.60 Per Capita

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8 (AP).—The treasury announced today that the people of the United States were circulating a record high total of $7,170,848,127 of cash currency and coin on Aug. 31. This was an average of $54.60 per person. In the preceding month, money in circulation totaled $7,049,495,620, an average of $53.71 per person.

Sugar Refiners Speed Output; No 'Shortage'

New York, Sept. 8 [Special.].—Sugar refineries worked on a twenty-four hour basis today to replenish the sugar supplies of grocers throughout the country. The supplies had been depleted by a stampede of buying based, according to reports, on widespread fears of a shortage due to the war.

Refinery company representatives emphasized there was no possibility of a shortage, but said the refinery operations were stepped up because the rush of buying had reduced supplies of the refined product at wholesale houses and at warehouses. Normally adequate stocks were cut to the vanishing point by housewives' hoarding, it was said. To fill the gap, the plentiful supply of raw sugar is being converted into refined sugar and being rushed to distributing points.

Work Full Capacity.

The American Sugar Refining company said its New York refineries would work three shifts on Sunday, normally a holiday. Company plants at Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Chalmette, La., were also placed on a full capacity basis.

The price at refineries continued today at 5.75 cents a pound, against 4.40 cents last week. The cash price for the raw product was 3.86 cents a pound, against 2.92 cents a few days ago.

With the war's outbreak, refiners withdrew their quotations and sold sugar on the stiplation that the buyer would pay whatever price was posted when quotations were resumed. They said rising raw sugar prices made figuring the production costs impossible. Quotations were not resumed until yesterday.

25 Cents During Last War.

The memory of 25 cent sugar during the world war was generally credited with starting the hoarding. Market authorities said, however, there is little likelihood that such heights will be reached as a result of the present war. They asserted the government had price control powers which were lacking twenty-five years ago.

The United States, through the sugar act, maintains control over imports and distribution.

CHICAGO RECEIPTS LARGE.

Chicago distributors yesterday began receiving exceptionally large shipments of sugar to build up supplies which had been greatly reduced by consumers' rush to buy. Eugene O'Reilly, secretary of the Chicago Sugar company, reported 70 carloads, or 400,000 bags, were shipped in by railroad during the day.

He said "there is plenty of sugar in the country," but because of the almost unprecedented wave of buying, "it was physically impossible to deliver it from sources of supply to the consumers."

CARNEGIE TO START FOUR MORE FURNACES; EXPECTS BIG DEMAND

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation announced yesterday that it would add four blast furnaces to its active list, two in the Chicago area and two in the Pittsburgh district. A big increase in demand for steel products is expected.

One furnace will be lighted at the Chicago works and one at the Gary works. This will give Carnegie-Illinois 14 of its 23 blast furnaces in the Chicago area on the active list. In the Pittsburgh area it will have 15 of 28 furnaces active. Among the other companies in the Chicago area Inland Steel has four of its five furnaces active; Wisconsin Steel, one out of three, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube, two out of three. Interlake Iron, which has two furnaces here, expects to put one in operation about Oct. 1.

In the meantime tinplate producers notified their customers that the current base price for tinplate has been reaffirmed for delivery during the fourth quarter of this year. They would not go beyond the fourth quarter in their price plans. The base price is $5 per box of 112 sheets, 14x20 inches. Makers of tin cans are expected to be heavy purchasers during the rest of this year.

Cleveland dispatches said export prices on steel plates have advanced $9 a ton from a week ago, and export prices on semi-finished steel have climbed $5 a ton.

DRY GOODS, SILK SOAR AGAIN IN HEAVY TRADING

Other Commodities Are Quieter.

Although most commodity markets were quieter yesterday, dry goods and silk showed increased strength. Millions of yards of dry goods were sold in the Worth street [New York] trading center, bringing transactions in the last few days to record levels. Price increases of as much as 1¼ cents a yard this week were supplemented by further boosts running to 2¾ cents.

In many instances mills refused to sell pending stabilization of the market. Converters and printers bought large quantities of twills and taffetas ½ to 2¾ cents a yard higher.

Thursday's decline in raw silk prices brought new buying into yesterday's market, and spot silk moved up 3 cents a pound to $2.87½. All silk futures at New York shot up 15 cents a pound, the limit for one session.

Woolen Mills Withdraw.

Woolen mills still refused to sell, having withdrawn from the market Thursday. Advances of as much as 25 cents a yard have been predicted. In Boston the wool market was quieter and prices offered by buyers were slightly lower. The market was 20 to 25 per cent higher than a week ago. Only about 3,000,000 pounds of raw wool remain to be sold in Texas, an important producing state, and that is the largest supply left in the west, it was reported. New York wool top futures closed .4 to .6 cent a pound higher, and spot wool dropped 1 cent to $1.03.

The rubber futures market, which has experienced violent fluctuations this week, canceled about half of Thursday's losses to close .40 to .65 cent a pound higher. Spot rubber gained ¾ cent at 21 cents a pound.

London advices said the international rubber regulation committee raised the rubber export quota from 60 to 70 per cent to enable Britain to carry out the cotton-rubber barter agreement with the United States. Under the deal, 600,000 bales of American cotton will be exchanged for 175,000,000 pounds of British rubber. The ministry of supply will begin purchases of rubber Monday.

Export Quota Increased.

World sugar contracts again moved higher, with several deliveries selling up the ¼ cent a pound limit in midsession—the fifth consecutive day that prices had advanced as far as trading regulations permitted. Selling entered at the top, however, and final quotations were .11 to .19½ cent a pound higher. Domestic futures scored only small gains. Refined and raw sugar were unchanged.

Copper futures closed unchanged to .08 cent a pound lower. Other declines were: cocoa, .01 to .15 cent a pound; hides, .14 to .17 cent, and cottonseed oil, .25 to .33 cent a pound. Spot quotations on hides and copper remained unchanged.

Sales of domestic copper Thursday totaled 5,249 tons, compared with 9,569 tons Wednesday.

Metals Are Irregular.

Lead, tin, and zinc closed irregular. Tin futures ended 2½ cents a pound lower to more than 1¼ cents higher. Spot tin was unquoted after being offered at 62 cents Thursday.

Both Santos and Rio coffee contracts made gains, the former finishing .14 to .19 cent a pound higher.

Meanwhile the effect of soaring sugar prices was felt in the retail and wholesale trade. Sugar dealers reported terminals and warehouses here were rushed to capacity, and many houses which usually close at 5 p. m. were open until midnight Thursday. Warehousemen declared the rush was unwaranted.

CHICAGO OUTPUT OF FURNITURE LARGE IN 1938

Chicago furniture manufacturers produced 2,833,800 pieces of furniture in 1938, demonstrating the city's importance as a producing center, the Chicago Furniture Manufacturers' association reported yesterday. The association, which recently completed a survey, said that the total probably was even larger as a few nonmember manufacturers did not report.

The number of pieces shipped during 1938 aggregated 9,446 per working day, Floyd L. Bateman, president of the association, said.

"It is anticipated that this year's production in all classifications of furniture manufactured in Chicago will show a sizable increase," Bateman said. "Tentative statements from time to time indicate that manufacturers are experiencing a much more satisfactory business than in 1938."

COLLINS CHOSEN DIVISION HEAD OF BANK GROUP

Julien H. Collins yesterday was elected chairman of the central states group of the Investment Bankers' Association of America for the 1939-'40 year. Collins is vice president of Harris, Hall & Co. Ralph Chapman of Farwell, Chapman & Co. was elected vice chairman, and Nathan D. McClure of Harriman Ripley & Co., Inc., was elected secretary-treasurer.

Lewis Miller of the First National Bank of Chicago; John W. Newey of Stern, Wampler & Co., Inc., and Donald Royce of Blyth & Co., Inc., Chicago, were each named for three year terms on the executive committee. Wallace M. Flower of Blair, Bonner & Co., Chicago, was named to the committee for a one year term.

London Stock Prices Rise in Limited Trade

Securities of corporations which traders expected to benefit from rising commodity prices advanced yesterday on the London Stock exchange. Trade continued under stringent governmental regulations. Few transactions were made in United States securities, and quotations were described as nominal.

With the trading session already shortened an hour under the normal schedule, exchange authorities decided to reduce the session by another hour beginning Monday, when trading will end at 1 p. m. [7 a. m. Chicago time].

American stocks sold at higher prices on the Amsterdam exchange, which remains largely free of restrictions. The overnight reaction in New York was ignored in the Amsterdam advance, which lifted Bethlehem Steel about $3 above the Thursday close.

Paris Bourse Strong.

Slight advances were registered on the Paris bourse, which is also on a war time basis. Royal Dutch reappeared on the board after a two day absence at 7,480 francs, a 20 per cent rise since Sept. 1.

Telephone service was resumed between Paris, Brussels, Amsterdam, and Zurich, but London remained cut off. Business was negligible.

The British pound lost ½ cent in relation to the United States dollar in foreign exchange transactions at New York. Dealers said demand for the British currency was increasing and that buyers apparently were reassured by the announcement of the Bank of England that it would buy sterling at $4.02 and sell at $4.06. The Belgian belga recovered 0.09 cent. French, Swiss, and Dutch units edged slightly lower.

Hongkong Trades Limited.

At Hongkong, the government began restricting transactions in gold and foreign currencies other than sterling, and banned the export of gold, currency, and securities except when specifically authorized. Exemptions are permitted to meet "reasonable" travel and personal expenses and carry out contracts made prior to Sept 3.

Wartime regulations empowered the colonial government to acquire gold and bullion at a government-determined price. The new regulations brought a halt to brokers' operations in stocks and commodities which had increased greatly this week.

Gold Imports Increase.

The department of commerce at Washington reported that European gold shipments to the United States nearly doubled in the week preceding hostilities. Imports for the week ended Sept. 1 totaled $106,911,037, against $65,711,084 in the preceding week. Of the total, England shipped $95,450,806, India $2,754,156, and Japan $5,641,854.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced there were no engagements of gold abroad yesterday for shipment to New York.

PACIFIC LINERS RAISE EUROPEAN FREIGHT RATES

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8 (AP).—Ship lines operating between the Pacific coast and Europe will increase freight charges one-third to one-half on Sept. 11. The announcement came today from George J. Yater, chairman of the Pacific coast-European conference, after a two day meeting of representatives of the 23 lines in that trade.

Rates to the United Kingdom and mid-continent ports were raised one-third, with a minimum contract rate of $10 and a minimum noncontract rate of $12. Norway, Denmark, and Mediterranean rates went up 50 per cent. The "arbitraries" or additional charges for shipments to nonroutine ports of call also went up one-half.

All rates were placed on a dollar basis.

STOCKS DRIVE AHEAD DESPITE LATE SETBACK

Early Gains Cut by Selling Attack.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 8.—After sweeping 1 to 7 points higher today on successive waves of buying by professionals and the public, who believe that the European war will mean improved business to many American companies, the stock market ran into a selling attack just before the close that cut sharply into earlier gains.

At the finish active issues posted advances running from fractions to about 4 points, with "war babies" displaying the most resistance to the late liquidation. Trading was active, with many large blocks changing hands. Turnover totaled 3,511,700 shares, compared with 2,597,280 shares yesterday.

Trade News Favorable.

In addition to the war factor, it was said, were some constructive domestic business developments, including the rise in carloadings and automobile production, and forecasts that the steel operating rate next week would advance sharply.

Blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares changed hands at the opening as buyers bid for shares at prices well above Wednesday's finals. Buying orders came in from all parts of the country, brokers reported.

After a period of breath-taking another buying wave brought the list aggressively forward again, and in midafternoon still another buying movement lifted prices into new high ground.

Buyers Favor "War Brides."

The "war brides" were the most favored stocks. United States Steel, after approaching 70, dipped to 68¾, up 4¾ points. Bethlehem Steel rose 5 points to 85½. Youngstown and Crucible gained more than 2 points. Republic was active on the up side.

Coppers contributed gains running to 1 point in American Smelting and 1⅜ points in Phelps Dodge. International Nickel, however, was dumped heavily in the late trading on fears of special Canadian taxation and controled operations. It droppped 3⅞ points.

Chemicals boasted advances ranging to 4 points in Allied Chemical. Oils worked uniformly higher. Shell Union Oil, Standard Oil [New Jersey], Texas corporation, and Socony Vacuum were leaders.

In the aviation group Douglas and Sperry corporation both added more than 2 points and Consolidated Aircraft and United Aircraft posted gains of 1½ points.

Sugar Stocks Advance.

Sugar stocks also scored good advances with Fajardo and South Porto Rico sugar as features. Meat packing issues also shared in the rise, with Cudahy netting 2 points.

Merchandising issues reflected the gain in retail trade over a year ago. Montgomery Ward jumped 1⅝ points. Motors also responded to the improved automobile production. Chrysler rose 2⅜ points and General Motors gained 1⅛.

Among the old line investment issues, American Telephone, Westinghouse, General Electric, International Harvester, and American Can gained between 1 and 2 points.

To the Holders of Pennsylvania Power & Light Company

First Mortgage Gold Bonds, 4½% Series due 1981
Due April 1, 1981

REDEMPTION NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, as provided in Articles II and X of the Mortgage and Deed of Trust dated as of April 1, 1931, between Pennsylvania Power & Light Company and Guaranty Trust Company of New York, as Trustee, and in the Bonds hereinafter mentioned, that the undersigned will redeem and pay on September 11, 1939, all of its outstanding First Mortgage Gold Bonds, 4½% Series due 1981, due April 1, 1981, at 104½% of the principal amount thereof with accrued interest on said principal amount to September 11, 1939 without deduction from the principal of or interest on any of said Bonds on account of any tax, not in excess of four mills per annum on each dollar of the principal amount of each said Bond, imposed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania upon said Bond or upon the holder as a resident of such Commonwealth, which the undersigned or the Trustee under the aforementioned Mortgage and Deed of Trust may be authorized or required to pay thereon or to retain therefrom. There will, however, be deducted from the interest so payable on each said Bond, such amount, if any, in excess of said four mills per annum on each dollar of the principal amount thereof as the undersigned is required to deduct and pay to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pursuant to the tax laws of said Commonwealth.

Holders of the above Bonds should present and surrender them for redemption and payment as aforesaid on or after September 11, 1939, at the office of Guaranty Trust Company of New York, No. 140 Broadway, New York, N. Y., or at the office of Harris Trust and Savings Bank, 115 West Monroe Street, Chicago, Illinois, together with the October 1, 1939, and all subsequent coupons appertaining thereto. In case registered Bonds are presented and payment to any one other than the registered holder is desired, the Bonds must be properly assigned in blank or accompanied by a properly executed instrument of assignment in blank. On and after September 11, 1939, such Bonds shall cease to bear interest and the coupons maturing subsequent to that date shall be void.

AUTO INDUSTRY EXPANDS OUTPUT OF NEW MODELS

Gain Made Despite Holiday and Parts Shortage.

With the automobile industry swinging into production on the 1940 models, production this week increased to 26,865 units, Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., estimated yesterday. Production this week was handicapped by the Labor Day holiday and by a parts shortage which curtailed the production of two companies. Production last week was 24,240 units and in the 1938 week corresponding to this week the total was 17,485.

Ward's in an analysis of the European war situation said the export business may improve as a result of the hostilities. At the same time increased industrial activity in this country may increase buying power and thereby improve automobile sales.

Estimate August Sales.

August factory sales of passenger cars and trucks were placed at 97,200 units in a preliminary estimate yesterday by the Automobile Manufacturers' association. The figure was slightly above that of August, 1938, but 56 per cent under July, this year. The eight month total was brought to 2,371,346 units, an increase of 53 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

The General Motors corporation reported yesterday that sales of its cars and trucks to consumers in the United States during August totaled 76,120 units, against 102,031 in July and 64,925 in August, 1938.

Willys Starts Production.

Production of 1940 models of Willys-Overland cars began yesterday at Toledo. Three thousand men are expected to be employed by next week as production gets into full swing, J. E. Snowberger, works manager, said.

Meantime, production in the plants of the Nash Motors division of the Nash-Kelvinator corporation and the Packard Motor Car company have been closed as a result of a shortage of brake assemblies. A strike at the South Bend plant of the Bendix Aviation corporation stopped brake shipments.

Stocks

Chicago Stocks.

A general advance on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday carried fourteen issues to new high prices for the year. Although gains among the more active issues generally were held within fractional limits, Borg-Warner was prominent with a rise of a point, and General Motors with an advance of 1⅞.

Armour and Swift were the most active stocks, the former closing unchanged and the latter with a small rise. Commonwealth Edison edged up slightly, but Middle West eased a minor fraction.

A. M. Castle was outstanding among the less active stocks, pushing up 3¼ to a new peak for 1939. Noblitt-Sparks and Bliss and Laughlin improved more than a point each, bettering their former high levels.

Trading totaled 66,000 shares and included transactions in 134 issues.

Bank Stocks.

Continental Illinois bank stock was bid ½ point higher in yesterday's trading. First National and Harris Trust were both bid up 5 points. Prices follow:

COLORADO FUEL REPORTS PROFIT FOR FISCAL YEAR

The Colorado Fuel and Iron corporation, Denver, leading steel enterprise west of the Mississippi river, reported a net profit yesterday of $57,563 for the fiscal year ended June 30. The company had a loss of $829,363 the year before.

The profit was equal to approximately 10 cents per share on the outstanding capital stock of $563,620 shares, according to Chairman Arthur Roeder and President W. A. Maxwell Jr. Net working capital totaled $10,789,653.

Pathe Film Profit Lower.

The Pathe Film corporation and subsidiaries, holder of 35 per cent of the shares of the du Pont Film Manufacturing corporation, reported a net profit yesterday of $35,310, after charges, for the six months ended June 30. Profit was $51,679 in the same period of 1938.

The du Pont Film corporation's earnings in the first half of 1939 were $826,000, according to the Pathe report, against profits of $689,000 a year earlier. Pathe's earnings from du Pont for the first half of 1939 were $289,000, against $223,000 in 1938. Of these earnings $219,000 were undistributed in 1939 and $153,000 in 1938. Neither of the undistributed amounts is reflected in the income of the Pathe company, its report said.

Sangamo Earns More.

Sangamo Electric company reported earnings of $276,003 for the six months ended June 30, against $136,722 for the first half of 1938. This year's earning figure is subject to audit, the company report stated, and the figures do not include earnings of subsidiaries other than dividends received.

The American Investment Company of Illinois reported net earnings of $614,443 for the six months, compared with $330,875 for the first half of 1938.

WAR AND STOCKS.

In the last few weeks Investors Guide has received numerous letters asking what effect war will have on stock prices, both in general and specific circumstances. This department does not attempt to predict the course of stock market prices. A glance at the past record, however may be helpful at the present time.

The stock market closed upon the outbreak of war in 1914. When it reopened it was at slightly higher prices, and an upward movement got under way immediately. The initial years of warfare brought a bull market to American industrial stocks.

This bull market, which had a number of important reactions during its course, lasted until the latter part of 1916. In that period, industrial stock prices, as measured by averages, nearly doubled. Railroads had less spectacular gains. Averages of utility shares were not kept at that time.

From the latter part of 1916 onward to the start of 1918 the market's trend was downward. Certain stocks, such as those of steel companies, generally made their highs in early 1917 before joining this extensive decline. Rail shares dropped far below prices established immediately prior to the outbreak of hostilities. Industrials gave up more than half of their 1914-'16 advance.

The market then again reversed its direction. With industrials in the lead, prices turned higher and reached a climax in the latter months of 1919. From that boom stocks went into a sharp retreat during the first postwar depression of 1920-'21.

	Indust.	Rails.
December, 1914	53.17	87.40
October, 1916	......	*112.28
November, 1916	110.15	......
December, 1917	65.95	70.75
November, 1919	119.62	*....
August, 1921	63.90	.....

There are, of course, many important differences between this country's relationship with Europe today and that relationship in 1914. Among such differences are:

1. America is today a creditor nation, while in 1914 it was a debtor nation.
2. European nations have prepared more extensively for the present war, in the matter of armaments, than in 1914.
3. European countries have endeavored to make themselves economically self-sufficient since the last war.
4. America has two laws restricting trade with Europe: The neutrality act and the Johnson act.

VANDERBLUE BECOMES NORTHWESTERN'S DEAN OF COMMERCE SCHOOL

Dr. Homer B. Vanderblue.

Dr. Homer B. Vanderblue, formerly of Harvard university, yesterday took office as dean of the Northwestern university school of commerce. He was appointed to the position last month to succeed Fred D. Fagg Jr., who was made vice president of the university.

Dr. Vanderblue said that he will spend part of each day on both the Evanston campus and the McKinlock campus in Chicago. He plans to teach a course in business economics, in addition to his work as dean of the school. He will live in Evanston.

The newly appointed dean was graduated from Northwestern in 1911 and received a graduate degree from Harvard. After teaching at Northwestern from 1915 to 1922, he went to Harvard business school as professor of business economics.

HIRES COMPANY PAYS EXTRAS ON COMMON SHARES

Heller Firm Also Votes Additional Payment.

Directors of the Charles E. Hires company yesterday declared extra dividends of $1.50 each on the class A and class B common stocks. Previous payments on beverage company's A stock were 50 cents quarterly this year. On the B stock $2 was paid on Sept. 1, the only 1939 payment. In 1938 a total of $3 was paid.

Walter E. Heller & Co. declared an extra dividend of 5 cents a common share in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 10 cents. The quarterly dividend of 43¾ cents on the 7 per cent preferred stock also was voted. Similar payments on the common stock were made June 30.

Electric Auto-Lite Dividend.

Electric Auto-Lite company declared 75 cents. A similar payment was made July 1, and 50 cents was paid April 1.

The Sangamo Electric company declared a common dividend of 50 cents. Previous payments this year were 25 cents on July 1 and April 1. In 1938 a total of $1 was paid.

Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company voted a payment of 25 cents on the common. Similar payments were made in preceding quarters this year.

COTTON CLIMBS $3.25 PER BALE, THEN LOSES GAIN

Crop Forecast Is Cause of Reaction.

Cotton futures advanced as much as 0.65 cent a pound, or $3.25 a bale, early in yesterday's trading, only to lose all of the gain later. Selling induced by a government crop forecast which traders regarded as bearish caused the reaction.

Prices closed 0.15 cent lower to 0.03 cent higher after publication of the forecast, which indicated this year's crop would be about 600,000 bales larger than traders generally had expected. On the New Orleans exchange, the December delivery sold above ten cents a pound for the first time in two years.

Crop 12,380,000 Bales.

Based on conditions as of Sept. 1, the department of agriculture forecast this year's cotton crop at 12,380,000 bales of 500 pounds each, against a forecast of 11,412,000 bales a month earlier. Production last year totaled 11,943,000 bales, and average output for the preceding ten years was 13,800,000 bales.

The forecast indicated a yield of 244.7 pounds to the acre, against a prediction of 223.7 pounds a month ago and a ten year average of 190.8 pounds.

The most important increase in the estimate of production was in Texas where 495,000 bales more were in prospect than was indicated on Aug. 1. Conditions were reported as more favorable for the growth of the crop in all sections except Virginia, North Carolina, New Mexico, and Florida.

Spot Cotton Lower.

HOGS DECLINE; SUPPLY LARGER AND PORK LOWER

Hog prices were knocked down again yesterday and markets for fresh pork fell 50 cents to $1.00 a hundred pounds as the movement of supplies from farms increased again. Farmers shipped 49,000 hogs to eleven points, against 37,000 on Thursday and 22,000 on Wednesday. The preceding Friday total was 43,000. Arrivals at Chicago at 11,000 compared with 8,321 a week earlier.

This was the first time since war was declared that receipts of hogs were larger than for the same day in the preceding week.

Prices at the Chicago stock yards tumbled unevenly 25 to 75 cents during the forenoon, and many of the late sales of new crop spring pigs showed $1 loss compared with the highest point early Thursday. Prices for the session averaged 50 cents lower than Thursday and 75 cents under Wednesday at $7.75.

Cattle receipts were larger than usual for a Friday and prices dipped again. Steady to strong prices prevailed for ovine stock.

BUTTER FUTURE ADVANCES, AIDED BY CASH UPTURN

The November butter future moved up 0.20 cent a pound to 26.25 cents on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. The war boom market of recent sessions appeared to be played out and traders turned their attention to routine trade items. An advance of ¼ to ½ cent a pound in cash butter prices was stimulating.

Egg futures finished .15 to .20 cent a dozen higher on indications of a better demand for storage eggs. October closed at 18.80 cents bid and Novembers at 17.90 cents.

Two new contracts appeared on the board. February butter futures opened at 27 cents a pound, advancing to 27.05 cents, and sank to 26.80 cents at the close. January eggs opened at 17 cents a dozen, gained ¼ cent to 17.25 cents and closed at the top.

National Banks Earn 230 Millions in Fiscal Year

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8 [Special.]—The 5,209 active national banks on June 30 had net profits of $229,954,000 before dividends in the year ended June 30, an increase of $16,531,000 over the preceding year, Preston Delano, controler of the currency announced today.

WAR WILL HAVE LITTLE EARLY EFFECT ON JOBS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8 (AP).—The bureau of labor statistics estimated today that the current war boom reflected in rising prices will have only a negligible effect immediately on employment, although man hours of work may be increased.

Bureau statisticians said they expected some employment gains in a few lines, such as steel and cotton.

They said that definite employment statistics probably would be available by Sept. 15. They expressed the opinion that manufacturers were hesitant to increase pay rolls in the first week of the war until domestic conditions settled down after the first wave of war reaction.

The WPA estimated that some 600,000 workers had left the relief rolls in the last two months either voluntarily or by enforced furlough.

Appoint Twohy Governor of Home Loan Bank System

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8 [Special].—The appointment of James F. Twohy of San Francisco as governor of the Federal Home Loan bank system, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Preston Delano to become controler of the currency, was announced today by the Federal Home Loan bank board. Twohy has been in charge of the operations of the Home Owners Loan corporation for a group of Pacific and northwest states since 1935. He is vice chairman of the Federal Home Loan bank of Los Angeles.
